F. O. Coffey, Prop. Phone 54.

He was selected by a committee of the faculty from five applicants. Mr. Carter is a nephew of Dr. Carter, Chief Supt. of Education.

Premier Borden has gone to a southern resort for the Christmas recess. Hon. Frank Cochrane is in Sudbury and Hon. Robert Rogers will spend Christmas in Windsor. Practically no cabinet business will be transacted until after the New Year, as other ministers will also be out of the capital.

President Taft has granted a pardon to Capt. Van Schaick, who, eight years ago, was in command of excursion steamer General Slocum, which was destroyed by fire in East River, over a thousand people losing their lives by drowning and otherwise. The Slocum was engaged to carry a picnic party that fatal day and the disaster occurred on the return trip.

Will Carleton, poet, newspaper man, lecturer, died at his home in Brooklyn, New York, on Wednesday short week, of pneumonia, after a year of the Detroit in 1870 he became editor published his Tribune, and a year later published the Poor House. Mr. Carleton was married in 1881 to Miss Adora N. Niles.

The Morning Chronicle concludes an editorial dealing with the Liberal defeat of 1911 and the consequences which resulted therefrom with the following pathetic quotation:

When I, and you, and all of us fell down.

We can imagine that this sentiment will find a response in the hearts of many Chronicle readers from Hon. W. S. Fielding down.

A bill providing means whereby railway employees in Canada will be given a better opportunity for voting in Federal elections is to come before Parliament this session as a result of efforts now being made by the conductors, engineers, firemen and other organizations.

The plan suggested is that the present law be amended to allow the opening of such terminals of a series of polls representing the electoral districts in which the train employees live. The railway men want such polls opened a day in advance, so that by the time the polls close, generally on election day, practically every trainman will have had a chance to cast his ballot.

Disappointing and no doubt disappointed people are always telling us that the old Christmas idea is passing, that the spirit of Christmas as it existed in the minds of Dickens, Charles Lamb, Washington Irving, and those other big writing fellows, is dead. We sincerely hope not, we know it is not. The manner of our celebration of the great anniversary may not be quite the same, we may have grown away to some extent from the conception of a genial Santa Clause presiding over our household and making us all feel benevolently nappy and at peace with the world.

Playing Politics.

It is more than regrettable that question so vital as that of Imperial Defense should be made the shuttlecock of political convenience. It was not upon any such basis that Britain's supremacy of the seas was built up and fostered. If the navy is to become a question of embittered party strife, tactics of this character are certain in the long run to impair its efficiency. If we believe in the Power which has obtained us for so long, without even asking any reward, then it is our duty at a time such as the present to support, with the most good faith, the advice for which we have asked, and to follow it and wholeheartedly, sturdy to the belief that it is the best that can be offered and the most likely to lead to immediate and speedy results.—Victoria Columbian.

Keep Menden's Lintiment in the house.

It should reveal the year as in other years, until it was clear that the pressure of traffic demanded the opening. With reference to the Sunday service on the Intercolonial railway, the report showed that the Alliance had asked merely that reference be paid to the strong sentiment in that section of the country against Sunday service, and that the government remember its responsibility in the matter of Sunday traffic as an example to all other businesses in the country.

Narrow Escape.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Fred B. Cox, wife of the editor of the Outlook, had an exciting experience. She was fixing the fire in the kitchen range when the flame shot up her left arm.

With the right hand she attempted to put out the blaze but it ran up the other arm. She tried to remove her dress, but in a moment found the flames shooting up her back and shoulders to her head.

Being alone in the house and unable to extinguish the fire which she could feel burning her back and neck, her first impression was to rush to her next neighbor, Mrs. Carter, for help. But recalling the fact that in similar cases women had lost their lives by rushing into the open air she stopped at the door and seizing a mat which lay on the veranda, smothered the flames from her shoulder and back.

Bugle occurred within a few seconds. Mrs. Cox, for her presence of mind from being she did not have escaped. Her outer clothing was fatally burned through and the hair of her neck and forehead scorched.—Middleton Outlook.

Anniversary.

The meeting held at Evangeline Hall, Lower Horton, last Friday evening, to celebrate 123rd anniversary of the Kings County Agricultural Society, proved a very enjoyable affair. Nearly a hundred of the members and their ladies with invited guests, participated. Delicious and bountiful oyster stew were served in the lower room by Mr. Arthur Young, of this town, and were much enjoyed. Mr. Young received great praise for the manner in which he conducted this part of the evening's entertainment. After the wants of the inner man had been fully satisfied the company adjourned to the upper room and President Chipman took the chair and gave a very excellent address. Prof. Cummings, of the Agricultural College, and Prof. Blair, of the Experimental Fruit Station, gave the other speakers and gave valuable suggestions in the practical and interesting addresses which they brought before the meeting. The history of this grand old society is most unique. For nearly a century and a quarter it has continued to carry on beneficial work in this vicinity and today is apparently in a flourishing condition, long may it continue.

Bond of Music.

During the Franco Prussian War, an old French musician saves the life of a young German spy who is posing as one of his pupils. When the town is besieged by the German Army, the old musician's home is invaded. In anger he wounds one of the German soldiers. He is sentenced to be shot, and is saved from death by his former pupil whom he befriended. Amid war and turmoil the pathos and sentiment of this beautiful play predominates. There is a historic value to it that should prompt a full attendance at every performance of it at the Wolfville Opera House, Dec. 27th and 28th. It is a feature to which all importance should be attached on the part of the management and his patrons.

Public Notice.

Children's Aid Society meeting will be held in the Town Hall, Wolfville, on Monday, Dec. 20th, at 7:30 p.m. As this society has jurisdiction over Kings county it is hoped that a good number will be present from out of town as well as the town people.
R. PRACY BROWN, President
Dec. 16th, 1912

A meeting of the Wolfville Branch of the Nova Scotia Society for the Prevention of Cruelty will take place at the close of the Children's Aid Society meeting.
