

THE SOUTH WALES STRIKE.

Mr. Brogden has concluded a separate peace with his men, on similar basis to what was suggested at Blairstown a few days ago. The proposal was submitted on behalf of the men by Mr. Halliday, and after a short deliberation was accepted by Messrs. Brogden. Its terms were that the men should go to work on a 5 per cent. reduction, to remain in force till the 1st of March, that from the 1st to the 20th March they should receive the December rate of wages, and that from the 31st March to the 5th July they should have 5 per cent. advance on the December rate. Mr. Brogden strongly urged the miners to go to work with a will, so as to increase the quantity of output, and thus supply all necessary demands for coal.

A meeting attended by several thousand men, was held at Dowlais on Monday, at which endeavors were made to effect a settlement of the dispute which has suspended the industry at the ironworks of that place. A union agent who was present advised the men to ask for the terms which Messrs. Brogden had granted to their hands. This, however, the Dowlais manager firmly and decisively rejected, and after an angry discussion the gathering broke up without having come to any understanding with the employers.

Mr. Crawshaw received a deputation of the men on strike on Wednesday, and made them an offer to work at the reduction for six weeks, and then resume the old rate of pay. In the evening the men held a crowded meeting to consider this proposal. Not one expressed himself in favor of its acceptance. Their determination can be judged by the following resolution passed unanimously at the close of the meeting:—"That we, as colliers and miners, will keep quiet and comfortable, and not go to Mr. Crawshaw and ask him anything before he sends for us as workmen, and his name to the letter, if it will be for two years."

On Thursday evening a meeting of delegates, representing all the union ironworkers in the two counties, was held at Dowlais. It was resolved to offer the terms proposed by Mr. Brogden to the masters. The masters' opinion on this point has, however, been made known before; so that no good is expected from the step. Moreover, the union does not represent one-twentieth of the ironworkers out.

More threatening letters have been sent. Two colliers working for Mr. Fothergill having received letters threatening them with death by fire unless they desisted, the men have refused to continue work, and the matter is now in the hands of the police. A reward of £20. has been offered for the discovery of the authors.

The strike and lock-out of the operative brushmakers has been settled by the arbitration of the Mayor of Blackburn.
