REDMEN ON WAY RAIDERS READY

In two days the Red Raiders will no longer have to wonder how well they're going to do against the once perpetually weak and now apparently strong and experienced McGill cagers. Friday evening the tale will be told; if we win against the Redmen we should be more than happy, impressed or even surprised. We should first of all faint and then if able, run rampant around the gym singing "O Canada", stopping only occasionally to recite passages from the Lord's Prayer.

The question arises, "Is McGill really this strong?" The answer, "how should I know, I'm not a basketball coach. Why don't you go to the game and judge for yourself?"; but before you do here are some points of interest. McGill has several of last year's better men returning in the person's of Ben Shore, Ian teams. Against Acadia this year, he picked up 34 points in a 94-50 loss, making 10 of 14 free throws. Against Montreal Carabins he grabbed 51 and against Queen's, 33.

Ron Horeck, a product of the McGill J.V. Indians and their leading scorer last year is a jump-shot specialist. However, it has been stated several times that he was going to give the game up due to pressure of studies. Possibly his grades have picked up as he recently scored a very decisive 14 points against Western. Whether he will be playing against us or not, only time will tell. A good guess is yes and for this reason; without him McGill's chances are even slimmer and they no doubt want to win.

Their chances are slim because of Raider players like Laird McLennan, who consistently picks up the big points; Ted Tomchak, who can also dunk that ball as evidenced by his 30-point effort against Washington State and who also plays a great defensive game; Rollie Labonte, who shoots and makes them in the clutches and also sets up most of the plays; Don Morgan, who very seldom misses with his jump shot; Roy Miller, former Redman player, who is the driving force and inspiration behind the team; Ed Browne, Clarry Lay, Bob Baber, Ken Murray and Gord Jones, round out the reason why the McGill Redmen will lose to the Nelson-coached squad. Prediction — UNB 83, McGill 74.

MIAU SKI MEET

This weekend the Red Falcons Varsity Ski team will defend their MIAU title which they have held for the last decade.

Many of last year's team are back and UNB should produce a strong team this year. Among those who will probably be with the team again this year are: Jerry Lemon, Grant MacKenzie, Norm Crutchfield, Oue Samuelson and Hans Anvik. Some of the new faces who are trying out for positions are Bob Livsey, Bob Goodfellow, Jim Davidson, Pete Strangeland and Ron Percy. The Ski meet will be held on Friday and Saturday, the 9th and 10th of February.

The schedule will be Friday 9: Jumping—10:30 a. m.; Cross Country—2:30 p. m.

Saturday, 10:

Downhill—10:00 a. m.; Slalom—2:00 p. m.

All events with the possible exception of Cross Country will be held at the Royal Road.

There will also be an Open Meet on Friday and Sunday with the Open Cross Country and Jumping being held at the same time as the MIAU events. The Open Downhill and Slalom will be held on Sunday at the same times as the MIAU events the previous day, i.e. 10:00 a. m. and 2:00 p. m.

Mt. A. is sending a team up which they claim is the strongest they have had for years and should give stiff competition. St. F. X. is also sending a team and we hope that Dalhousie will send a contingent as well.

On the following weekend the Red Falcons go to the U. of Maine Winter Carnival Meet at Orono, where they will race against Colby College, U. of Maine and other State of Maine colleges.

Individual Sports Day

Aitken, Jones, Neville, Neill and LBR, here is a challenge for one and all to show that your residence is the only one that really counts on campus. Friday afternoon will be filled with a series of events to be scored by the Olympic system — 10, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1. Each event will require a team of nine men and any number of teams may enter the competition. In fact teams from outside the residences are cordially invited to prove that the men in residence are not as Joe-college as they might think.

The nine-man teams will be expected to participate in the following events at Buchanan Field starting at 1:45. Human dog team races with three men on the toboggan and six pulling; a tug-o-war elimination series; a stiff and hazardous relay toboggan race, which calls for two men to pull two team-mates around the course once and then hand over the controls to three others who will pull the remaining two. The teams will then move to the LB Rink, if they are still breathing, and participate in some relay speed skating. The first race will call for four men, each one circling the rink once, and passing a baton within a certain distance. The next race call for the other five to show off their skating techniques. Everyone goes around once, but every alternate skater has to go backwards. It should all add up to a very successful afternoon and team victories in each event are not only status symbols but also spirited prize winners. One team with the most points will walk off with the big trophy.

As a prelude to the above competitions Jones and Aitken, Neill, and Neville will display their winter football formations in the Snow Bowl tournament on the Buchanan Field. These games call for twelve men to a team and to win the prize the winning team is going to have to be tough and spirited.

Besides these thrilling events for the men; the girls will be playing a broomball game in the LB Rink. This will no doubt be a grudge match between two of the residences. Rumour has it that Freshette Alley will probably be victorious. For action comparable to the NHL, watch the antics of our fearless co-eds, Friday at 2:30 p. m.

There will also be a prize for the residence or group showing the most humorous and imaginative dress. One which will tickle the fancy of all who make up the winning team.

The only equipment needed will be a toboggan and skates. It is also important that participating team members are of the fun-loving type and are prepared to spend a couple of fun-filled hours engaging in spirited merriment.

Time of events for party participants:

- 1:00 p.m. Jones vs Aitken, Nevills vs Neill, Buchanan Field. Snowbowl game.
- 1:45 p.m. Human Dog Team Race, Buchanan Field.
- 2:15 p.m. Tug-o-War, Buchanan Field.
- 2:30 p.m. Toboggan Relay Race, Buchanan Field.
- 2:30 p.m. Broomball with Co-eds, Lady Beaverbrook Rink.
- 3:00 p.m. Speed Skating Relay, Lady Beaverbrook Rink.

So come one, come all . . . to the great big Sports Day Ball.

SPORTS CAR RALLY

One of the major participatory events of the Carnival will be the Winter Rally, organized by the UNB Sports Car Club for Sunday the 11th of February.

This involves driving (in any suitable vehicle) over about 14 miles of winter roads, maintaining — or trying to maintain — set average speeds between controls. Checkpoints will be set up along the route to see that these average speeds are maintained: points are lost for not doing so.

The route includes several rather sticky hills, one at least of which will be a timed ascent, but these should be reasonably passable, especially if the navigator sits in the back seat and bounces up and down. Each team consists of car, driver and navigator, but extra passengers will incur a small points penalty. All cars entering should be properly road-worthy, and snow tires or chains are advisable equipment.

The start is at 11:00 a. m. outside the Geology building. Rally master for this event is Dr. D. J. C. Laming.

GYMKHANA

On Friday afternoon, February the 9th, the UNBSCC will hold a gymkhana, on the gym parking lot and beginning at two o'clock, the gymkhana is an obstacle course for cars. The competing driver follows a twisting course marked out by oil cans, the object being to cover the course as quickly as they can, knocking down as few markers as possible. The event is not limited to sports cars; anyone may enter. Entry fee under a dollar, and the Winter Carnival Committee has purchased a trophy to be awarded to the winner.

LAIRD McLENNAN

Monteith and George Micchowsky, who should all benefit from last year's experience. Besides these players of notable mention, we find several new faces on the team who are by no means new to the game. For example, Doyle Perkins of the University of Washington and former captain of their basketball team is probably the finest backcourt man to play for McGill in some time. It is not uncommon for him to average over 20 points a game and he is particularly deadly on his foul shots. He led the Pacific Coast Conference in foul shooting last year, and hit 10 for 10 against Queen's earlier this year. While at Washington, Perkins was chosen to the American Olympic basketball team in 1960.

Bob Berkman of Brandeis University in Boston, averaged 16 points a game for them last year which should certainly bring him the respect of Canadian

BOB BABER

Ladies Meet Gents

Long live the Lovely's, those wonderful co-eds who annually wipe the limeys off the ice before the Varsity hockey match every year. It is said that Canadians are the best hockey players in the world, which should include Canadian women, too. Well, the co-eds of UNB have proved that this is true for they have yet to be beaten at our Carnival.

Will Tom Sifton be able to ruin this unblemished record? Not very likely; however, his unco-ordinated friends should provide a few laughs. Many of these Englishmen try to use the excuse that they have never seen skates before let alone a co-ed. This is probably quite true and there is no doubt that Libby Newroth and her crew of seductive dolls will woo the foreigners right off the boards.
