

And the coyotes call from the distant range,
Out where the range stock roam,
And the cowboy whoops as he spurs his horse
Down to the old ranch home.

Down by the Old Saskatchewan
It's lonely, and wild, and free,
And the old rough range by the river-side
Looks best in the world to me.