ACCUSE WOMAN OF 5 MURDERS

Mrs. Amy Archer-Gilligan's Case Soon Before Grand Jury

Held Since May: Autopsies on Bodies from Old People's Home Cause New Charges

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 16.—Results of autopsies performed on five of the bodies of those who went from Mrs. Amy E. Archer-Gilligan's alleged "murder factory" to the cemetery will be part of the evidence which Hugh M. Alcorn, state's attorney, will lay before the grand jury. Each of these bodies, it is said, shows traces of arsenic poison. Mr. Alcorn will therefore ask that the woman, who has been held in the county jail since last May for the death of Franklin R. Andrews, be indicted for four other murders.

Since the deaths of inmates of Mrs. Archer-Gilligan's Archer Home for elderly persons first aroused the suspicion which culminated in the arrest of the woman, five bodies of inmates of the home are known to have been exhumed. Others may have been dug up, for secrecy has been thrown about the case by the prosecutor.

Autopsies on Five Bodies

Those upon which it is certain that autopsies have been made are:

Andrews, Franklin T., died in Archer Home, May 30, 1914. Exhumed May 2, at Cheshire.

Gilligan, Michael W., second husband of the accused woman, died in Archer Home, February 20, 1914. Exhumed July 1, at Windsor Locks.

Gowdy, Mrs. Alice, died December 1914, in Archer Home. Exhumed at Spring Grove cemetery, Hartford, July 17.

Smith, Charles A., died April 9, 1914, at Archer Home. Exhumed at Waterbury, June 21.

Another body was dug up about the same time as the Andrews grave was opened. Nothing has been learned concerning the identity of this body.

When the woman, if indicted, will be called on to face trial is not known. This will depend, Mr. Alcorn said, on the rapidity with which the grand jury completes its work. The September term of the court will open about the 21st.

Meanwhile the woman chafed with the cold-blooded murder of old persons placed under her care has been under close examination by alienists ever since she was put in jail. What their findings have been, only Mr. Alcorn knows, and he is following out his plan of saying nothing concerning the case until he lays all his evidence before the grand jury.

In Jail Since May

Mrs. Archer-Gilligan was arrested early in May. For seven years preceding that date she had been proprietress of the Archer Home at Windsor, which she established. Numerous deaths which occurred in her institution aroused public suspicion, and the body of one of her patients, Andrews, was exhumed. At that time it was announced that the man had died from arsenic poisoning.

A person charged with murder cannot be released on bail in Connecticut, and Mrs. Archer-Gilligan went to jail, asserting that she was innocent. This declaration also has been made by the woman's daughter, who has clung to her loyalty through the long ordeal.

ENGLAND WANTS CANADA'S PULP

Ships Will Solve Paper Shortage For Great Britain

The serious situation that has arisen in connection with the paper supply in this country, says "P. M. G." in the Pall Mall Gazette, is complicated by the fact that Canada has an abundance of pulp and is eager and anxious to obtain facilities for its transport to the market. It is not, however, as yet known to which of the various Canadian mills would most readily send it.

At the present moment the great market for Canadian pulp and paper is the United States. While Great Britain is importing pulp and paper from neutral countries, Canada is compelled to sell elsewhere.

The Hon. P. Pelletier, Agent-General for Quebec, in the course of an interview with a representative of the Pall Mall Gazette, expressed the opinion that a strong appeal should be made to the government to encourage the trade between Canada and the mother country.

"There are," he said, "eighteen pulp mills in the Province of Quebec, but the bulk of the produce of these mills goes to the United States. It is practically the only market they have, although very many of them are very anxious indeed to do business with this country."

Although freights are higher in this country than to the United States, that would not prevent a big development of the trade, it is the shortage of tonnage that stands in the way. If the government here could be induced to release some ships it would encourage the pulp maker in Canada, and promote the establishment of a permanent trade, which would be of the greatest possible value in the future. Purchase from your son instead of purchasing from a stranger, what Canada says to the mother country."

Canada Meets Demands

Within the past few months there has been a comparatively unimportant, but nevertheless extremely significant, incident in connection with the pulp and paper trade of Canada.

In the past the great fruit growing parts of the empire outside Canada itself have invariably employed a special make of paper for the purpose of packing the fruit. Canada did not produce this particular paper which was obtained from neutral and what are now enemy countries.

The first inquiries came from Australia and South Africa, and the Canadian paper makers were promptly informed from London of this need in other parts of the empire. Within a short time the demand was met, and there is now every prospect of a letter to non-existing trade in this paper, which is used in enormous quantities, being built up between Canada and other parts of the empire.

Encourage Pulp Makers

"There is also another aspect of the question," Mr. Pelletier explained, "if this trade was developed it would encourage the pulp makers of Canada to turn their mills into paper making mills, to the great advantage of Canada. The practice at present is for the American paper mills to get their pulp from Canada. If Canada, in addition to making pulp, converted it into paper, and supplied the mother country, the advantage to this country and to Canada would be very great. Such a trade once established would last forever."

The tonnage difficulty is, of course, the utmost gravity, but among those of

CONFESSES MURDER OF RICH MRS. NICHOLS

Waltonen, Once a Servant in Her Household, is Arrested

Betrayed by a Scar—Governor Whitman's Commutation Saved Tala, Who Was Sentenced to Die For the Crime

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 15.—Arthur Waltonen, alias John Lind, who is wanted in New York for the murder of Mrs. Elizabeth Nichols of 4 East Seventy-ninth street, New York, in September last, has been arrested here by New York detectives, assisted by Chief Hull of this city. Waltonen confessed to the crime.

Waltonen or Lind had been employed as a barber here in the shop of Walter Point for the last eight months. Several weeks ago a man from Waukegan, Ill., was shaved by Waltonen and noticed the scar on his right index finger. This was one of the marks of identification referred to in the circular of the New York police, which was sent to all parts of the country.

The stranger sought local advice and there was some delay while the matter of a reward which had been offered was arranged through an advertisement in a Chicago newspaper.

Waltonen was one of the three men whom Onne Tala, a servant in Mrs. Nichols' home at 4 East Seventy-ninth street, New York, confessed he admitted to the house on the night of Sept. 8, 1915. The three men were to rob Mrs. Nichols and divide the proceeds with Tala.

Waltonen and his two companions, Edward Laito and an unnamed Italian, bound Tala after he had admitted them and then proceeded upstairs, where they strangled Mrs. Nichols and robbed her of her jewelry. Tala confessed, naming the three men. Waltonen is the first to be caught.

Tala was convicted of first degree murder, with a recommendation for clemency, issued as he had not participated in the strangling. He was sentenced to die in the electric chair, but Governor Whitman, taking into account his previous good record and his ignorance of the probable consequences to Mrs. Nichols which his participation in the crime entailed, commuted the sentence to imprisonment for life. He probably will be an important witness against Waltonen.

Mrs. Nichols was the widow of James Nichols, once a partner in the firm of Austin Nichols & Co. Waltonen before the crime had been a servant in her household.
