THE Winter Problem Solved!

After twelve years of experimenting I have succeeded in solving this great problem of wintering bees without loss. I have overcome Spring Dwindling so perfectly that with my Clamp a thing of the past. Four years ago I built my first underground clamp and since that time I have each wintered a large number of colonies without the loss of a single bee. It is positively the only perfect system of wintering and springing bees. See Canadian Bee Journal, Nov 1885, page 531.)
