which they had left at the foot of the hills on the northwest. There, however, they were received with a fusilade from the Hussars, who had captured or stampeded all the horses.

The enemy swerved in their line of retreat. Some surrendered there and there; others made for Hatting Sprutt, whils some moved toward Landmans Drift. All who fied were closely pursued by our cavalry and a field battery. "It seems pretty clear that, when the main fight was drawing to a close part at least of the Dannhauser contingent, under Commandant Fraemus, came upon the ground as well as a detachment from a Free State contingent, which had made a forced march from Waschbank on the south.

The chief portion of the Free State troops, however, remained it appears, in a strong position at Biggareberg, whence it will be necessary to dislodge them, if if they should wait for our attack which, in the circumstances, is not thought probable.

Boers Driven From Elandslaagte With

LONDON. Oct. 22-The war office this engagement yesterday at Elandslaagte, between Glencoe and Ladysmith, when the British under General French routed the Transvasi fo.ce under General Jan H. M. Kock, second in command of the Transvasi army, who was himself wounded and captured and has since died.

"White, commander in Natal to the secretary of state for war. Filed Ladysmith, October 22, 10.30 a. m. In the action at Elandslaagte yesterday the troops engaged were the following: Cavalry—Fifth Lancers, saquadron of the Fifth Dragoon guards, the Imperial Light Horse and two aquadroons of Natal Carbineers. Artillery—21st Field Battery, 42nd Field Battery and the Natal Field Battery. Infantry—The Davonshire Regiment, half a battalion of the Gordon Highlanders and the Manchester Regimen. The whole force was under General French, with Colont Lan Hamilton commanding the infantry. "I was present in person from 3,30 p. m. to 630 p. m. but did not assume direction of the fight, which was left in the hands of General French. Although desultory fighting took place earlier in the day, while reinforcements, sent out later on ascertaining the enemy's strength, were arriving from Ladysmith, the real action did not begin until 3.30 p. m. At that hour the Boers held a position of very exceptional strength, consisting of a rocky hill about a mile and a half southeast of Elandslaagte station.

"At'3.30 p. m. our guns took a position on a ridge, 4,100 yards from the Boers, whose guns at once opened fire. This fire was generally well directed, but somewhat high. Con rary to previous experiences, their shels burst well.

"The Imperial light horse moved towards the left of the enemy's position and two squadrons of the Fifth Lancers toward his righ'. During the artillery duel, mounted Boers pushed out from their left and engaged the Imperial light horse. In a few minutes the enemy's guns ceased firing, and our artillery was turned on the mounted Boers, who opposed the imperial light horse, who at once fell back. After the artillery preparations, our infantry advanced to the attack, supported by our guns in the second position. The Devonshires held the enemy in front, while the Manchetter regiment and the Gordon Highlanders turned his left flank.

"The Boers' guns, although often temporarily silenced, invariably opened fire again on the slightest opportunity, and were served with great courage.

"After severe firing our infantry carried the position. At 630 p. m. this was accomplished, the enemy standing his ground to the last with courage and tenacity. The Fifth Lancers and a squadron of the Fifth Dragoon Guards charged thrice through the retreating Boers in the dark, doing considerable execution.

Then at 6.15 p. m. the Devonshire regiment, half the Gordon Highlanders, half the Manchester regiment and the Imperial Light Horse advanced on the position and stormed the enemy's front. A bayonet charge was sounded as the roar of artillary on both sides suddenly ceased and our men, the Devonshires leading, made a superb dash against the main body of the Boers, undaunted by facing a fearful fire. Twice were they checked by the terrible fusilade. Once the advance quivered for a moment but then, with ringing, roaring cheers, the whole of our force hurled itself forward like an avalanche and swept over the Kopjes, bayoneting the broken enemy in all directions.
