BOX SEAT AT THEATRE FOR 20 WORD SKETCH

Quick Action. Contest For School Children Will Begin Next Tuesday Morning.

School children, attention! The Toronto World has a new idea for you upon which you can turn your fertile and enterprising brains. The prize is a box seat at the Grand Opera House next week when you can see "School Days." There will be four daily contests and six prizes each day to the winners. "School Days" is an attraction that is worth seeing, because it appeals to everyone, both young and old. It is because of the excellence of this company and the entertainment that The Toronto World has made the preliminary arrangements for what will be the most interesting contest ever conducted for the children by a Toronto newspaper.

Here are the details, and every school child should read them carefully: Commencing next Tuesday morning, The World will print a special coupon giving the conditions of the daily contests, the subject of the sketch each contestant is to write, with space for the name and address of those who take part.

On Wednesday morning the winners will be announced, and there will be another contest begun for that day. Thus there are four daily contests and six prizes daily.

This is a "Quick Action Contest" for every school boy or girl in Toronto. There is no limit as to the age of contestants, only that they must be attending school here. Each sketch on each daily subject is limited to twenty words, and the ones who submit the cleverest ideas will get the prizes.

All you have to do is to read The Toronto World next Tuesday morning, see what the subject is about, clip the coupon and deliver or send your sketch to the Contest Editor, care of this office so as to reach him by 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. If you are one of the winners your name will be printed the following morning, Wednesday, and if you call after 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the box seat ticket will be given you as a reward for your excellence. There are four daily contests and six prizes each day so everyone has an opportunity to win. Further particulars of the contest will be announced daily in The World up to Tuesday morning.

Charcoal Lozenges
Powerful Absorbents

Offensive Breath and Stomach Gases Cannot Exist When They Are Used.
Charcoal, by virtue of its porous nature, takes up gases mechanically just as a sponge takes up water. Its capacity in this respect is in proportion to the number and fineness of its pores. Charcoal made from poplar, beechwood, vegetable ivory, cocoa-nut shells and willow-wood, is a compact, heavy substance, having a mellowed, sweet, rosy, being quite invisible.

Chemical tests of various kinds performed by expert chemists have revealed the fact that charcoal made from willow wood is not only absolutely harmless but that it is by far the most powerful absorbent of all kinds of gases. Certain other woods, mentioned above, are used by some manufacturers in making charcoal and lozenges, but being far as effective in absorbing stomach-gases, have also been found to be positively harmful to the digestive system.

Willow-wood charcoal is, then, the very best for the purpose of absorbing excessive gas of the stomach, removing intestinal flatulency, and purifying the breath. Charcoal is effective against gastric flatulence must be introduced among the gases of the stomach in the same state as when fresh from the crucible. The means of effecting this is to compress them into soluble lozenges, so that after being dissolved in the mouth and swallowed, the charcoal is "set free," and at once begins its work of oxidizing and absorbing the foul gases, and also, through its antiseptic properties, of purifying the entire alimentary tract.

It is definitely known that the absorbent and cleansing action of charcoal is protracted and continued through the intestinal system as well as in the stomach, and it proves beneficial there also.

In STUART'S CHARCOAL LOZENGES we have a gas-absorbing remedy which readily takes precedence over all others. The charcoal used in them is the very best that can be obtained. They are composed of the finest quality of charcoal, compressed into charcoal by the special Stuart Process, and before being compressed into lozenges, the powdered charcoal is rendered sweet and thoroughly agreeable to the taste by being mixed with pure honey, and the result is a product equally as palatable as candy.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges have attained a wide popularity among the people, and of late years have sold every year. They have, over and over again, proven their efficiency as rapid and powerful absorbents of foul stomach-gases, relieving and curing flatulence, bloatings, or the eructation of offensive breath.

Buy a package of these little lozenges from your druggist for 25 cents and forward us your name and address for a name tag package. Address: P. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

LEPER SMUGGLED AWAY

United States Authorities Had Hard Time to Deport Greek.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Brought here with the utmost secrecy from the leper colony on Penikese Island off the Massachusetts coast, Tuesday night, Antonius Freisa, a Greek, was placed at midnight on the Argentina, of the Austro-American line, and is now on his way to his home in Greece.

For more than a year the United States officers have sought for a means to transport the leper from the island colony to New York, and have tried again and again to get a vessel that would carry him here.

Captain Jesse Smith, the master of the Andrew G. Pierce, a three masted schooner sailing from New Bedford, Mass., at last offered to take on the undesirable passenger at a high figure.

Mr. McConnell Lectures at the People's Institute.

From the great interest aroused in Mr. McConnell's lecture last Sunday before a large audience in the Princess Theatre, in which he claimed that the existence and spread of Christian Science and other mental healing systems resulted from the attitude of the church and the physician, he has been urged to remain in Toronto another week, and will speak on Sunday, Oct. 24, at 7 p.m. in the People's Institute, 88 College street, upon the "Scientific Relation of Health to Christianity."

Mr. McConnell, from years of research in this new field of electricity inherent in life, has created a world-wide interest through showing that the electricity which circulates thru the nerves and the brain and which controls the vital functions, the one healing power, is the means of interaction between mind and body.

He also claims to show from this research that this life-sustaining electricity is produced thru physical principles which can be regulated by the individual, and therefore, bring a physical basis of self-cure in reach of the people.
