MIDDLE CLASSES

Nationalization of Industry Condemned.

(Liverpool Post.)

"The middle classes were united, no Government could stand between them and their rights for fourteen days," said Mr. George Clark, chairman of the Liverpool branch of the Middle Classes Union, when presiding last night at a meeting—the first of a series arranged by the branch—in the Law Rooms.

In such a large city as Liverpool, with a population of 800,000, he declared, it should not be difficult to secure for the union a membership of at least 50,000. They would then be able to return their own member of Parliament (applause). But, with only half that strength, they would be a power to be reckoned with.

Classes Who Keep the Country Going.
The middle classes were made up of (1) the great distributing and consumer classes; (2) those who worked with the brain; (3) the great commercial classes. It was no exaggeration to say that those classes combined kept this country going. There was no line of demarcation as to eligibility for the union; the only essential was British birth. The Liverpool branch, he understood included in its ranks three peers and also a number of working men, who no doubt were sick of the tyranny of some trade unions. The object of the union was to scrutinize carefully all proposed legislation, with a view to its effects on the middle classes, and to safeguard those classes against the tyranny of the profiteer on the one hand and the unreasonable demands of Labor on the other. Their efforts should, in his opinion, be directed to making nationalization impossible, at least to tend to crush individuality and stifle ambition. Today they saw all sections of the community organized and armed to the teeth with the exception of the middle classes, who constituted the greatest section of them all.

Do Middle Classes Vote for Labor?

Dr. W. B. Bennett said it had been stated that Labor candidates who had been returned at recent by-elections owed their success to middle-class votes. He did not think there was any truth in the suggestion. The explanation probably was that the middle classes did not vote at all, whereas the Labor element did.

Other speakers included Mr. Fred Cartwright, (organizing secretary of the branch) and Mr. F. J. Wilkinson, (propaganda organizer).

THINKS CURATES SHOULD NOT MARRY

York Convention on Straits of Clergy—Bishop Discusses Question.

"Should curates marry?" was a point raised by the Bishop of Liverpool yesterday, at the Convocation of York. "The problem of the curate," Dr. Chavasse termed it, and he reiterated his view that "bishops ought to combine to stop at present the marriage of curates."

"Men are coming to me for ordination," he continued, "and I am asking them, 'Are you married or engaged to be married?' Almost invariably I find the answer is 'Engaged to be married.' In that case I am saying to them, 'I cannot accept you if you mean to take a wife on your income of £200 a year.' 'I think we shall have to lay down some such rule as that, or otherwise we shall have a vast number of the young clergy in really serious straits. Of course what happens usually when I decline to take them is that some other bishop takes them (laughter). I think if we could come to some determination not to accept young men contemplating marriage it would be a very good thing for the younger clergy of the Church of England."

This declaration by Dr. Chavasse was made when the Upper House was focusing attention upon the dire straits of clergy and their families, and the bishops were insisting that the laity of the Church of England must rise to the occasion, and speedily, if intense suffering and even scandal is to be avoided.

Almost a National Scandal. The Archbishop of York, who presided, said if the members of the Church of England desired to have a resident married clergy of educated persons in their midst, they must either, in a degree not hitherto contemplated, raise the money by which they could be maintained, or else be prepared for a very drastic diminution in the number of separate cures throughout the country. It was quite impossible to put into words what the bishops felt about the present position of the bulk of the clergy of the country.

RESOLUTION DIDN'T ORIGINATE HERE

Matter of Uniform Dress for Business Women One of a Number to be Discussed at National Executive—St. John Council Took No Action.

An explanation is made on behalf of the St. John Council of Women how the question of dress for business women came before the executive. It did not originate here. The Council of Women represents 400,000 women of federated societies. Before the agenda for the convention of the national council is prepared, resolutions are submitted to the councils all over the country for their opinion, and those to which the majority become part of the agenda. In this way the St. John Council had sent to it for its opinion the following resolution:

"Resolved: That a systematic educational campaign be undertaken by the federated associations to bring about such changes, especially in the business world, as will lead to more dignified, and in some instances a more uniform type of apparel, which will enable business women to attire themselves at the least possible cost in the most fitting style and material."

The executive did not pass on the resolution. It will be discussed later, as all such resolutions are discussed. When the national executive meet in Ottawa next month it will have before it the views of all the women's councils, and will then decide whether or not the subject will be considered by the national council.

NO PROFITEERING WITH ZAM-BUK

Before the war, Zam-Buk was 50c a box. All during the war, when the cost of production was rapidly advancing, the price of Zam-Buk to the consumer remained the same. Now, with the war over, while some prices continue to soar, Zam-Buk is still 50c a box. Not only so, but the same high standard of quality has been maintained throughout.

There has been no profiteering in regard to Zam-Buk. For every box you have bought, you have been asked to pay fair value only.

Is this method of doing business not worthy of recognition? Answer this question by continuing to recommend, to appreciate, and to use Zam-Buk—the greatest household healer of modern times.

Use it for all skin troubles, eczema, ringworm, abscesses, ulcers, sores, pimples, piles, blood-poisoning, chapped hands, cold sores, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, etc.

All Dealers, St. Box.

SOVEREIGNS AND "BRADBURY'S"

Amid all the talk and writing about the collapse of exchanges, there is a manifest tendency to confuse the sovereign with the "Bradbury." It is as well, however, to realize clearly that the sovereign has suffered no depreciation, that the mischief has happened entirely to the Treasury Note. Professor Cannon, in a letter to the "Westminster Gazette" last night, points out that the gold in a full-weight sovereign is equal to 4.86 dollars. Consequently, if you have a gold sovereign in New York, you can nearly get 4.86 dollars for it. In present British money, in fact, the sovereign in New York is worth about £1 8s. For the sake of avoiding ambiguity on a very important matter—and it is vital that the reader have lucid thinking on the exchanges if we are to devise curative measures—Professor Cannon throws out a practical suggestion. Instead of telling people that "£1 is worth only 13s 6d when strictly it is worth 20s," it would be better, he suggests, to say that "£1 (vulgo a Bradbury) is only worth 68 3/4 per cent. of the gold content of a sovereign, or that it is depreciated against gold 31 1/4 per cent." It is a rather elaborate formula, to be sure, but undoubtedly it explains the position. On the other hand, does not impress us with the popularly-forgotten truth that all our debts will have to be paid in terms of the sovereign. Possibly, in existing dismal circumstances, that may be one of its advantages.—Liverpool Post.

JACK DEMPSEY FURNISHES BONDS FOR APPEARANCE

Charged With Conspiracy to Evade the Selective Draft Law in United States.
Los Angeles, Cal., March 4—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world and his manager, Jack Kearns, today furnished $1,500 bonds each before a United States District Commissioner here, to appear in the United States District Court in San Francisco, March 20, to plead to an indictment charging them with conspiracy to evade the selective draft law.

Warrants were served upon Dempsey and Kearns in the court room by a deputy United States Marshal. The Attorney for the accused men waived a hearing on their behalf.

Ottawa, Ont., March 4.—(By Canadian Press.)—Hon. J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways and Canals, stated tonight that there had been no decision as yet as to who would compose the committee of management of the Grand Trunk Railway when that system is taken over by the Government. The choice of members of the committee may be made within a few days, however. Canadian National Railway officials are in the capital at the present time consulting with the Department officials on Canadian National Railway estimates for next year.

Parliament Witnesses Spectacle of Third Party Breaking Into Debate

In the House who do not esteem his personality and admire his candour and sincerity. And while to quote Mr. Meighen's sparkling Winnipeg phrase) he is so far as today's speech is concerned, assailed the opposition with words and the Government with both words and votes, there was a striking and pleasing contrast between his generous reference to the Prime Minister and the badly concealed sneers of members of the Opposition.

Mr. Meighen, who followed, was like Mr. Orser, far from his usual form, speaking without preparation, he appeared more intent upon scoring consequential debating points than of dealing in an informative way with broad questions of policy, and there was little in his speech which approached the high level of excellence and power which characterized his Winnipeg utterance.

Of the earlier speakers, with the possible exception of Mr. Buchanan who announced continued allegiance to Union, there is little that can usefully be said. Tomorrow, however, Dr. Michael Clark the orator and prophet of the new party will be heard, and the Government may put up another minister to reply. The vote will be taken on Tuesday.

MANY COMPLAINTS.

William Campbell was arrested at 8.30 o'clock last night for being drunk, for interfering with the police, for attempting to take a prisoner from the police, for assault and the use of threatening and profane language. One arrest for drunkenness was also made.

TELLS DYSEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas On Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisulphate of Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antacid than Bisulphate of Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestant. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This requires the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthily without need of peptic pills or artificial digestants.

Get a few ounces of Bisulphate of Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the bisulphate form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."
