He was on the track in trial practice when the car ran off the high embankment at the southeast corner of the course. He was caught beneath the wreck, Kincade was employed by the National Motor Vehicle Company for several years, and for the last two years was engaged exclusively in driving racing cars. He drove a National car in the speedway races this week, his last public appearance being on July 4, when he started in the 200-mile race for the Cobe trophy. cerns of New York, Asks Court for Relief.

Kaufman Says His Company Has Been Blacklisted by Protective Association.

New York, July 6 .- Leo E. Kaufman president of the Motor Bloc Import Company, of this city, applied today to the supreme court for relief from an "auto tire trust" that he charges has been formed by the manufacturers of automobile tires, tire tubes and tire shoes to control the prices of their products. The manufacturers' combination, he alleges, is known as the Dealers' Protective Association. It was organized, he says, by Leo M. Bennett, now general manager of the association, and includes the following manufacturing firms: The Diamond Rubber Company, Fisk Rubber Company, B. F. Goodrich Company; C. & J. Tire Company, Hartford Rubber Works, Continental Caoutchouc Company, and Morgan & Wright. Not only have these firms combined to monopolize the tire market, the petitioner sets forth, but their association is alleged to have placed on the blacklist certain dealers, including the Motor Bloc mport Company, who are not members of the association. The result of this blacklisting, he claims, is that these outside wholesale dealers have to pay retail prices to the manufacturers. conduct both a wholesale and retail busi-The Motor Bloc Import Company President Kaufman stated, is anxious to start a suit against these manufacturers to find out the exact nature of their agreement, and break up the trusts, if it s illegal. Court Issues Order.

In order to do this Kaufman obtained an order from Justice Giegerich for the examination of Leo Bennett, general manager of the association, and James W. ager of the association, and James W. Gilbert, a director of the association, to find out by their testimony what kind of a legal action to institute. These two officers today applied for an order va-cating the mandate for the examination. Justice Ford reserved decision upon the
