

New York C. P. R. Building

Great interest is being taken by New York transportation and real estate men in the decision taken by the Canadian Pacific Railway to concentrate its various offices into one building close to the Grand Central Station.

The Canadian Pacific deal, which has required an entire year to close on account of its elaborate ramifications, involves a lease from the Madison Avenue Offices, Inc., the holding corporation for the Fifth Church of Christ Scientist, of a large store, basement and almost the entire second floor of the 44th Street portion of this twenty-one story building; and also involves an investment of considerable proportions by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company in the building itself, in consideration of which the name of the building will be changed from "Madison Avenue Offices," or, as it has sometimes been referred to, the "Christian Science Building," and will be re-named the "Canadian Pacific Building."

The area of the plot on which the building stands covers over 31,000 square feet, and is situated directly opposite the Hotel Biltmore on the east, Brooks Brothers' building to the north and the old Hotel Manhattan to the south.

The Canadian Pacific Railway will occupy in the store, basement and second floor, all that part of the building on which only a year ago stood St. Bartholomew's Church, demolished last April, to make way for the great uptown trend of business.

The negotiations just closed provide, in addition to the investment mentioned above, a lease for 21 years at an aggregate rental of something approaching $3,000,000. It was said by F. R. Perry, General Agent, Passenger Department, in New York, for the Canadian Pacific, that it will give up its railway offices at Broadway and 30th Street and its branch at Broadway and 33rd Street, and will combine its railway, steamship, and colonization departments in its new home on Madison Avenue.

The plans of the Canadian Pacific Company are particularly significant in that they will provide the largest consolidated ticket offices in New York, for in addition to their own occupancy, it is said by the agents of the new Canadian Pacific Building, that negotiations are pending with several of the largest trans-continental railroads for representation in the same store. This arrangement is similar to the Railroad Administration during the war.

The store has a frontage of 81 ft. 6 in. on Madison Avenue and 146 ft. 6 in. on 44th Street. The Canadian Pacific Building will contain over 400,000 square feet of rental area and will be the most up-to-date office building in the Grand Central District. Many offices and much space have already been leased to influential corporations, and it is said by the agents that other important leases are now pending.

Good Health Can Be Yours

If Your Blood Supply Is Kept Rich and Red

It is a waste of time and money to fight merely the signs of disease; in the long run you are probably worse off than when you started. What is far more important is that you should intelligently examine the various symptoms and trace the cause. When you remove the cause, health will be yours. For example, anaemic people often endure months of suffering while treating its symptoms, such as indigestion, shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart and exhaustion after any small effort.

The apparent stomach and heart troubles are generally nothing more than the result of an insufficient supply of pure blood. This anaemic state may have followed some previous illness, or an attack of influenza; or it may have risen from overwork, worry or too little fresh air. To obtain good health the simple and proper course is to build up the blood, but to do this you must select a reliable remedy with a reputation such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills enrich the blood which carries nourishment to all the organs of the body and enables them to do the work nature expects of them. Thousands of men and women have proved this for themselves. One of these is Mrs. T. Flynn, R. R. No. 1, Erinsville, Ont., who says: "Last spring I got into a badly run down condition. I had no energy; work left me exhausted, and the least exertion would make my heart palpitate violently. I had often read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and decided to give them a trial and got a half dozen boxes. I had not been taking the pills long when I felt a decided improvement in my condition and by the time I had used the six boxes I could do my housework with ease. I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all weak people."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail post-paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Rift In The Lute

The most outstanding feature of the first week of Parliament was the speech of Mr. Gauthier, the Member of St. Hyacinthe, in which he definitely broke away from the Liberal Party with which he had been connected all his life.

The bitterness and narrowness of our politics are never more strongly exhibited than when a man severs his connection with his party. Ever since Mr. Gauthier's name became talked about in connection with a Cabinet position he has been subjected to the most vicious attacks of his old political friends in the Province of Quebec. Traitor, renegade, Judas, were among the mildest epithets hurled at him. Attempts even were made to besmirch his private character. Important newspapers haunted him to the point of persecution. Then came his turn. On Wednesday he got the Speaker's nod of assent, giving him the floor, and proceeded to smite his assailants hip and thigh. It was a well-balanced, vigorous deliverance, at times raising to eloquence. The pitch of it lay in the declaration that he had not left his party, rather the party had left him. He is a believer in moderate protection, which has been carried out by his beloved leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, when in office for fifteen years, and now he finds himself unable to subscribe to the new Liberal doctrine which is against protection and in favour of free trade. "Who" said he are renegades? Is the man a traitor who still fights for the tariff instituted by the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier, as Leader of the Liberal Party, which has brought wealth and happiness to the people, or are those the traitors who want to destroy that platform; who want free trade; who want tariff for revenue, or any kind of policy which will enable them to take the spoils of office?

If the truth were only told and men were only true to their convictions, Mr. Gauthier is in the same boat as hundreds of thousands of Liberals in the Province of Quebec, and it may come to pass before long that they will be compelled by the force of circumstances to declare themselves as courageously as he has done.

Mr. Gauthier expressed the belief that Quebec's naturally on the trade question is Ontario. He does not want an alliance with the farmers because he is afraid of the communism of the agrarian movement. Nor does he want an alliance with Labour because the labor unions of Canada are affiliated with the American Confederation of Labour the headquarters of which are in Washington. In ringing tones, he said "I don't want our policy, our fiscal policy, our national policy to be dominated by someone who does not live in our land." Equally forcibly, he said "The agrarian movement is tending to class movement, and I am afraid of that and my people are afraid of it. The people of Quebec are going to seek an alliance for the benefit of all parties concerned and specially for harmony amongst all classes, all groups, all provinces all races, all creeds."

His castigation of the Honourable Rudolph Lemieux, his chief assailant, was scathing and skilful. "Here," he said "you have a man who represents two constituencies, Gaspé, a farming constituency, and Maisonneuve, a manufacturing constituency. In the one he preaches free trade and in the other he preaches protection."

"You will remember that for many years there was a great discussion about airships. Some scientists claimed that in order to float in the atmosphere you should have something lighter than air. Then scientists came to the conclusion that it was necessary to have something heavier than air. At the time of the first theory balloons were made of silk and were filled with gas. Then the aeroplane was invented, and through the rapidity of the motor it was able to plane into the atmosphere. The honourable gentleman started his career as a balloon. He was robed with silk and filled with gas. Then he changed into an aeroplane. He had to give action to his airship through the most powerful motor there has ever been in this land, one that can never be duplicated. This motor was named Sir Wilfrid Laurier. When the motor stopped, the aeroplane came down to Mother Earth, and it is still splashing around in all the muddy spots, whence it can fly no more. He can say to those who still surround him: "Once I was a bird, look at my broken wings," but for the common people he will ever remain the most perfect political bat this country has ever known or heard of."

Mr. Gauthier's break may be the beginning of a new era in the politics of Quebec. The air is filled with rumblings indicating change and division in political thought. There is much flattering in the political doves. The Province, which is almost solidly protectionist in sentiment, is commencing to be seriously alarmed over the free trade agrarian movement and it wants to get on solid ground where its interests will be safe. Day in and day out the foremost French-Canadian newspapers, La Presse and La Patrie, preach the doctrine of protection. The law of self-preservation will ultimately compel the people of the province, notwithstanding their past political affiliations, to ally themselves with the champions of moderate protection against the advocates of free trade. The signs are not few that the days of the solid bloc in Quebec are numbered.

"California Syrup of Figs" is Child's Best Laxative.

Beware! Say "California" or you may not get the genuine "California Syrup of Figs" which doctors recommend for babies and children of all ages. Nothing else cleans the little bowels and regulates the child's stomach and liver so gently, so thoroughly. Directions on each bottle. But you must say "California." Don't be talked into an imitation fig syrup which hasn't the delicious, fruity taste or the perfect "laxative physic" action.
