

ELIMINATING CHANCE. . . .

The successful business enterprises of this world are not accidents. The affairs of the world are not controlled by chance. There is a reason for everything.

Twelve years ago this school was established in Toronto in the face of keen competition. To-day it is the foremost business school in Canada.

This is not boast or bombast. It is a point in the argument. Our school is open every working day in the year and we invite visits of comparison.

When you decide to take a business course you do not want to take any chances on the school you attend.

Does our argument come home to you?

We would like to go further with you. Let us send you our catalogue and special Summer Programme.
