

ST. JOHN BOY LED CLASS AT ACADIA

George W. F. Keirstead Had Highest Standing for Last Three Years of Course.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Goodspeed Take M. A. Degree—Fine Addresses Delivered.

Continued from Page 1. Esting and was keenly enjoyed. Esaying by four members of the graduating class were delivered as follows:— "The Vision of the Northmen," Arthur H. Chute. "The Origin and Significance of Classical Mythology," Willard S. McIntyre. "The Forward Call to the Church," Ivan S. Nowlan. "Halley's Comet," M. Evelyn Slack. "The Vision of the Northmen," by Arthur Chute was in the form of an epic showing the conflict between the old religion of the Norsemen and the new religion of Christianity; the eternal conflict of the old and the new. The poem is based on the traditions concerning the discovery of America in 1000 A. D., by Lief Erikson.

On Halley's Comet. The oration delivered by Miss Slack on "Halley's Comet," first treated of comets in general, their appearance, degree of visibility, number, orbits, origin, and the possibility of collision. Halley's comet itself was then spoken of. It was said to be a periodic comet and its orbit was first to be computed, this being done by Halley. Then was shown how this wonderful comet had been traced as far back as 11 B. C., how closely its history was connected with that of human civilization, and with what terror it had always been beheld. It was told how about 1682 Halley predicted the comet seen in that year would return in 1758; how his prediction was verified and the comet has ever since borne his name. Next the appearance of this comet in 1835 and 1910 were described.

In closing comments were spoken of as the wandering riddles of astronomy, and how these bodies aid in giving the world a conception of the vast magnitude of the universe, and of the presence within it of an unseen power.

St. John Boy on Mythology. In his essay on the Origin and Significance of Classical Mythology, W. S. McIntyre, of St. John, pointed out that the study of mythology assists one to thread the labyrinth of literature with a firm step, to understand and sympathize with the masterpieces of the ancients and the moderns, and to appreciate the language and the aesthetic sense. It also illustrated the groping after truth of primitive peoples and the records of the ancient and simplest forms of primitive philosophy and religion. By myths nature is deified and vivified and lifted from the common place to the sphere of the ethereal and vital. Myths are divided into two classes, the explanatory and the aesthetic. Explanatory myths are those by which solutions were attempted for the phenomena and powers of nature; aesthetic myths are those which have no practical value but exist simply to amuse, their degree of amusement being the index of their beauty.

The Social Crisis. Iraan S. Nowlan in his oration on The Present Social Crisis, pointed out that while slavery was supposed to be abolished, it still exists in a form which binds intelligent masses in chains which are daily becoming more irksome. One remedy offered for the evil, he said, was socialism, but this is a philosophy of failure. Socialists fall to solve the problem because of their materialistic conception of life, because they ignore the fact that competition is the chief incentive of human progress and because they do not recognize the fact that society must be reformed from within by the regeneration of the individual. The present crisis, he maintained, was a challenge to the church. In Christianity's gospel of social brotherhood and insistence upon moral values lies the real solution. The promised land lies open for the church to go in and take possession.

Evelyn M. Slack, Mathematics. Ruby Sweet, Mathematics. George F. Camp, Philosophy. George C. F. Kierstead, Philosophy. Harold C. Robinson, Philosophy. Dr. R. V. Jones Honored. One of the most interesting features of the anniversary proceedings was the celebration of the jubilee of Dr. R. V. Jones, who for fifty consecutive years has headed the classical department at the University.

In reading an address of appreciation and congratulation on behalf of the governors, senators, alumni and friends, E. D. King of Halifax recalled that the class of 1860 of which Dr. Jones was a member, contained a group of the most distinguished men ever graduated from the institution. The members of the class included Charles Frederick Hartt, B.A., M.A., professor at Vassar, and at Cornell, linguist, naturalist, author. His early death at the age of 38 robbed the scientific world of one of its brightest ornaments.

The late Edward Hickson, B.A., M. A., was a faithful preacher of the Gospel. No higher tribute can be offered to the memory of any man. The late Theodore Harding Rand, B.A., M. A., D. C. L., superintendent of education, professor at Acadia and at McMaster University; poet, saw visions and dreamed dreams indeed, but most excellent in accomplishing his strenuous tasks.

The late James Edward Wells, B.A., M. A., L.L.B., professor, author, journalist, gave inspiration and leadership to a broad constituency and accomplished a permanent work.

These filled their several niches with marked ability and distinction, said Mr. King. Of the four members of the class who are still with us, may it not be said that each has well sustained the optimistic forecast of fifty years ago?

Slip Aldward, B.A., M. A., D. C. L., K. C., lawyer, dean of law school, legislator; holds an honored place among the leading men of his native province of New Brunswick.

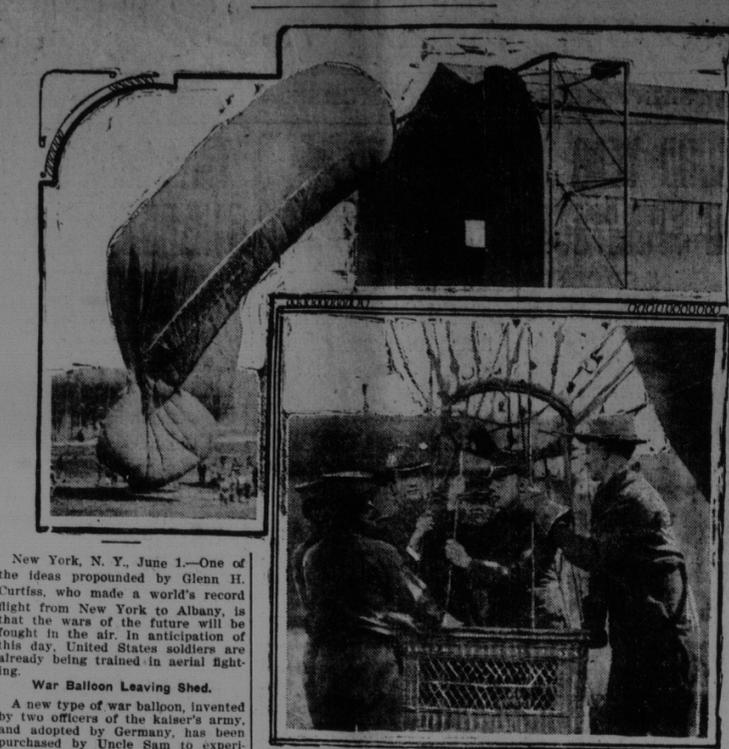

John Y. Payzant, B.A., M. A., D. C. L., K. C., lawyer, successful solicitor, bank president, is honored and respected in high positions of responsibility, where unquestioned ability and integrity are demanded, as are few men in his native province, Nova Scotia. William Nathan Wickwire, B.A., M. A., M. D., Edinburgh. For many years Dominion medical officer for the port of Halifax; vice-consul for the Netherlands at Halifax; director in numerous important business enterprises. Dr. Wickwire's name is the synonym for professional ability and business integrity.

"Last, but not least, continued the address, Robert Von Clure Jones, B. A., M. A., Ph. D., the honored, respected, and beloved professor of the humanities in Acadia University; Nestor of the faculty; known erstwhile as the "walking dictionary," stands before us. We are proud of you Dr. Jones. To be a recognized leader among such classmates as I have named is high praise indeed, but your noble work at Acadia to which I shall refer presently, speaks for you a loftier tribute. Aldward and Payzant, and Wickwire, gladly share in the testimonial and words of appreciation which I have the honor to present. They must regret their inability to be with us today, and I am commissioned by them to convey to you their best wishes and hearty congratulations. When I first came here as a student in September, 1860, you had been already installed as second master in the academy. Four years later you became instructor in college and on the following year received appointment to the professorship of the Greek and Latin languages in Acadia University. You have still filled that position with signal success.

Fifty Years' Service. "For fifty years continuously, since graduating, barring the year 1876-77, spent under leave of absence, at the great Oxford University, as a keen student of teaching methods, you have been a trusted teacher and leader in these schools. That your work has been faithfully and efficiently accomplished, your long periods of successful service bears ample testimony. "Your teaching has been inspiring and uplifting. With little thought for money making, your thoughtfulness for others and ardent desire to be helpful have been constantly in evidence. Mind and heart have gone hand in hand in all your ministrations. This is the unanimous verdict of the many men and women who have come under your instruction during these fruitful years. They can offer you no higher commendation. Why, but not wily, and humorous without being humorous, while gracefully ministering to the student's high thinking and right doing, you have also captured his heart.

A purse of over $1000, contributed by the students who during these 50 years had profited by Dr. Jones' able and inspiring instruction, accompanied the address. Naturally Dr. Jones was deeply touched by this striking tribute to the value of his services and responded with deep feeling.

PREPARING FOR WAR IN THE AIR

New York, N. Y., June 1.—One of the ideas propounded by Glenn H. Curtiss, who made a world's record flight from New York to Albany, is that the wars of the future will be fought in the air. In anticipation of this day, United States soldiers are already being trained in aerial fighting. War Balloon Leaving Shed. A new type of war balloon, invented by two officers of the Kaiser's army, and adopted by Germany, has been purchased by Uncle Sam to experiment with. It is a huge gas bag and resembles a monster yellow "grub worm" like the kind boys use as bait for catfish. The balloon proper is a long cylindrical bag, attached to the rear of which is a large, loose air bag. Balance is maintained by the force of the air in the appendage, which also automatically releases the gas in the cylinder as the balloon ascends. Experiments with the war balloon were made at Fort Omaha during the aeronautical "school" May 11-14. Capt. Charles De Forest Chandler was "teacher" in ballooning to a class of captains and first lieutenants from Fort Leavenworth, Kas.

FUNERAL OF DR. GAUDET

St. Josephs, N. B., June 1.—Westmorland County today paid a silent but eloquent tribute over the remains of Dr. E. T. Gaudet, who died in this county as well as the province was fully attested by the wealth of floral offerings which were placed in his coffin, the numerous messages of sympathy that poured upon the bereaved family and the presence of citizens of every rank in the immense funeral cortege. Not since the funeral of his beloved and intimate friend, Father Lefebvre, has St. Thomas' church held such a congregation of sorrowing friends. Like Father Lefebvre he had given largely and generously of his life to the uplifting of his people and the gratification of their benefactors. Places were reserved in the church for the representatives of the different societies, the students of the college to whom he was both a devoted friend and faithful physician, and a notable fact that his last effort in his profession was a visit to the College Infirmary on the Wednesday before he died; the Sisters of Charity and their pupils, the Sisters of the Holy Family, whose noble work in the cause of education in a humble way is but little known, and to whom he was more than a father. The procession moved from the residence to the church in the following order: College and Parish bands; under the direction of Rev. H. LeBlanc, Assumption Society, Artisans, Knights, etc.; cross bearers, clergy, officiating priests, honorary pall bearers, remains borne by penitentiary staff, mourners, college students, general public. Solemn Requiem Mass was sung by Rev. Roy, assisted by Revs. A. D. Cormier, deacon and John V. Gaudet, subdeacon. The singing was by the combined choirs of the college and the parish. The honorary pall bearers were Dr. D. V. Landry, Dr. Belliveau, Dr. Myers, Dr. L. N. Bourque, Dr. Richard and Dr. F. de la Gaudet. Among the many who attended the funeral were: Fathers Antoine LeBlanc, Savage, LeBlanc of Moncton, Landry of Cape Blad and Dufour, Cormier of Upper Aubougang, LeBlanc of Shediac, Judge Landry, John H. LeBlanc, Fitchburg, Mass., Grand Secretary of the Assumption, Hon. H. R. Emmerson, A. D. Richard, John Landry, Rene Richard, LeBaron LeBlanc, E. Wilson, J. Hewson, Senator Poirier, Dr. E. Smith, Dr. H. C. LeBlanc, G. McLean, J. V. Bourque, Shediac, Dr. Reid, Dr. White, Dr. Purdy, Dr. Galagher, Dr. C. Belliveau, Hon. F. J. Sweeney, Senator McSwiney, Antoine Legay, P. Breaux, Z. Bourque, Hon. C. W. Robinson, Denis Richard, Camille Boudreau, Moncton, W. J. Mahoney, State Deputy of the K. of C. and Charles A. Owens, Grand Knight, St. John, A. B. Copp, M. P. P. Sackville, C. M. Leger, M. P. P. Memramcook, Pius Michaud, M. P. P. Madawaska, Mr. J. P. Sherry, Memramcook.

The funeral services were: Wreath, St. John Council, K. of C.; Wreath, Penitentiary Staff; Crescent, Mrs. P. D. Leger and family; Cross, Mrs. F. B. Black, Sackville; Cross and

Under the direction of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, it is proposed to have speakers in attendance at a number of places on the dates mentioned, to give demonstrations and lead discussions at afternoon meetings and to address evening meetings. The subjects to be taken up are Soil Cultivation, the Judging of Horses and the Judging of Dairy Cattle. Each meeting will be in charge of the agricultural society of the district, and it is suggested that a picnic meeting be arranged so that those in attendance may get their suppers on the ground, and then be on hand for the evening meeting. A small piece of land, about a quarter of an acre, which will have been plowed and harrowed, will be required to demonstrate cultivation and a few horses and dairy cattle will be needed for the judging demonstration and agricultural society officers interested are requested to make the necessary arrangements.

Woodstock, N. B., June 1.—The marriage of Miss Alice Maud Fitzsimons, daughter of Mrs. Robert Fitzsimons, to Mr. Andrew Dunbar of the firm of Alex Dunbar and Sons, was celebrated at the home of the bride at 8 o'clock this evening. The wedding was a quiet one, only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. W. Weddall, pastor of the Methodist church. They received many beautiful presents, including an oak chiffonier and dining room chairs from the employees of the Dunbar Co., and a hall seat and mirror of a new and handsome design of quartered oak from the employees of B. B. Mansers store, where the bride has been employed.

Frank Gotch Retains the Championship

World's Wrestling Champion Easily Defeats Zbyszko, the Pole, at Chicago Match.

Secured First Fall in Six Seconds and the Second Within Half an Hour.

Chicago, Ill., June 1.—Frank Gotch, of Humboldt, Iowa, tonight successfully defended his title as wrestling champion of the world, by easily defeating Stanislaus Zbyszko, the Polish champion in straight falls, at the Coliseum. Gotch outclassed his bulkier opponent in every department of the game, after winning the first fall in the phenomenal time of six and one quarter seconds. It was only a question of how long the Pole could hold out against the brilliant and varied attack of his skilled rival. The immense crowd had hardly realized that the great match had started before Referee Dick Fleming slapped Gotch on the back and declared him the winner of the first fall. The hold which sent the Pole down was a bar arm and half Nelson. After the men shook hands Gotch had stepped back a bit and then the fierce Zbyszko, who would quickly realize what was happening, his shoulders were pinned to the mat. Warned by his sudden downfall, Zbyszko was more cautious and it took Gotch 27 minutes and 35 seconds to win the match with a bar arm and wrist lock.

At no time was Gotch in any danger and when the Pole would secure any advantage, Gotch would quickly break his hold and jump to his feet. Gotch would forestall his opponent at every turn and it was worse than hopeless for the Pole to attempt to assume the aggressive. The result indicated that Gotch was out of condition when he lost the handicap match to Zbyszko at Buffalo. In that encounter Gotch engaged to throw the Pole twice within the hour but failed to get even one fall.

SIMMS CO. REPORTED BY FACTORY INSPECTOR

Local Concern Failed to Report Injury to Employee and Matter is to be Aired in Courts. Yesterday morning Factory Inspector Kenney was in the police court and complained that the firm of T. S. Simms & Co., Ltd., had failed to report to him that one of their employees had been injured. Mr. Harry H. Reid, the secretary and treasurer of the company, appeared and stated that the only reason for not reporting the accident was that they were not aware that they were obliged to do so. It was pointed out that the regulations are hanging on the factory walls and the case was adjourned until Saturday morning at nine o'clock, as Inspector Kenney has a case to enquire into at Campbellton in the mean time.

SACKVILLE STUDENTS LEAVE FOR HOMES

Seattle, Wash., June 1.—Officials of companies operating steamships to Alaska points on the Behring Sea estimate that 15,000 people will leave Seattle for Nome and St. Michaels on the early sailings, drawn to the far north by the reports of rich gold discoveries in the Iditarod gold fields. The first regular liner to leave for Nome will sail from Seattle tomorrow, and every berth has been sold weeks in advance. Wealthy men have been compelled to take accommodations in the steerage and there is a waiting list in the steamship offices larger than the combined capacity of the north-bound steamers. So great is the rush to the north that passenger and freight officers of Alaska steamship lines say that the movement which amounts to a stampede has been equalled by but once in the history of the north and that, during the Klondyke rush thirteen years ago.
