

'Tis May again, 'tis May again, the time of happy hours,
 When Nature wears her fairest robes of young and dewy flow'rs,
 When gentle morn wakes from the east as rosy as the sky,
 And brooks are laughing in the meads, and birds are singing by,
 Visions sweet as summer's eve, or summer's glorious day.
 Are rushing on the mind of youth as lovely as they're gay,
 Hopes prized more than coral lips, or maiden's blushing vow,
 Are coming back to cheer old age, and deck its snowy brow.
 Clouds calmly hung in silver light like folds of fleecy snow,
 Are shadowed in the silent stream that by the valleys flow,
 Now cradled by the swelling waves, now on the shore at play,
 Now fitting round the lofty hills as blithesome as a fay.
