Tue Lingual Catholic Of all men, the "Liberal Catholick is the cone man with whom we have the least sympathy, (says, the Weekty Register), and al, though we could wish the Monde and its predecessor, the Univers, a little less touchy and (shall we say the word?) the less wrongheaded; we have all ways heartily sympathised and cordially co-operated with the one and the other simply on this very ground, that they are, and have always been free from that singularly nauseous taint of Liberal Ca-tholicism. On this very recount we have never made, or thought of making any attack upon either one or the other, even when they have laid themselves open to attack, which (to say the truth) not unfrequently chances; and we have sincerely regretted whenever their over-sensibility has led them to suspect attacks where none has been thought of We agree with them in that which outweights all our differences, because they and we are "simply Catholic," and not " Liberal Catholics." For what, in truth, is a Liberal Catholic, but a man who wishes to shirk the unpopular parts of his religion without abandoning it. in name -who, as circumstances suggest, will be as nearly a Protestant in England, or in France as nearly an infidel, as he can be without formal apostacy; whose influence and example is sure to found in practice against the spirit of the Church, while his name is on her rolls.

UNITED STATES.

MASSACHUSETTS AND PURITAN JUSTICE. - GOVERNOR Andrews, of Massachusetts, recently addressed to the Legislature of that State a very interesting and somewhat unique Message. Among the measures which his Excellency recommended was a repeal of all laws discriminating between and foreign born citizens. It will be remembered that during the prevalence of the Know-Nothing fever, Massachusetts-that has in it all the elements of excitement, and rarely allows those elements to be inactive-passed laws which gave advantage to the native over the naturalized citizen, though the State never failed to require all duties of both classes, (the duties, perhaps, of profitable office excepted) and to receive all the volunteer service which might be acceptable alike for such classes. Governor Andrews sees things now in their right light, and recommends an act of clear justice at a time when the peculiar circumstances of our country seem to show how very unjust was the invidiously distinguishing law which he desires to have repealed. While the Governor was recommending justice to the law-makers of the Bay State, he might as well have referred to the destruction of the Ursuline Convent, and the refusal of the State to pay for the injury which influential men provoked the wicked to commit, and which the authorities forbore to prevent. The State of Massachutts will, we think, have to remove from the rear of Charlestown that monument of excited passion and undeserved vengence; it is quite as telling on that side of the town as is the long opelisk that stands on Breed's or Bunker Hill on the other side. The blackened walls of the Convent tell of the most infamous invasion of political, social and religious rights The lofty column tells of an infamous invasion of political rights that called up all available energies for defence. We shall see herenfter what effect the recommendation of the Governor of Massachusetts will have in restoring the rights of naturalized citizens, and in removing the token of the disgrace of the State for its religious intolerance. - Philadelphia Correspondent of Her-

An amusing aword presentation was made on the 17th ult., by the officers of the 78th Pennsylvania to their Colonel, Wm. Sirwell. The presentation speech of Captain Gillespie was : - "Here we are, and here it is. This is a bully sword, and comes from bully fellows. Take it, and use it in a bully manner. Colonel Sirwell's reply was:—" Captain, that was a bully speech. Let us take a bully drink.

to $10: New Ready, in 2 Vols. 80. Roan, $4; Half Calf, $1 THEOLOGIA MORALIS, quam concunnavit Franciscus Patricius Kenrick, Archiepiscopus Baltimorensis, Secundus Curis Auctoris. We are happy in being able to announce, thatwe are now ready to furnish the complete body of MORAL THEOLOGY, prepared by our Most Rev. Archbishop. The second edition from the press of Mr. H. Dessain, Malines, is comprised in two volumes. It contains the matter of the former edition, which was in three volumes, and is considerably improved and enlarged. Constant reference is made to the laws and usages of our country, which must necessarily direct and modify the application of moral Principles laid down by European divines. The relations of master and servant, which are scarcely touched on in foreign treatise, are here developed and defined. The various contracts in use among us are explained, and the respective obligations of the parties are discussed. In many other matters of practice, direction is afforded to the Missionary and Confessor, which is particularly adapted to local circumstances, inasmuch as the general discipline of the Church is mitigated by special concessions, or prevailing custom.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, Ayen's Cherry Pectoral. has been found to afford more relief and to care more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to enjoyments of file, by this all-powerful althoute to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong, whisper to all but him Consumption. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the Chronic Physical an invasible has convent.
