WARD, THE JEWELLER, 374 Richmond Street. LABOR MEN IN LINE

Hold an Interesting Demonstration at Queen's Park.

Speeches by Officers of the Toronto Trades and Labor Council, Editor of the "Citizen and Country," and Other Leaders—Band Concert at Victoria Park in the Evening.

Labor sympathizers with the striking street railway employees held a demonstration at Queen's Park yesterday afternoon. Addresses were delivered, interspersed with music by the bands of the 26th (Middlesex) Regiment and the Woodmen of the World of Toronto. In the evening these bands, under the auspices of the labor party, gave a concert in Victoria Park, which was largely attended.

At 2 o'clock a procession was formed on the market square and paraded to Queen's Park, by way of King, Clarence and Dundas streets. The following was the line of march:

Wm. Burleigh, marshal.
Band of the Woodmen of the World, Toronto; S. H. Lindenberg, bandmaster.

Stove Molders' Union, No. 33.
Coal Employees' Union.

Metal Polishers' Union, No. 32.
Brass Workers' Union, No. 31.
Division 97 of Amalgamated Street Railway Employees of America.

26th (Middlesex) Regiment Band; Wm. Phillips, bandmaster.
Cigarmakers' Union, No. 278.

Shortly after the arrival at the park speeches were announced. Mr. George Wrigley, sen., editor of The Citizen and Country, of Toronto, acting as chairman. He said he regarded it as an honor to be asked to preside on such an occasion, although another had been chosen to do so. Ald. J. J. Ward, of Toronto, who was unfortunately prevented from attending on account of family affliction. They were there, he said, as law-abiding citizens, to advocate the cause of labor, and in the interests of the striking street railway employees of London. While he was not there to blame any particular persons, yet it was unfortunate that the harmony of such an occasion as that of the annual gathering of the Old Boys should be marred by such a trouble. All the striking street car men had rights which should be adjusted. Those in authority had tried to crush the men by making objectionable arrangements. He hoped that a renewed effort would be made to have the trouble settled by arbitration.

Introducing the next speaker, Mr. John Davidson, of Detroit, Mr. Wrigley said he had been one of the pupils when he taught school in London West many years ago. Mr. Davidson said the street car strike was no longer one in which London alone was interested. It was a struggle of Canada and the United States. He knew of no place where a better or more manly fight had been fought than here. He assured the strikers that they had the people here in solid support of the trades unions of Detroit.

Mr. D. A. Carey, past president of the Toronto Trades and Labor Council, was then introduced as the "lightning speaker," and he was true to his reputation. While he could not claim, he said, to be a London Old Boy, yet he came as a Canadian to welcome the people from the United States, and by the people he meant the trades unions of the street car strikers is only beginning, he said. A year ago it was in its infancy; today it is in its boyhood, with sympathizers throughout Canada and the United States deeply interested in its outcome. What was needed was the hearty co-operation of all the laboring classes, and the present struggle in the interests of humanity—freedom to organize, and the gaining of a living wage—was bound to succeed.

President James Wilson, of the Toronto Trades and Labor Council, said that it meant a great deal of energy displayed by the local committee of the Old Boys' Association in the interests of Springfield had been used on behalf of the strikers, the trouble would have been settled eighteen months ago. The men had a just cause, and one in which they were bound to succeed. It was at the polls, he said in conclusion, that the workers should redouble their efforts, and point never to forget their enemies when they marked their ballots.

In a short address Vice-President Sangster, of the Toronto Trades Council, said that the striking street car men here should be honored by the citizens of London for the manly fight they have put up. Every man and woman should do everything in their power to advance the cause of labor. Organized labor Toronto was in hearty sympathy with the strikers, and as an instance of it the musical directorate sent along the band of the Woodmen of the World, a thoroughly union organization.

Secretary Chas. Wheat, of the Toronto Trades and Labor Council, stated that $23 had already been sent to London by the Toronto sympathizers of the street car strikers, and more was coming, too. The only way to settle the present trouble was to arbitrate the present differences, and as the strikers were quite willing to adopt this peaceful means the company should be compelled to do so.

Mr. George Weston Wrigley, of Toronto, spoke along capitalistic lines, advocating public ownership of railways, telegraphs, etc. None but men who thoroughly understood the cause of labor, he said, should be elected.

The only local speaker was Joseph T. Marks, who said he could hardly say enough in praise of the help the strikers had received from the labor organizations of Toronto, Hamilton, Detroit and elsewhere. He announced the outcome of the present meeting would be that plans would be perfected to place transportation on the streets of London in opposition to the street railway, and a joint stock company would be formed. "We are going to beat this company," said Mr.

Marks, enthusiastically, "and don't you forget it. We will stick to Manager Carr closer than a brother till we get our rights." Mr. Barter, international president of the longshoremen of Detroit, was the last speaker, and delivered the best address of the afternoon. He spoke mostly on the benefits to be derived from organized labor, instancing the case of the longshoremen, who, he said, received, but 15 cents an hour in 1892 and now get 60 cents as a result of being organized. Combines did not go after the etherical, or "chase" rainbows, and the unions should imitate their methods. They should learn a lesson from the spider spinning its web, and not fight each other as some do. All organizations should be conducted along scientific lines, in order to be successful. What was urgently needed here in London was a fighter—not a physical one—an intellectual one, who would carefully lay his plans and fight diligently to the end.

Chairman Wrigley then made a few remarks complaining of alleged shabby treatment the labor party had received at the hands of the reception committee in Victoria Park in the morning. He thought it was a burning shame that these in authority should send a squad of policemen to watch them, when they assembled as law-abiding citizens.

The proceedings concluded with the National Anthem.

The men to whom the success of the affair is due are as follows, the London committee being ably assisted by their labor friends from other places:

Local Executive Committee—Messrs. H. Terry, Jun. (chairman), W. Burleigh (secretary), Jos. Marks, Jos. Hardy, Jas. Hiescox and W. Burdick. Toronto Committee—Messrs. James Wilson (president), George Sangster (vice-president of Trades and Labor Council), George W. Wrigley, G. Wrigley, sen., Chas. Wheat and D. A. Carey.

Detroit Committee—Messrs. John Davidson, Barter and White.

The demonstration was in charge of what was known as the citizens' committee, and not under the auspices of the local Trades and Labor Council.

Heavy Fighting at Elands River—Indications That Rustenberg Has Been Relieved.

London, Aug. 7.—Lord Roberts reports to the war office under date of Pretoria, Aug. 6, as follows:

"Harrismith surrendered on Aug. 4. The neighboring country seems to be quiet. Kitchener is with the force south of the Vaal River. He was joined yesterday by a strong detachment of Brabant's Horse and the Canadian Regiment.

A BOER ATTACK. "The Boers attacked the garrison at Elands River on the morning of Aug. 4. Information was sent to Carrington, who was on his way to Elands River. Ian Hamilton, who reached Rustenberg yesterday, reported heavy firing in the direction of Elands River. Today the firing seems more distant, which looks as if the Elands River garrison had been relieved and was retreating towards Zeerust."

KRUGER TALKING SURRENDER. Pretoria, Monday, Aug. 6.—It is stated positively that President Kruger is willing and anxious to surrender, provided a satisfactory promise is given as to his ultimate destination.

Cape Town, Aug. 7.—Railway communication with Natal has been re-established by Gen. MacDonald's capture of Harrismith.

Heavy fighting at Elands River commenced on Sunday and continued Monday. No details are available, but it is believed that Gen. Carrington and Gen. Ian Hamilton relieved the garrison at Rustenberg, which is retreating to Seerust.

STRANGEST OF LAKES. The result of a survey of Lake Chelan in the northern part of the State of Washington has been given out by Gen. Merriam, commander of that department. He says in his report:

"The cliffs on each side of the lake were most precipitous, towering up in many places to a height of 1,500 or 2,000 feet. But it is the lake itself that is the greatest marvel. Its waters are clear and blue, and by actual soundings have been found to be of an average depth of 3,000 feet. This seems almost incredible, but it is the truth. The width of the lake varies from a mile and a half to two miles, but the length is the most remarkable of all."

"When I pointed out toward what appeared to be the head of the lake and asked the Indians if the lake was not about three miles long, they laughed and shook their heads. They said it was a three-days' journey for a four-oared canoe. I determined to see for myself, so the next morning my engineer and I and two Indians started up the lake in the largest canoe the natives possessed."

"It was impossible to go on the lake shore as in most places the mountains ran sheer down to the water's edge. We rowed along until we came to the northern confine of the lake and there we found that it made a big bend to the right and stretched on and on. The next day we started out again, and on the third day at midnight, just as the Indians had said, we reached the head of the lake. On the return trip we measured the distance and found the length to be a fraction over sixty-five miles."

"This unusually narrow and deep body of water was cut right down through the mountains by the glaciers of bygone ages. At the foot of the lake is a great moraine, which STRENUOUS WEATHER! "The wires being down," wrote the obliging editor of a village paper during a raging blizzard, "we have not received our usual weather report, so we publish that of yesterday." He did his best, perhaps, but his readers could scarcely have benefited much by it. Another country editor, under like circumstances, showed more enterprise.
