

JUDGMENT GIVEN TO PLAINTIFF FOR $800 BY JURY'S FINDING

John Branton Sued Harry Goldberg for $2,000.

OVER MOTORING ACCIDENT

Plaintiff Crushed When Car Driven by Defendant Jumped Curb.

In the case of John Branton vs. Harry Goldberg, the jury awarded the plaintiff $800.

Branton's suit was for $2,000 for injuries received through the alleged negligence of the defendant, who, he claimed, drove his car over the curb and into the plaintiff's car, which was parked at the corner of Richmond and King streets about 5 o'clock on July 29, 1917. The defendant was driving west on King street, and with him in the auto was A. J. McLachlin, a salesman of the Universal Motor Sales Company, who had been teaching him to drive and from whom he had bought the auto. Goldberg was holding the steering wheel. McLachlin claimed that when Goldberg was turning toward the curb, he was negligent in not taking hold of the wheel in order to turn the car toward the curb. McLachlin claimed that he was injured when the car was run between the auto and a hydro pole and as a result of this injury he was in Victoria hospital for seven weeks. J. W. G. Winnett for the plaintiff; W. G. R. Bartman for the defendant.

The only other jury case, that of Fred R. Jarvis vs. the London Street Railway Company for $2,000, was begun this morning when the jury in the Branton-Goldberg case went out. Jarvis claimed that through the negligence of the defendants he was thrown violently from the steps of a pay-as-you-ride car while getting off in front of the main entrance of the McCormick Manufacturing Company on November 20, 1917. The defendants have not yet been heard, but in their statement of defence they claimed that the accident occurred through the negligence of the plaintiff, who was injured by a car which he received serious injuries to his neck and left arm. Dr. E. E. Detweiler corroborated this statement. The court adjourned from 1 until 2 o'clock and then the case proceeded.

FRANCE SHOULD GET FIRST CONSIDERATION

Paris Newspapers Maintains Many German Boats Shipped to French.

Paris, Dec. 10.—(Havas).—First consideration should be given France in the distribution of the German commercial fleet, the Echo de Paris contends. The Echo de Paris maintains that the French merchant marine, the disparity between the French seizures of enemy shipping and those of the other allies, and the inferiority of the French shipping construction, brought about by the military necessities of the Allies, of which a large share in supplying was assumed by French industries.
