A FORBIDDEN CITY.

A Shanghai letter says: Some curious details are given in letters from missionaries in regard to the visit of a German traveler. Dr. Wolfe, to Chang Sha, the capital of Hunan, which never before had been entered by a foreigner! It seems that the doc gained his point and entered the forbidden city, but his visit was a mere farce, as he was not permitted to go about in the city or to see any of its features. He simply was carried in a closed chair to the prefect's room one of the government halls, where he was entertained with refreshments and an hour later he was taken back swiftly in the same way.

Hunan is the province which has gained notoriety as the most bitterly anti-foreign and anti-Christian of any in the empire. For years the mandarin in charge of the telegraph service endeavored to connec Chang Sha with the other large cities of China, but he was forced to give ub, as the people burned his poles and threw his workmen into the nearest river or pond. Only three years ago an effort was made to run the tele graph line to Siberia through one cer Hunan, but native prejudice was still so strong that the wire and poles were destroyed and the workmen were driven beyond the boundary province and warned under pair of death not to return. It is only in the last year that an imperial d molest the builders of the tel graph. It is expected that Chang Sha in a few months will be connecte with the rest of the world by tele-

Hon. Mr. Dryden on the Value of the Ontario Agricultural College.

Some Migrepresentations of the Far mers' Institute Corrected.

Guelph, July 3 .- At the recent closing exercises in connection with the Ontario Agricultural College, Hon. Mr. Dryden, minister of agriculture, took up the various criticisms leveled against the college by the members of the opposition. It was said that there were too many teachers and that they were getting too much money. He pointed out that in the high schools there are now many teachers more than in the old days, and the teachers at the college were engaged for the same reason, to make it more efficient working shrine, that of the Virgin of in all its branches. Then it was said Rosary, is, so to say, is process of dethat some of the graduates did not make good farmers. We saw university graduates who turned out to be poor lawyers or doctors or teachers, but no one blamed the university for that. Such a test showed what the boys are worth, not what the college is worth. Then they asked, where are the results, but Mr. Dryden declared that these would be abundantly seen in the future—this was only sowfarming, but give the young men a chance and the results would be seen. ration: Then they said that the college cost $58,374, not $97,000, as some of the opposition said. This $58,000, too, included the traveling dairy, costing $2,000; the special dairy school, costing $2,160; the experimental work in compaction with experimental work in connection with the dairy department, costing $2,000; the experimental plots, costing $6,600; the maintenance of the beautiful lawn vicaire, Mr. Desilets, and Father Freding front of the building exiting $2,000 culture demanded the expenditure of a portion of our provincial money in order that it might be developed. The opposition said that the farm was not being made to pay, but Mr. Dryden pointed out that the farm is here only as an adjunct to the college, and is intended to give a practical side to the education. He said that if he wanted to make dollars and cents out of the rest to the working classes of the province. While not losing sight of of Hon. Sir Oliver Mowat from 1873 to 1896, yet it is not asserting too much to make dollars and cents out of the farm he would engage a less expensive man than Mr. Rennie as superintending man than Mr. Rennie as superinten to say that the labor legislation of last session, being the first under the premiership of Hon. Reminiscences of Byron's Early Busy Business Days

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Your readers will enjoy a Springbank outing when they know how to take it n. We don't join with the old lady in saying "Them horrid trolley cars! It is a good way to get there, and two tickets will take you from any part of the city, and two more distribute you to any part of the city. I was, unfortunate enough to be distributed full length in front of the Tecumseh House, because the motorman was looking ahead, as he should do, and the other man nowhere.
