UNSELFISH PRAYER.

The Lord's Prayer teaches us that we are members of a family, when He tells us to pray not " My Father." but "Our Father;" not "My soul be saved," but "Thy kingdom come;" not "Give me," but give us our daily bread;" not "forgive me," but "for give us our trespasses," and that only as we forgive others; not "lead me not," but "lead ns not into temptation;" not "deliver me," but "deliver us from evil." After that manner Our Lord tells us to pray, and in proportion as we pray in that manner, just so far, and no farther, will God hear our prayers.—(Kingsley.)

ALL SCIENCE ONE.

Physical and spiritual science seem to the world to be distinct. One sight of God as we shall some day see Him will show us that they are indissolubly and eternally the same.

WOMANS MISSION.

It is the glory of woman that she was sent into the world to live for others, rather than for herself, and therefore I should say, let her smallest rights be respected, her smallest wrongs redressed; but let her never be per suaded to forget that she is sent into the world to teach man--what I believe she has been teaching him all along, even in the savage state, namely-that there is something more necessary than daiming rights, and that is performing duties, to teach him specially in these so called intellectual days, that there is something more than intellect and that is purity and virtue.

The Church Times thus disposes of the legend that John Wesley received episcopal consecration from a Greek prelate in London: "Had it been true, he would not have left so important a fact out of his journal; his brother Charles, who must have known of it, would not have written his epigram on the pseudo-consecration of Coke, in which he asks who laid hands on his brother John; and, above all, Coke and Ashbury, the two first quasi-Bishops of the Episcopal Methodists in America, would not have applied, as they did, to Bishops Seabury and White to give them real consecration. Had that been done, the schism would probably have en-
