MONTREAL, April 17.—There were about 700 head of butchers' cattle, 450 calves and 150 sheep and spring lambs offered at the East End Abatioir vesterday. The butchers were out in full force, but trade in cattle was slow and prices somewhat demoralized, having declined about 4c per lb in the last week. A very few choice cattle were sold at about 4c per lb, but it required something good to bring over 34 per lb, with pretty good stock at from a little over 3c to 3c per lb. There were not many rough or lean cattle among the offerings, but there seemed to be scarcely any demand for them, and prices ranged from less than 2c to about 3c per lb. Good calves were in demand, but there were few of this kind offered, and the best one was bought by Mr. Bourassa for $10. Mr. Joseph Richards bought four calves for $29, and two spring lambs for $11. Mr. C. Brown bought 18 good spring lambs at $4 50 each, while some smaller lambs would scarcely bring over $2 50 each. Good yearling sheep sell in lots at from 5c to 54c per lb, and older sheep at about 4c per lb. Fat hogs continue to sell at from 5c to 54c per lb.

A LOVER IN JAIL.

Near St. Thomas.

Edward Cookston, a young Westminster township wooer, does not believe that all the world loves a lover, and he has ample proof that the course of true love does not always smoothly run. Edward is 19 years old and wears a profusion of bangs on his forehead. He is dead in love with presty 17-year-old Isabel Dennis, whose parents live on Park avenue, in this city, and it was this love of his for Isabel that caused him to be landed in the jail here at 4 o'clock this morning. Cookston is the hired man with farmer Richard Rose, who lives near Glanworth. Miss Dennis was working with a family between Glanworth and St. Thomas, and a couple of weeks ago she disappeared with young Cookston and failed to return to her place of employment. But Cookston went back to his employer, and then it transpired that he had left his sweetheart at the house of his sister, a Mrs. McAuliffe, near St. Thomas.

undertook to fetch her home. When he drove alleged that the inmates denied that the girl was there. Nothing daunted, Mr. London West, who was armed with a writ of habeas corpus and several other deadly things. When the McAuliffe family saw the shining shield with the eye that never sleeps emblazoned on it, and the word "Detective" just above it all glitter-ing on Mr. Ward's breast, they wilted and concluded that Isabel was in the house.

It was quite late by this time, but the return drive to London was commenced. The trio arrived here about 3:30 a.m. today, and as the girl refused to go home she allowed herself to be taken to Dectective Ward's house for the night.

ove story. Cookston was evidently not far away when the girl started for London and he started northward also, on foot, He took the track and got to town almost as soon as those in the wagon. For a time he hung around the girl's house on Park avenue and then went over to London West and boldly demanded his sweetheart from the hands of the detective.

Cookston's arrest on the charge of threatening his life, he executed the warrant then and there and took the young man back over the river to the jail on the hill. Here he still languishes, lacking security to keep the peace.
Miss Dennis reciprocates Cookston's affection and feels the result very keenly. Both are known to be respectable young

The position of the building rendered the fighting of the fire more difficult. To the the dashboard, shafts and harness. The north about fifteen feet was a brick house occupied by Mr. Johnston, and between the two was a frame shed. To the south of the house was another frame residence, and all three were joined by lattice fences. When it had become evident that nothing more in Mr. Jarvis' house could be saved, the crowd turned their attention to the other houses. Furniture was flying in all directions, doors and windows were chopped out and carpets torn up until nothing but the vacant buildings remained.

A detachment of the city fire brigade went over, but as the village had no hydrants or fire equipments all that could be done was soaking the roofs with water and tearing down fences.

At 3 o'clock the fire was out. The frame shed attached to Mr. Johnston's house was also destroyed.

Mr. Jarvis' loss will be about $300, including a large quantity of clothing. No insurance. Mr. S. F. Peters, now of Toronto, but formerly of this city, will lose about $1,000 on the building. Large crowds of spectators assembled at

PIN WORMS.

No More Misery.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying afflication, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—ulcers and tumors from excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly affected every other symptom of itching Piles or irritation and trouble. These and body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause than Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment. STIFLING INVESTIGATION.

The Government Objects to Witnesses Being Put Under Oath

Opposition Contend for the Oath.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.] OTTAWA, April 17.—The public accounts committee met this morning. Mr. Mc-Mullen moved for papers showing expenses good fortune the damage was slight. re Bering Sea arbitration and also respecting the Indian fund. Mr. Fraser, of Guysboro, on calling for all the papers, made a to the Ministers of the Crown putting obstacles in the way of investigating accounts. The chairman ruled it out of order and application will be made to the House. Mr. Somerville obtained an order for all papers connected with accounts for printing and advertising, amounting to $231,000. Mr. Lister moved that the Deputy Minister of Justice and D. O'Connor be House be asked to empower the committee to examine these witnesses under oath. Mr. Foster, Minister of Finance, opposed examination under oath as premature and perhaps unnecessary. If necessity arose then the House might be asked to give permission. Mr. Lister contended that if this position was taken, then it would be a farce for the committee to attempt to sift the public accounts, for if the committee waited until suspicion was first established to the satisfaction of the Cabinet members of the committee and waited until the matter went to the House and came back, the result would be that the delay would be fatal, because sixteen or seventeen times and prorogation would be reached without any investi-Sir Richard Cartwright said if the Ministers would consent to the committee being called together every day there would be no objection to Mr. Foster's suggestion; that after a witness had been examined for a time they should stop and put an cath to him. This was the surest way of casting a slur on the witness. He advocated putting every witness without distinction under oath.

Mr. Foster-You have no right to say the Deputy Minister or Mr. O'Connor would not tell the truth. Sir Richard Cartwright-We have had experience with Deputy Ministers before. It now became evident that the Government had adopted as settled policy the prevention of the examination of witnesses under oath. For the first time members of the Government were present in great force, among them being Messrs. Foster, Tupper, Ouimet, Haggart, Daly, Wood ground that any witness who would tell the truth without an oath would have no objection to tell the truth under oath. Mr. Somerville charged that this was an attempt on the part of the Government to stifle investigation, and in a vehement speech pointed to the stealings exposed a few sessions ago in this very committee as something which the Government took as a warning. He also alluded to falsehoods told by witnesses when not under oath. The Minister of Public Works denied that the Government had anything to conceal. He thought it strange that a lawyer's bill should be the first to be challenged. Mr. Lister read a telegram from Toronto that all witnesses before the Ontario public accounts committee were examined under

The Government contended that the Opposition members must first make a prima-facie case of fraud, but Mr. Davies contended that this committee was an inquisitorial body and not a mere audit, and if the oath was refused the proceedings of the committee would be a screaming farce. After a prolonged and heated discussion the question was put and Mr. Lister's Sir Richard Cartwright then moved that the committee sit from day to day under rules laid down. If they did not sit from day to day an investigation would be impossible. He would be willing to limit his motion to three days. Motion was lost. Mr. Sprague, a prominent lumbermen of Winnipeg, is here to protest against the duty of 20 per cent being taken of dressed lumber. The Government have as yet given no sign.
