Will Try to Give England Much Needed Information About America.

LONDON, Feb. 15. — The Tribune prints an interview with Ambassador in the eve of his departure for the United States. He said that the American people, both here and in their own country, appreciate an accurate and responsible service of information from Washington. Every endeavor in this direction must be to the advantage of both countries. He hoped to do good work in his new office, which would not be an easy one. The Tribune says editorially that it doubts whether the British have anything like a good working knowledge of American affairs or the American people. It adds:

The McLellan trophy has at last reached a haven of refuge in the Thistle

Bethalto, a village of 300 people, east of Alton, had the remarkable increase in population by berths of 12½ per cent. in the last year. The average of three berths a month in a year is claimed by Bethalto people to be unique. Four babies were born in the place consists of prosperous farmers and business men, and in almost every case where a birth took place it was in a family able to give the child good advantages.

of American affairs or the American people. It adds:—

"Our proverbial insularity still hangs about us through one of those survivals which seems to indicate an ineradicable strain of conversatism in our nature. The public press generally devotes an absurdly small proportion of its news service to American matters if the immense relative importance of the latter is considered, while even secondary currents of Continental politics are treated on a grand scale. Perhaps they may date a new era, in which the British public will get its focus more correctly adjusted on American affairs from Mr. Bryce's tenure in the Embassy."

PLACING THE BLAME.

There has been a certain amount of talk during the last few days over the threatened withdrawal of the Allan line turbine steamers. One paper which has secured a number of inter views asserts that business men are indignant over the affair, and another goes so far as to declare that citizen are aroused. While it is greatly to be feared that this is hardly the case, still there is a dim possibility of some truth existing in the statement, and if so the Allans have given St. John the best bargain in a generation. It would be better for this city to lose the whole Allan service and be awakened, than to enjoy the benefits resulting from half a dozen new steamship lines and remain asleep as at present In the general discussion of those incidents of the past few days, nothing can be more clearly impressed upon an outsider than the fact that now as heretofore the people who are doing the talking do not know what they want. Some blame the government, some the Allans, and others the common council. Few have the nanliness to admit the truth, that the entire fault rests upon themselves, that the unfortunate developments in harbor matters have been the result of nothing but lack of interest in the progress of the city. Those men who are now doing most of the talking are the very same ones who, in spite of repeated requests, refused to nominate for the council. They sit back, let a bunch of second rate men be after year, of so-called "prominent

They will do just as much this year. Edward Sears will be elected Mayor without opposition, and every alderman now at the board will be returned. There may be a few one-sided contests, but in spite of all their complaining the electors will go to the polls and vote for the same men again. This is the reason why the harbor is not in better condition; this is why the slippery Allans are pulling the wool over our eyes, why Halifax, with its many disadvantages, can exert a far stronger influence than St.

John. We have no one to blame but ourselves and the scoper this is re-citizens," who never do anything in particular for the benefit of their fellows, finding fault with the work which should be performed by themselves. Nor are these leading business men the only ones who are asleep. The great majority of electors are in the same lethargic condition and, newspaper statements to the contrary, show no very evident signs of an awakening. Look at what happened last year. The civic ejection was one of the most important in the life of St. John; large questions were to be dealt with; but the keenest business men refused to take a share. They did nothing but cast their votes. They will do just as much this year. Edward Sears will be elected Mayor

A WONDERFUL RUSE.

A WONDERFUL RUSE.

The late A. M. Simpson had the following experience at a New York theating to take their hats off in the theating several years ago:

In those days women weren't compelled to take their hats off in the theating. Consequently a good many kept their hats on, and the people behind saw nothing of the stage. Mr. Simpson sat in his orchestra chair, enjoying the play famously, when a woman in two-foot hat plumped down in the seat in front of him. He sighed. He sat, so to speak on tiptoe. He craned his neck to the right and to the left. But in vain. Now that this woman had come, he could see nothing of the stage. He saw only two black ostrich plumes, a bunch of grapes, a humming bird and a bow of pink satin ribbon—from London says: "Lloyds has added to its many odd insurances one on Thaw's life, agreeing to pay a total loss if the prisoner is executed.
