

EXPLANATORY NOTES

The purpose of this Bill is to apply to grain the freight rates on grain that are applicable under the Grain Act of 1906. The Board of Interstate Commerce, in its decision dated the 10th June 1906 on the application of the Board of Agriculture, unanimously found as a fact that the Interstate Commerce Commission is not a party to the grain in this sense, and that the Interstate Commerce Commission is not a party to the grain in this sense. On the local interpretation whether the Interstate Commerce Commission is a party to the grain under the Interstate Commerce Act and the Interstate Commerce Commission is not a party to the grain under the Interstate Commerce Act. The Board of Agriculture, in its decision dated the 10th June 1906 on the application of the Board of Agriculture, unanimously found as a fact that the Interstate Commerce Commission is not a party to the grain in this sense, and that the Interstate Commerce Commission is not a party to the grain in this sense. On the local interpretation whether the Interstate Commerce Commission is a party to the grain under the Interstate Commerce Act and the Interstate Commerce Commission is not a party to the grain under the Interstate Commerce Act.

The Board of Agriculture, in its decision dated the 10th June 1906 on the application of the Board of Agriculture, unanimously found as a fact that the Interstate Commerce Commission is not a party to the grain in this sense, and that the Interstate Commerce Commission is not a party to the grain in this sense. On the local interpretation whether the Interstate Commerce Commission is a party to the grain under the Interstate Commerce Act and the Interstate Commerce Commission is not a party to the grain under the Interstate Commerce Act.

The Board of Agriculture, in its decision dated the 10th June 1906 on the application of the Board of Agriculture, unanimously found as a fact that the Interstate Commerce Commission is not a party to the grain in this sense, and that the Interstate Commerce Commission is not a party to the grain in this sense. On the local interpretation whether the Interstate Commerce Commission is a party to the grain under the Interstate Commerce Act and the Interstate Commerce Commission is not a party to the grain under the Interstate Commerce Act.