A PRECIOUS GIFT.

Another year is nearing its close, time's rapid car moves on, and looking back we realize how quickly the time has flown. Since the advent of the Christian era, it has (generally speaking) been customary, in civilized countries, for friends to bestow gifts one upon another at this season of the year, thus showing the high esteem in which they hold each other.

A token of friendship in the shape of a gift, coupled with the good will and wish of the giver, cannot but have a lasting remembrance in the heart of the recipient.

Like the soothing influence of a gentle elixir, so is the experience of the feeling of one dear friend toward another, and the channel through which vent is given to their heartfelt desire for each other's welfare, is very often the medium of a gift.

Countless are the kinds of gifts and the places in which to secure them. Besides the usual petty marks of remembrance passed between members of families, others of greater importance are very often made.

If you have a wife and family, and are desirous of their welfare, you should strive to meet their wants and requirements in every possible way. You should also see that they are fully protected in case of your untimely death. If you have not attended to this Christian necessity, you should do so without delay; thus in performing a matter of duty, you can present to your wife and family A PRECIOUS GIFT in the shape of a policy of life insurance.

The Compound Investment policy of the North American Life Assurance Company, Toronto, insures your dependents protection in case of your death, and secures to yourself a desirable investment if you live a certain number of years. Can you think of any gift more precious to bestow than that?

HINTS AND EXPEDIENTS

FOR YOUNG TEACHERS

This is a manual prepared by Mr. David Boyle, an experienced, successful teacher, whose fertility of resource and originality are well known. J. W. Bengough, Grip's own artist, has illustrated the work with catchy sketches. To those for whom it is intended, it will prove "A GUIDE, PHILOSOPHER, and FRIEND."

IT CONTAINS NEARLY

Four Hundred Hints And Expedients

Of a plain, pointed, and practical character, many of which have never appeared in print before, while others are the result of wide reading and extensive intercourse with Public School teachers in this and other countries.

The style is terse, and the matter is arranged in numbered paragraphs under appropriate headings. The book appears in a suitable form for carrying in the pocket, being neatly bound in cloth. Price, 25 cents.

Mailed postpaid on receipt of price.
