

Business of the House

Mr. Knowles: You gave it the fine axe.

BUSINESS OF THE HOUSE

Mr. McIlraith: Mr. Speaker, the business for tomorrow will be item 8 on today's Order Paper, house in committee of the whole on Bill C-145 dealing with commercial fisheries in Canada; item 9 on today's Order Paper, second reading of Bill C-153, to amend the Aeronautics Act; item 5, second reading of Bill C-151, to establish a fund for economic and social development; item 6, second reading of Bill C-152, to amend the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act; item 26, house in committee on Bill S-14, to amend the Bills of Exchange Act; item 12, second reading of Bill C-146, to amend the Northwest Territories Act; item 13, second reading of Bill C-147, to amend the Yukon Act; item 42, the resolution to introduce a measure for the construction of a railway in the province of Ontario, and item 39, second reading of Bill C-154, to implement an agreement respecting taxes.

● (6:00 p.m.)

Mr. Starr: What are we going to do in the evening?

Mr. McIlraith: We will take the Science Council bill.

Mr. Starr: I wonder whether the leader of the house could go farther and give us the business beyond Thursday.

Mr. McIlraith: Yes, I would be glad to. On Friday we will begin the budget debate and continue it on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. I should perhaps point out to hon. members, in case this has been overlooked by anyone, that this would mean a vote on Monday and again on Wednesday.

An hon. Member: At what times?

Mr. McIlraith: I have forgotten the hour. It is set out in Standing Order 58.

It being three minutes after six o'clock the house adjourned, without question put, pursuant to Standing Order.
