OCEAN FREIGHTS.

Ship agents are greatly disappointed over the outlook for grain freight and some are wondering how they will fill all their outward space, that is usually reserved for cereals. Grain freights are unprofitable enough at present, without having to submit to any furwithout having to submit to any further shading. It is to be feared that we have been indulging in too much bragging over the superiority of the St. Lawrence route of late, and the St. Lawrence of l ther shading.
