CANADA'S MILITIA

Sir John French, Insp. General of Imperial Forces, Submits A Report in Which Criticisms Are Made.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—The Minister of Militia today made public the report of Sir John French, Inspector-General of the Imperial forces, upon the work of the Canadian militia. Sir John's report is a valuable contribution to the subject, and is a sound system of organization. A sound system of organization, he says, is the corner stone of all military matters. Individual excellence in commanders, staff or bodies of troops will not compensate for a want of it.

He criticized the Canadian organization on two lines. The proportion between the various arms of the service is not correctly adjusted. There is too much infantry and heavy artillery and only half as much field artillery as is advisable, while the engineers and supply services are too weak. The distribution of troops is faulty. The distribution of troops in regard to divisions are faulty in the corps which would serve together in peace. The connection between the peace and war divisions is not correct. The peace divisions are not trained together in peace. The connection between the peace and war divisions is not correct. The peace divisions are not trained together in peace. The connection between the peace and war divisions is not correct.

General French next advocates the drawing up of a scheme of mobilization which would include the establishment of a railway war council, presided over by chief of the general staff and including among its members managers or representatives of the principal railways of Canada. In this connection he says: "The work of mobilization, of providing, of insuring the provision of transport for equipment, stores and supplies, of preparing the necessary regulations and instructions, of drawing up tables showing the war equipment of all units, is a labor of very considerable magnitude. In the Imperial army for the United Kingdom alone, this work has occupied the undivided attention of five or six officials for nearly 20 years, while the duty of keeping the arrangements up to date, entails continuous work upon all officers of the army, both staff and regimental."

CONSULS PIQUED.

Refused to Attend Governor-General's Drawing Room.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The feature of the drawing room held in the senate chambers on Saturday evening by the governor-general and Countess Grey was the renewed refusal of the consuls-general of foreign countries to attend. The senior consul-general in Canada is Col. J. G. Foster, representing the United States. In Ottawa besides him there are representatives of China, Japan and Belgium. In Montreal there reside the consuls of Germany, France, Holland, Argentine Republic, etc. The question is one of precedence.

The consuls are offended that they are placed after the mayor of Ottawa in the order in which they are presented to the governor-general. They claim that their mission to this country is diplomatic, and that accordingly their status in this country is higher than mere trade representatives. However, Canada being still a colony of Great Britain in a technical sense, the government of Canada does not recognize them as diplomatic representatives, although on occasions they have acted on diplomatic missions, as for instance when Col. Foster took part in the recent negotiations regarding the tariff between Canada and the United States. The drawing room was the last their excellencies will hold and was the smartest in several years.

SPLIT WAS AVOIDED

Between the Labor Unions of the United States and Canada

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 22.—A threatened split between the labor unions of the United States and Canada was smoothed over this afternoon in the American Federation of Labor by the action of President Gompers and his friends. The discussion, which at times was heated, grew out of the resolutions which were adopted which recommended the maintenance of the autonomy of the international unions in Canada and confers the sole right in the assurance of local union charges upon the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress and gives the Canadian central body the privilege of affiliation with the federation at discretion. Several delegates made speeches in support of the resolutions which finally were adopted.

When the company bid for the renewal of the service at Ottawa, Sir James Mills submitted to the federal authorities the views of his fellow directors and he has received the assurance that the contract will be of such length as to justify the company building 12,000 ton steamers for the Vancouver service. While Canada has come to a decision, Australia remains to be heard from. Sir James has just sailed from San Francisco for Sydney.
