A SHATTERED HALO. The muck-raking magazines have rendered one important public service, at any rate.

They have shot the halo which campaign bunk has placed upon the brow of congress.

As full of holes that it fits like a horse collar on a goat. The day has gone past when a silk-lined frock coat and a spirited attack upon the press bureau are all that is necessary to carry Podunk township.

You can take the average congressman and place him on the farm, and he will rattle around like a bird seed in a quart cup.

Just as soon as a lawyer begins to feel his practice slipping like a saddle on a restive broncho he breaks into congress and decorates the cloak room with withered perlage and misinformation.

There are more split infinitives, mixed metaphors and hump-backed grammar watered about during a debate in the House of Representatives than you can find anywhere else on earth.

Outside of a night school for the feeble-minded. If anybody thinks all the brains of this country center in 391 man-dactors with a juicy, per diem and free access to the mails, he ought to read the Congressional Record before the managing editor has gone over it with an Eighth grade grammar and a pocket dictionary.

Two More Trips. It is likely that the Rosalind will make two more trips to Montreal before the closing of navigation.

After that she will lay up for repairs previous to taking her place on the St. John's-Halifax-New York route.

There are large quantities of freight now awaiting shipment in Montreal, and the Black Diamond Line did well to charter the s.s. Britannic which will bring down roughly 20,000 barrels.

Brilliant Soon Leaving. H. M. S. Brilliant which has been on this station for several years past will sail for Portsmouth about the 6th November.

Her crew will pay off here and it is not certain if she will return here next year or be attached to another station.

Her officers and men have made many friends here and have deservedly popular as they were always ready to render assistance in case of emergency and ever ready to forward every charitable project.

All will wish the ship's company continued success.

Laborers Busy. So many craft are now in port discharging their fish cargoes that large numbers of laboring men are now at work along the water front, and in these cases vessels have discharged their dark, their skippers being anxious to get away for another freight of fish.

The Longshoremen who work the steamboats will also have a busy season of it now owing to the arrival of the Montreal, Rosalind and Bonavista. Some cool cargoes also due will supplement this volume of labor.

Capt. Williams Hurt. While the S. S. Rosalind was at Montreal Capt. Williams of that ship met with a painful accident. As he was going on board the ship he slipped on the deck and sprained his ankle.

The hurt limb still gives him pain, and all the vorage down the captain could not walk without the aid of a stick.

This Wonderful Age. A house belonging to Mr. C. Doyle, of the Goulais Road, reported by a contractor to have been destroyed by fire on Tuesday night last, was found to have arisen from its ashes, like the Phoenix, yesterday morning, and is now intact. Crowds of people from the road are wondering at the miracle.

Causing Them Loss.

The ferrymen who ply their calling at the King's Wharf complain that boys are a great annoyance to them, and by taking their boats away during their absence cause them loss.

These men row the bluejackets to and from the wharf, and when their boats are taken the tars look elsewhere for conveyances. A few days ago W. Lewis had several men to ferry out, but when he came with them to the jetty his boat had vanished.

He lost considerable money as a result. The police should put these youths to route.

New Water Main.

Messrs. T. Kent & Co., who are laying the new water main from Rawlins' Cross to Merrymeeting Road, have now reached Hayward Avenue.

They are making fair progress considering all the bad weather and broken days. They also met a heavy rock out in Catherine Street, but expect to get into easy ground after they pass Mullock Street.

Messrs. Kent & Co. should be well on towards the finish of the cut by the end of November.

The Deadly Hat Pin.

The danger which is always imminent from the long hat pins, which ladies usually wear, was well exemplified on Water Street yesterday afternoon.

While a man named Edward Griffiths, of Placentia Bay, was passing up that thoroughfare and in stepping aside to avoid another man coming opposite him in the crowded street, he ran full tilt against a pin protruding from the hat of a passing female and received two ugly gashes extending from his mouth to his ear.

The man said little but was nevertheless indignant.

McMurdo's Store News.

THURSDAY, Oct. 19, '11. One reason why Acme Essences and Acme Spices are better than the ordinary essences and spices sold in town is because we are determined that these essences and spices shall supersede all other package goods of this kind.

Therefore we put the best possible stuff into them. Our Acme Trade mark has been from the first a guarantee of quality for all goods on which it is used, and this it will continue to be. Most grocers now sell Acme Essences and Spices. Ask your grocer if he has them. If not, you can obtain them from us direct.

You will then learn by experience what we mean when we state that Acme goods are of high quality.

Cable News.

Special Evening Telegram. HALIFAX, Oct. 18. The R. M. S. Pretorian, which left St. John's on Monday afternoon, has broken the record between St. John's and Halifax, doing the run in 37 hours.

Special Evening Telegram. ROME, Oct. 18. Authoritative reports from the Turkish camp at Tripoli indicate a grave condition of affairs. Munhu Pasha, it is said, has been obliged to abandon the command of the troops, and his place has been taken by Colonel Muehtar Bey. The latter opposes the plan of the majority of the troops to cross the Tunisian frontier. Several soldiers, who attempted to desert, have been shot.

Special to Evening Telegram. BERLIN, Oct. 18. The Chancellor in the Reichstag reiterated the statements set forth in his letter to the Premier, explaining the inability of the Government to discuss Foreign Affairs at the present time in his reply to questions regarding the Moroccan situation, Tripoli and the Chinese revolution.

Special to Evening Telegram. HANKOW, Oct. 18. The first battle since the arrival of the Imperial troops from the north was fought to-day on the banks of the Han River, west of the city. It proved indecisive. The revolutionists drove the Imperial troops back from their position, in doing so they exhausted their rifle ammunition and were compelled to retire to their base at Wu Chang. A renewal of the hostilities is expected. It appears as if the plan of the revolutionary leaders is to force the fighting before the Imperial troops are further strengthened. The fighting was severe, but it is impossible to give the number of casualties.

"More Picnics." Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—Why didn't the Premier take the Editor of the Daily News with Messrs. Blandford and Gibbs on his latest picnic jaunt to Bay St. George? There would not have been a more striking example of quick growth in the whole show than this worthy trio! Only two years ago they were, comparatively speaking, very sickly plants indeed, just struggling in the cold shades, and look at them now after basking in the Government sun for a short time, they are nearly ready to pick. It is a pity that Mr. Robinson should approve of the continuance of these holiday trips of the Premier, when we look at him getting fat every day on the wholesale expenditure of public money on those more than useless excursions. We are not surprised that he should get touchy at the very word "picnic" for it is beginning to dawn upon him now that the general public have caught on to these "shows" and that they are being appreciated at their full value. The more bye elections we have, the more "shows" we shall have; of that you may be sure, and as you stated a few days ago, these agricultural picnics are part and parcel of the Premier's general political scheme for the redemption of his native land from the thralldom of the late Government's pernicious policy. But before the Premier will be called upon to render an account of his stewardship, the true value of these excursions will have made itself more manifest if possible, and the curtain will be rung down upon the Premier and his "picnics." Let every well wisher of the country hope that that day is not far distant.

Yours truly, CIVIS. St. John's, Oct. 18th, 1911.

A New Lodge.

We understand that the Government are about to erect a new lodge at the eastern entrance to Government House as a residence for the Governor's coachman. This man, we believe, has been agitating for this for some time past. Incidentally we might remark that this man though domiciled here for some time, is not a native of this country. Now we would like to ask our "Democratic" Premier how long would a Newfoundland be asking for such a favor before he would get it? We opine he would be a long while. It is also problematical as to whether such an erection is necessary or otherwise. Any how it means throwing a sop to party supporters and to hedges with the fishermen's taxes. There will be more than pepper in the Tory Premier's "mash" however, when the fishermen get through with him in 1913. They pretty well have his measure taken by this time, and declamations on "how to make hens lay" will avail him little then.

SCHOONERS ARRIVE.—A large number of outport schooners arrived from the northward last night with loads of fish and oil. This was the busiest day of the season so far along the waterfront.

Defends Italy's War. Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—The Italian nation should be upheld in a righteous war. The brutal history of Turkey persecuting and murdering the weak inspires the fullest confidence in the occasion made by Italy as to the Turkish Government. Too many newspapers are inclined to condole with the so-called woes of the weak and unhappy Turk. Ignorant prejudice against the Italian people has inspired badly-informed editorial writers to attack Italy and to defend Turkey. These are the facts. The Italians were not in search of war. They have enough to do at home—enough need of all the national funds. But the Italians in Tripoli, because they were in the minority and not of the Mohammedan faith, were treated by the Turks unjustly, and in many cases brutally and cruelly. The Turks in their history had become an accustomed to oppressing and murdering helpless minorities that they continued their habits in Tripoli among the Italians, forgetting that back of the isolated Italian colonist in Africa there stood the Italian nation, the power of the Italian army and navy. The Turks are learning now that to attack Italians and ill-treat them is a very different matter from attacking Armenians, without strength to fight, or poverty-stricken Albanians. The Turks are learning a lesson that they need to learn. The Italians are to be congratulated upon giving them that lesson. Tripoli will be taken from Turkey and will be put in the hands of Italians able to develop the country and to give it a decent modern government. No nation is better fitted than the Italian for the colonizing and development of Tripoli, for centuries before the English and Irish and Scotch and French and Germans had any government or any idea of government, the people of Italy, the great Roman statesmen and generals, the marvellously courageous Roman soldiers, were beginning the work of civilization in Africa, and the world of civilization should congratulate itself upon the fact that modern Italy is stronger, better and nobler than the Rome of old is to carry on that work of African civilization, to make fertile fields, take the place of deserts, and to make decent, humane government take the place of Turkish brutality. Every good man who understands the situation must sympathize with the Italians—must realize that the miserable Turks but has merely determined to put an end to brutality, to protect justice and her own people. Honor and quick success to the Italian cause. We also hear that Mr. Alex. McDougall has been appointed the new agent here, and that his office is being enlarged and re-nodded to meet the requirements of the work which will be entailed upon him.

Surrenders Agency OF FURNESS LINE. We learn on good authority that Hon. J. S. Pitts has or is about to shortly surrender the agency of the Furness Line of steamers which he has held for several years past and the business which he has so creditably conducted. We also hear that Mr. Alex. McDougall has been appointed the new agent here, and that his office is being enlarged and re-nodded to meet the requirements of the work which will be entailed upon him.
