Trawling on the Labrador.

We are informed that between 40 and 50 Western bankers finished their season last year by a trip to the banks off the Labrador, and that they took some 25,000 quintals of fish which was made into shore fish and was valued at $120,000. This is a comparatively new industry as it is only a few years since a Western banker had to have her voyage guaranteed before she would venture to try her luck on the Labrador with trawls. Her success led to the development which we have just mentioned. The irony of the methods became apparent last year when a number of schooners of a Northern firm met coming the Western bankers going North. The Northern schooners had been trap fishing and were returning with twenty to fifty quintals. They were not fitted for trawl fishing. The Western boats were going North for a trawling trip. While the former had done practically nothing, the latter made trips with trawls in the latter part of August and in September. We understand that some of the Northern people have provided themselves with trawls.

FRESH AT NIGHT

If One Uses the Right Kind of Food. If by proper selection of food one can feel strong and fresh at the end of a day's work, it is worth while to know the kind of food that will produce this result.

A school teacher out in Kans. says in this connection: "I commenced the use of Grape-Nuts food five months ago. At that time my health was so poor that I thought I would have to give up my work altogether. I was rapidly losing in weight, had little appetite, was nervous and sleepless, and experienced, almost constantly, a feeling of exhaustion."

"I tried various remedies without good results; then I determined to give particular attention to my food, and have learned something of the properties of Grape-Nuts for rebuilding the brain and nerves."

"I commenced using Grape-Nuts and have since made a constant and rapid improvement in health, in spite of the fact that all this time I have been engaged in the most strenuous and exacting work."

"I have gained twelve pounds in weight and have a good appetite, my nerves are steady and I sleep sound. I have such strength and reserve force that I feel almost as strong and fresh at the close of a day's work as at the beginning."

"Before using Grape-Nuts I was troubled much with weak eyes but as my vitality increased the eyes became stronger."

"I have never heard of food as nutritious and economical as Grape-Nuts."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason." Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Vessel Out in the Fog Seeking Help.

The tern schr. Canada, Capt. T. A. Conrad, now due from Barbadoes, molasses laden to A. Provise arrived off Cape Spear Sunday and is now knocking about in the fog off here. Yesterday afternoon Capt. Conrad launched a boat and sent three of his men away from the ship to try and land at Cape Spear and if possible get the assistance of a tug to bring the vessel in. The men after a long pull landed at the Cape and Mr. Cantwell telephoned Mr. James Byrne, of Horwood's eastern wharf, who in turn informed the Tug Co. and the John Green was sent out in quest of the vessel. After the crew left their message at the Cape two of the men went off in their boat to again try and reach their ship, leaving the third man behind. The John Green continued the search for the vessel for some time and returned last night without having found the ship. The man who belonged to the ship was taken off the Cape and brought to St. John's and is now in a boarding house here.

The boat left the Cape at 6 p.m. yesterday to try to get back to the vessel which then was supposed to be three miles off the land. The dense fog which prevails will render it rather a difficult job for the men to find their vessel, and if they should miss her, and there is every chance of their doing so, except they are picked up by one of the steamers now due they are in for a hard time of it as they had no provisions in their boat as far as we can learn. Even if these men get on board the vessel is short by one man, and if the men in the boat missed her the crew will be greatly reduced and should increase the peril of the ship should she be caught with a S. E. or E. gale and get on the lee shore. The vessel is now out 24 days and Miss Eva Conrad, the captain's daughter, is on board. The John Green was out in the search for the vessel again to-day but up to 2 p.m. had not returned.

Coronation Oath.

The question of the alteration of the Coronation Oath will very shortly be taken up by the Imperial Parliament. It has been unofficially announced that our new King has expressed his unwillingness to take an oath of office that is offensive to a large portion of his subjects. We have also learned through the public press that the Prime Minister of Great Britain has said that the matter will be dealt with by Parliament when it assembles. Both the attitude of the King and the Prime Minister will, we are sure, commend themselves to the sober judgment of the best citizens of the Empire. However necessary those harsh and even bitter words may have been at one period of our history, it must be recognized that those days have gone by forever. The spirit of religious persecution in other days was not confined to one communion, and so great is the change which time has wrought that religious persecution will be an impossibility in the future. They who presume to minister in spiritual things are judged by the quality of the service they render, and not by the zeal they profess. We ask our brethren of the Anglican Church to put themselves in the place of our Roman Catholic fellow-citizens and say with what enthusiasm they would hail the crowning of a Monarch of our Empire? We ask those who govern to say why the military services of men of a certain faith should be gladly accepted in defence of our Empire, why the resources of these men should be required to maintain the public services of Parliament, and yet that faith which they hold dear should be denounced in unmeasured terms. We feel that justice in this matter should be done, not of necessity or compulsion, but of free will, and no church is so closely interested in rendering that justice as our own Anglican communion. "Spectator" does not presume to speak for anyone on this subject except himself, and yet he feels impelled to call upon his readers to squarely face this issue. The golden rule still has its appeal, and the institution that expects justice must render justice.—Canadian Churchmen.

Sought Babe Amid the Flames.

Coehill, Hastings Co., Ont., May 25. Despite the heroic efforts of Tom Moore to save his children from a blazing farmhouse, his little girl was burnt to death and his infant child fatally injured.

The fire broke out at seven this morning while Moore and his wife were attending to the milking. A young son left at home spied flames and pushed out to warn his parents. Moore dashed into the midst of the fire in a futile search, where he himself was badly scorched in a vain effort to save his two young children.

London, May 24.—Lieut. Boyd Alexander, the noted traveller, has been murdered by natives near Wadal, in the French Congo. This bare fact reached the Foreign Office to-day. No details are obtainable as yet. Lieut. Boyd Alexander, late of the 7th Battalion British Rifle Brigade, retired from the army in 1907. He had led several notable scientific expeditions. He headed the expedition to Cape de Verde Islands in 1897; also the expedition to Fernando Po, which resulted in the successful ascent of Mount St. Isabel and the discovery of many new birds. In 1904-7 he was the leader of the Alexander-Gosling expedition across Africa from the Niger to the Nile. He was born in 1873.

A FINE TRIP.—The Campanella, Capt. J. Lewis, arrived to-day at Harbor Breton with 1,000 quintals.

Nothing to Do With It.

Editor Evening Telegram: Sir,—In your issue of the 26th inst. it is stated that a Mrs. Walsh was forwarded to St. John's by Mr. March for treatment at the Hospital. I now wish it to be distinctly understood that Mr. March has nothing whatever to do with sending any sick person to the Hospital. That business is solely under the control of the Receiving Officer of the port, guided by instructions from the Commissioner of Public Charities.
