

THE TOWN OF BROOKVILLE.

AN ENTERPRISING COMMUNITY OF THE WEST.

An Outline of its Institutions—Healthful Situation—Public Buildings—Schools—Churches—Fire—Progressive Business Men.

Brookville at the present day is one of the most progressive and flourishing towns in the Dominion. Enterprise is seen on every side and the buildings now erected on the business streets show the rapid growth of architectural taste as well as material wealth. It has almost reached the point where it might assume the dignity of a city, and with its 30,000 inhabitants, its waterworks, its electric street cars, its electric light, it is about midway between Montreal and Toronto, and its beautiful situation on the banks of the St. Lawrence, the foot of the Thousand Islands makes it one of the most accessible and delightful summer towns in the Province.

It is almost unnecessary to say that it was named Brookville in honor of Sir Isaac Brock. The first settler was William Bell, a U.E.L.I. who came as early as 1784. During the war of 1812 a company was established here and the settlement began to take shape. The first school was founded in 1818 and the first church in 1820. The present area is 1,200 acres. Much attention has been devoted to street lighting, scientific drainage and an ample supply of pure water, and in these respects Brookville is well advanced by comparison.

The waterworks consist of duplicate pumps with a capacity of 2,000,000 per day, and the supply is drawn from the St. Lawrence. The town is supplied with water from the shore, and the town is well supplied with mains and sewers.

There are many magnificent public buildings, among which are the Court House, a splendid three-story stone building, which a large addition has been put this year; the Town Hall, a two-story building with clock tower, constructed of blue limestone, cost $30,000. An extension in the year 1879 has been devoted to market purposes. The postoffice and custom house is a three-story brick, of the composite order of architecture, and cost complete $20,000. The opera house is another fine building erected originally as a Town Hall, but after the building of Victoria Hall was converted into a splendid Opera House and is fitted up with stage, boxes, &c., and has a seating capacity of 1100. There are halls almost without number, chiefly occupied by the societies, many of them being of great size and magnificently fitted up. There are some 27 society lodges, 10 of them being Masons, 4 Oddfellows, 3 Orangeans, 4 Railways Benevolent Societies, &c.

There are 2 hospitals. The educational facilities are furnished by the High school, under the Headmastership of A. W. Park, B.A., and 3 Public schools, all of which are well equipped. A Roman Catholic Separate school, the Convent de Notre Dame, a Business college and an Art school.

They are a flourishing Mechanic Institute and reading room, liberally supported by the Council and largely patronized by the citizens. It is pre-eminently a town of churches, and many of them are costly and imposing structures. The First Presbyterian Church is a model in every respect, and under the pastorate of their popular young minister, Rev. W. A. McKinnon, B.A., is in a flourishing condition. Altogether there are 5 English churches, 2 Presbyterian, 1 Methodist, Baptist, Roman Catholic, Brethren, Army, and there is also a branch of the Wesleyan Alliance. The Daily and Weekly Recorder, The Free Press, The Mirror, and the Weekly News are published here. The weekly News was pleased to meet the venerable Lord Dufferin, who was in the city on his return from the Canadian West.

Brookville is one of the headquarters for an extensive and profitable trade in the products of the various manufactures of the West. It is a station on the G.T.R. and the repair shops for the eastern division are located here. It is also the terminus of the C.P.R., which connects by ferry with the Union and Black River Roads. This is a headquarter for the recently constructed Brookville, Westport and other roads, intended to make connections with the Northern Pacific and other roads.

The steamers of the Richelieu and Ontario Steamboat Line call daily, and all the other boats make regular calls. Its proximity to the Thousand Islands and its natural beauties and advantages make it a favorite resort for tourists. The hotels are daily made to Alexandria Bay, Thousand Islands Park, Clayton, and other places. There are many pleasure seekers who make it their objective point in every year. The average Brookville man thinks his own affairs and is not very far from Brookville, and for this reason a little conceit may well be excused.

Brookville Breweries. Bowie & Co., proprietors, have a substantial plant, resulting in every case in the G.T.R. steels office is also in his store. Brookville Agricultural Warehouse. Mr. J. H. Smith, proprietor, has extensive premises for the accommodation of the public. The main building is brick, 200x50 feet, 3 stories high, besides moulding shop, boiler shop, and wood shop. The building is heated with hot water, and has all the advantages of a large and modern structure, including magnificent show cases and all known conveniences. Its appointments are particularly complete, and it is one of the best in the Province. The Duckery Mower—for one and two horses, one wheel single reaper, three horse reaper, and the Golden Age mowing machine. Every intelligent farmer in the Dominion is familiar with the name of the Duckery Mower. Every improvement brought out by the ingenuity of the age is promptly applied, and everything is made with a view to give perfect satisfaction. These are the reasons why the Duckery Mowers are so popular. The Duckery Mowers are made on a large scale for a number of similar establishments in order to secure the best quality of goods. The lines are chiefly manufactured in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. The mowers are made of the best material, and are constructed by the most experienced workmen.
