

A BLIND MAN'S LETTER-WRITER.

"Necessity is the mother of invention."—Old proverb.

Through the kindness of Henry C. Fortier, Esq., I am enabled to present my readers with the accompanying illustration of a handy little instrument, by means of which I carry on my correspondence, write the MS. for my books, etc., etc.

We will cheerfully send a description of it to any blind persons who have lost their sight since they learnt to read and write.

Address,

145 BLEEKER ST., TORONTO.
