

Wood's Household Magazine for July is ahead of any previous number, and when we consider its usual standard of excellence, this is rare praise indeed. It is household, not only in name but in character, and its table of contents shows a wonderful adaptation of articles to the individual members of the family circle. "Sim's Little Girl," a ten page story by Mary Hartwell, "Weather-tough Black," by Karl Kase, "How The Vow was Kept," by H. V. Osborne, "Lunatics at Large," by Rev. F. W. Holland, and "The Declaration of Independence" by J. B. Wakeley, D. D., are among the more noticeable articles. The Children's Department is crowded full, and contains a poem, in baby talk, which without doubt, will be very acceptable to the little ones. The price of the magazine is one dollar a year. Address, Wood's Household Magazine, Newburgh, N. Y.

ONE CAUSE OF CONSUMPTION.—Dr. MacCombe of Belfast, Ireland, is the author of a work on pulmonary consumption, recently published by the Longmans, London, and which has attracted considerable notice. According to Dr. MacCombe, the cause of consumption—as distinguished from that which is hereditary—has its origin in breathing expired air. Persons of a delicate constitution or organization should, he says, sleep alone, and, if possible, in spaces so roomy that insuring a larger supply of pure uncontaminated air; and the window sash should also be variably slightly raised on turning. When the dormitory is small, it is carefully ventilated, oxygen, the essential element that supports life, is quickly exhausted, and the individual takes back into the lungs carbonic acid gas, which is so destructive of life—the whole system becoming deranged, the air cells elevating, and with the destruction of these, the whole bronchial system falling into disease.

A Ponghik psie clock loves the very ground a high land window wall upon. It is worth $200 an acre.

Why the Valve Jar is Superior to all Others for Preserving Fruit.

1. Because it is the only one in which the contents can be securely fastened, and cooled while thus fastened, without risk of an explosion.

2. It is the only one that is automatically Sealed, and is the only one that is perfectly safe.

3. It is so simple that no skill is required to use it successfully.

4. It is securely fastened when placed in the kettle, and being immersed, the fragrance of the contents is confined in the jar, a more perfect vacuum produced and the necessity of a tight jar entirely avoided.

5. It is well known that fruit jars which are closed with tight stoppers, and are not immediately sealed, and the effect upon the contents and the preservation of the fruit is very inferior.

The cover of the Valve Jar is a perfect safety valve makes an explosion impossible, and entirely excludes every element that exists in other jars.
