THE ISOLATION HOSPITAL IS A TROUBLESOME QUESTION

The City Has Options on Suitable Properties but the Prices are Considered High by Members of Finance Committee

MATTER MAY BE SHELVED BECAUSE OF HIGH RATE

A joint meeting of the Finance Committee of the City Council and the Board of Health was held in the City Clerk's office, Harrison Hall, last evening, for the purpose of considering the advisability of purchasing a site for an isolation hospital at once.

The Chairman of the Finance Committee said that the city had options on four properties as sites for the hospital. The price asked for these pieces of property were, $2,750, $1,500, $550 and $500 respectively. Chairman Scullard said the question before the committee was whether it would be advisable to purchase a site equipped with buildings, or to purchase a vacant lot and build suitable buildings afterward.

Mr. Wanless gave it as his opinion that it would be best to purchase the site and erect suitable buildings afterward.

Mr. Wanless gave it as his opinion that it would be best to purchase the site and erect suitable buildings afterward. This would be the wisest scheme, if the city could at the present time bear the expense.

Ald. Scullard remarked that it would be well to remember that this would most likely be a year of high tax rates, and that the governing bodies of the city should make an effort to keep expenses down as much as possible. He said that he would like to hear what the other gentlemen at the meeting thought of the scheme to erect an isolation hospital that would be suitable for all requirements.

Medical Health Officer Hall said that he had had plans for an up-to-date isolation hospital prepared by an architect. A building of the description in the plans could be erected at a cost of about $3,000 to the city. This would be a one-story building with a basement and separate living rooms for the caretaker. The Health Officer said that he would by all means be in favor of the city erecting a suitable building rather than purchasing buildings which would not entirely meet requirements. Dr. Hall also said that the statute requires that the isolation building should be a distance of 450 feet from any other habited building, and it was just a question in his mind as to whether the city could build within that distance of prospective sites.

Ald. Scullard gave it as his opinion that legally property owners who had buildings within that distance of a proposed site, could enjoin the city from building.

Mr. Wanless believed that the isolation hospital should be situated where the surroundings would be congenial to the patients confined, and the property adjoining the building large enough to admit of them walking around, when well enough.

Ald. Austin said that the first thing that the committee would have to ascertain was as to whether the proposed sites were the legal distance from other dwellings.

Ald. Scullard threw out the suggestion that an endeavor be made to have some of the surrounding municipalities join with the city in buying a property and in fitting it up properly. He thought that in this manner better results could be attained at a lesser expense. Under the act, it was possible for two or more municipalities to join in establishing and maintaining an institution of this kind. He would be in favor of asking some of the surrounding townships to co-operate with the city in purchasing, equipping and maintaining a site and suitable building.

Mr. Hadley thought it was questionable as to whether a number of municipalities could work harmoniously in the keeping up of such an institution. There would always be the problem as to what share each municipality should pay.

Ald. Scullard said he thought this should be a difficult matter to settle, as all would be asked to contribute equally to the cost of the site and the erection of the building, and each municipality would be called upon to pay their share toward the maintenance of the institution according to the number of patients confined to their section during the year.

Chairman Charteris of the Health Board, did not think that such a scheme would be feasible, for the reason that it would be next to impossible to get any of the surrounding townships to co-operate. Ald. Austin was another who thought that Ald. Scullard's scheme would hardly prove successful.

Dr. Hall said that the only plan with the townships which, in his opinion, would be at all successful, would be to take in their patients and charge them so much for attendance while there.

Ald. Austin, in a few words, pointed out that it would be wisdom on the part of the city to purchase a site and erect the buildings afterwards. This could be done at a total cost of about, at the most, say $4,500, which sum could be paid up in debentures covering a period of ten years. The city's annual payments would thus be only $450.

Ald. Stone said that as the Council had given the Finance Committee power to purchase a site, it would be well to do so as soon as possible, and to call a meeting later to consider the advisability of erecting buildings on it.

Ald. Scullard thought it would be a good idea in the meantime to have a competent architect draw up plans for suitable buildings, so that the committee might get some idea of the estimated cost.

Mr. Hadley believed that it would be well to send a delegation to some other city to see how they ran their isolation scheme there, and take an interest along, so that he might gain some idea as to the plans of other places.

"Experience has taught us," added Mr. Hadley, smiling, "that architects can draw up pictures of fine buildings, and we will find out the defects afterwards."

Dr. Charteris favored the buying of the property at once, and erecting suitable buildings, even if it was six months before things were in shape. In the meantime a delegation could be sent to a neighboring city or cities, to look over the plan of their institution. It wouldn't cost so very much to send a delegation on a tour of this description, and the information gained from outside places often proved invaluable.

Dr. Bray was in accord with the suggestions made by Dr. Charteris. He did not think it would be well to neglect the matter of building. This part of the transaction should be carefully considered before any action were taken, as the committee and the board were practically in the dark as far as being able to say what the building should be.

Mr. Wanless believed that the meeting should endorse some immediate action with regard to the establishment of an isolation hospital. In his opinion the matter had hung fire long enough, and there was imminent danger should an epidemic break out and the city be without proper facilities for the handling of the disease.

Mr. Hadley believed that the best plan would be to acquire the property at once, and to consider the advisability of building the hospital afterwards.

Dr. Hall said that, in the meantime, he would communicate with the department, and ascertain as to what bearing the statutes had on the matter.

Ald. Austin believed that if H. S. Clements, M. P., were communicated with, that gentleman would be pleased to give the committee any information with regard to the splendid isolation hospital which is said to be situated at Ottawa.

It was finally decided that the committee should, in company with the Medical Health Officer, go over the various properties on which options had been given, and make arrangements for the purchase of the one which they deemed it advisable to buy, and afterwards report to the Council and the Board of Health.

Those present at the meeting were, Ald. Scullard, Stone and Austin, and Chairman Charteris, Medical Health Officer Hall, Health Inspector Mounter, Dr. R. V. Bray, Mr. W. R. Baxter and Mr. J. C. Wanless, of the Health Board.
