HOT ELECTION CAMPAIGN
IN THE EASTERN LEAGUE

Ed. Barrow is After Pat Powers'
Job and J. J. McCaffery is Boosting Him.

BUFFALO, Sept. 21.—Who will be president of the Eastern Baseball League in 1911? Now that the season of 1910 is nearly over, those interested in the above question are out buying themselves over the matter. They know which team is to win the pennant and which will be last, but they do not know who will be at the head of the organization another season.

It is a well-known fact that Pat Powers, the present incumbent, is no longer loved and admired by the entire eight members of the league as he was at the olden days. He still retains his friends, but his enemies have increased year by year, until now those opposed to him believe they control the situation and can at last place a man of their choice in the presidential chair. But Pat has survived even stormier days than these.

Barrow and McCaffery Here.
States are being made up by the different factions and for that purpose Manager Edward Barrow of the Montreal Club and President James J. McCaffery, president of the Toronto team, left their teams yesterday in charge of subordinates and wended their way to Buffalo, where last night they went into secret conference with Judge Louis B. Hart, treasurer of the local club, at some quiet spot designated by the latter. Their conference lasted until well into the morning hours, the Canadian visitors leaving on an early morning train to continue their tour of inspection.

President McCaffery's choice for the presidency is Ed. Barrow, whose name was mentioned some months ago. They have set out to get the election after the fashion of that old English proverb: "An early bird catches the worm." They are travelling about the circuit to learn the lay of the land and the feelings of the magnates on the matter. They believe that they have the votes of Montreal, Toronto, Buffalo, Newark and Providence safely pledged for Barrow, but hope to make it by getting the other three clubs in line.

These Strong for Powers.
It is not believed, however, that they will not be successful in securing away from Jersey City and Baltimore. President Chapin has always been a warm friend of Powers, and they will probably stick to him, for it was Powers that first placed Jersey City in the Eastern League map. Nothing has been heard from Jack Dunn of Baltimore one way or the other, but when Ed. Barrow controlled the Orioles, Pat Powers was always sure of Baltimore's vote.

It is a well-known fact that President McCaffery has been against Powers' reelection for a year. Some time ago one of the Toronto papers quoted him as saying that he believed the time had come for a change. That a younger man should be settled with the duties; that better umpires should be named; that more time should be devoted to the interests of the league. McCaffery is a hard worker, and he usually succeeds in accomplishing anything he usually succeeds.

is a Fairly Good Job.
The job of president of the Eastern is no longer anything to be sneezed at. It pays $5000 a year, and for that amount the magnates hope to get a man who will give his entire attention to the growing business of the organization.

It is but fair to presume that Ed. Barrow will receive the support of the local officials, providing that Jacob J. Stein, president of the Buffalo Club, is not in the field for the office. At the last annual election the job was won by Stein, who was re-elected. He is a hard worker, and he usually succeeds in accomplishing anything he usually succeeds.

Whether he feels differently about it now is not known. However, everybody admits that, with his knowledge of baseball and the needs of the league, he would make an ideal president.

Powers and the Presidency.
At the last annual election Powers was said to have announced that he would resign his office, but he would no longer expect the magnates to vote for him; that the effect of that statement was to force him to resign. However, when asked later if he would again run, Pat has coyly admitted that if the men in control of the clubs desired he would sacrifice something and take the presidency again.

One or two other names have been mentioned, but it is believed that but two will come before the meeting, those of Barrow and Powers, and one of the hottest elections in the history of the Eastern League will take place when the day arrives.
