"CLARENCE WAS"
NOTABLE SUCCESSMiss Nita MacDonald and Her
Company Ably Presented
Difficult Play.

The presentation of "Clarence," Booth Tarkington's famous comedy, at the Opera House on Friday evening last was the most skillfully proportioned effort in amateur theatricals which has been staged in Campbellton in recent years. The previous good work of Miss Nita MacDonald and her company of players led the theatre-going public to anticipate something really good and there is not the slightest reason to suppose that the performance fell even a little below their expectations.

The comedy itself was essentially different from anything that has been attempted here for some time. It's extremely life-like characters involved, they were, in almost ordinary situations demanded the most exacting work and study on the part of those responsible for their interpretation. The very simplicity of the plot added to the difficulty of putting the piece over effectively. Unlike the usual comedy, replete with laugh-provoking situations and unusual complications which appeal to the intellect of an audience of "varying taste through the mere fact of their delicious improbability, this comedy was a typical bit of modern Tarkingtonian imagination told largely through the art of suggestion and suggestion upon deft characterization, convincing utterances, a finished versatility of mood and manner, the swift and easy change of expression for alternative light and emotional moments and a meticulous regard for the subtle interplay of conversational exchanges.

"Clarence" is a play of the type which is now popular at the big houses and may be classified as being one more of argument than of action. It is laden with clever dialogue but depends for its successful interpretation upon deft characterization, convincing utterances, a finished versatility of mood and manner, the swift and easy change of expression for alternative light and emotional moments and a meticulous regard for the subtle interplay of conversational exchanges.

BOARD OF HEALTH

CONTRADICTS RUMORS
ABOUT WATER SUPPLY

According to information received from the Board of Health there is no truth in the rumors that the carcasses of certain dead animals had been found in a tributary of the Walker Brook thus polluting the town's water supply. The remains of these animals were found but were at some little distance away from the brook so that there was no possibility of their contaminating the water. When discovered these bodies were removed to a safe distance away where they will be buried before decomposition has set in. This information, which sounds much more rational than the above-mentioned conjectures, puts a very different face on the matter. Moreover, the town has not been using water from the Walker Brook for several days as there is now a copious supply of clear sparkling spring water in the town reservoir.

A sanitary inspector has made several trips through the brook district referred to and no unsanitary conditions have been found in existence which might have polluted the Walker Brook up to this date. As a precautionary measure, however, residents in this vicinity have been ordered to remove all filth which might later find an outlet to the brook. The Board of Health has also issued notices with the warning that in the event of their failure to comply with these requests, legal action will be taken against them at once.

In addition, two men are on a tour of inspection along the brooks today. They are going over the above-mentioned area carefully above the I.C.R. reservoir and about five miles back to what is commonly known as the Tobique Settlement and are commissioned to remove anything and everything that might now or later contaminate the water in the Walker Brook. In regard to the dead bodies of animals found in that vicinity the Board of Health is very anxious to discover the parties who were responsible for this breach of sanitary conduct which might have proved serious, and in the event of their names being handed in are prepared to prosecute the offenders to the full extent of the law.

In speaking of the condition of the water during the last week or two the Board expresses itself of the opinion that the water being used by the town was quite pure or it would have been the cause of an outbreak of disease long before this. The fact that there have been no local cases of typhoid since last fall seems to support this contention.
