THE DELEGATE'S REPLY. Atter Mr. J. J. Costello had sung a solo, "Alone on the Itaft," Mgr. Mery Levi va addresses:

Rev. Fathers and dear students of st. Michael's Collego. I have listoned with vory great interest to the two addresses presented to me in the namer the Community of St. Basil and the faculty and students of St. Michael's College. These addresses are so full of earnest fatht and loyal sentiments that I will carry back with me to Rome to the Holy Father one of the most pleasure interest fath and loyal sentiments that I will carry back mith me to Rome to the Holy Father one of the most pleasure pleasure I than to visit and meet with those who are engaged in the work which is so dear to our Holy Father's heart, with those who preparing themselves for the context of life intend to carry the intensity of Catholic truth into the higher spheres of society I myself and all who toil in the heat and burden of the day can feel and sympathize with and admire you. As the Archbishop of Kingston said the other day, it is those of the rank and file who do the hard work of the church, more perhaps than those who figure at the front. I fully ondorse that sentiment; and I have only to look around me on the students assembled here to realize the benefits which the church and society at large must reap from the work which you are doing, for I am happy to find myself surrounded on this platform by some of the old students of St. Michael: College surplause. I would as you you would enter, and in every profession with the surrounded on this platform by some of the old students of St. Michael: General and the work of the man of science which has lived for inseless on any branch of survey and the work of the man and the second selection with Cathie of a profession would enter, and in every because in any branch of

The locture hall at St. Joseph's convent was most artistically decorated with the Papal colors and there was a profusion of flowers. On the walls and pillars were displayed mottoes in various languages. A threefo'd weltome in Spasiah, English and Itulian groated the distinguished visitor. The Koglish word "welcome" in gaslighte was relieved on either side by the Spanish and Italian greetings "Bien Venifo," and "Benvenuto." The young ladies looked very graceful in their convent contumes with Papal colors. A band of little ones in white and yellow hearing beanneress of Papal colors observed the audience. The arrangement of the programms showed that particular honor was desired to be shown to the visitor by giving the Spanish language prominence. honor was desired to be shown to the visitor by giving the Spanish language prominence. The recitation entitled "Spain's Thanks giving" was gracefully rendered, and the recitation "A Castilian Artist" displayed equal merit. All the musical numbers were of a high order. The programme was as

The address touching, beautiful, delicate in expression and sentiment was read by Miss Walah who presented it to His Excellency, accompanied by the little Missee Carrie Murphy and Mamie Foy, and Miss McEachern bearing flowers. The address is attistically bound in red morocco richly embossed in gold bearing the inscription "To His Excellency Monaignor Merry del Val." It is beautifully illuminated and tastefully decorated with olive and maple leaves. It is of course the work of the nuts and reflects the greatest credit on their artistic abilities. A unique feature of the address is the presentation of convent views—the south east view of anotemy and chappi; the Interior of the chapel; and the north west view of the convent and chapal. The address will indeed form a facet pleasing souveait of His Excellency's Canadian visit.

The address was as follows:
