ONE THOUSAND BEFORE MONTREAL JUVENILE COURT

(Montreal Herald)
The Juvenile Court promises, unless all signs fail, to have a year of record activity. Since the first of January it has at every judicial day, and, to date, the presiding officer has never been able to earn the traditional "white gloves." The records show this year 992 children have appeared before it who have never been the subject of sworn complaints. Of these only 60 boys and 20 girls have been sent by the court to reformative institutions by the order of the court, though quite a number of others have been placed there by their parents for "shorter or longer periods."

But the great majority of the cases have been placed "on probation" either with their parents or in foster homes, or, in some cases, in the homes of their own families. The court has been very successful in its work, and the records show that the children who have been placed on probation, usually for short periods, have returned to their former surroundings and place in the community without a license, or disturbing the peace in various ways.

Some Children Abandoned
Among the complaints dealt with have been some regarding children who have been abandoned, neglected or ill treated by their parents or guardians. The court has been very successful in its work, and the records show that the children who have been placed on probation, usually for short periods, have returned to their former surroundings and place in the community without a license, or disturbing the peace in various ways.

Young Runaways Frequent
Besides the large number of children who belonged to the city itself, the court has also had to deal with young runaways coming from a distance who had been lured from their homes by the attraction of the "white lights." One youthful citizen of Toronto gave as his reason for running away that "he wanted to see the Mountain." A little girl from one of the smaller centres of Quebec claimed that she had come to town to see the big stores whose windows she had seen so vividly displayed in the papers. Another boy came from the west in the train of a traveling circus. This desire for travel also attracted not a few natives of Montreal, two of whom went as far as New York.

CARRIES CANADA'S NAME THROUGHOUT THE WORLD

Remarkable Achievement for Purely Canadian Concern
As evidence of the way in which one enterprising Canadian firm has pushed the sale of its product into the corners of the earth, it is interesting to know that the "Salada" Tea Company, which has its headquarters in Montreal, has secured its product not only through the United States, but in France, Belgium, Spain, Portugal, Canary Islands, Algeria, Morocco, The Gold Coast, every British West India Island, Mexico, Cuba, British Honduras, the Bahamas, Colombia, Venezuela, Brazil, Paraguay, Chile and the Argentine.

They have lately made a large shipment to Iceland, and have received inquiries from Egypt, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Turkey, Norway, Alsace, Switzerland, Peru, Denmark, Sweden, etc., etc.

The tea shipped to these countries are exactly the same quality you buy under the same familiar labels in any part of Canada or the United States. The popularity of this tea during the past year has made "Salada" a household word in America.

BURIED ON SUNDAY
The funeral of Frank Skinner, White Rock place on Sunday from his late residence, 262 Prince William street, to St. Andrew's church where service was conducted by Rev. P. S. Dowling. The interment was made at Fernhill cemetery.

Many a Dollar Saved
The old saying "a stitch in time saves nine" is just as true with us as with our grandmothers. Any kind of a garment, whether for inside or outside wear, for big or little people, will wear much longer if the small holes and small holes are darned or strengthened as soon as discovered. Nothing gives a garment a more "pretty" appearance than a neat and clean, even if the garments are not of the latest cut or the most expensive fabrics their neatness alone will command respect.

Long coats can be made over for one's self or a top coat for young girl or boy. A short coat can be remodeled for a dress for a girl, using remnants for combination.

Waists can be tinted and recut for a guimpie for girl, or a camisole, or a baby's cap or a covering for a woman's summer hat.

From worn night gowns, infant dresses, children's petticoats, or corset covers can be made.

If the gowns are heavier, the worn yokes may be cut off. Sew up the end, run a tape through the hem, and you have a slip cover for the dress or coat.

From men's worn shirts, children's dresses, combined with remnants, can be made blouse, or a boy's bibs for the baby, or apron for the woman.

Old neckties make beautiful patch-work comfort tops or couch covers. Old sweaters may be washed, dyed, unraveled, and reknit for women's or children's sweaters, scarfs, caps or wrist-lets.

Keep all scraps of silk or velvet, for patchwork quilts, couch covers, shopping bags, etc.

Stocking tops, or old underwear may be used for blouses, or petticoats for babies, or little girls, bed socks, dust rags or wash rags, or for miscellaneous mending.

If possible, mend knit underwear with knit underwear patches, basting the patch over the hole. Stitch with machine, hemming down the raw edge by hand.—Thrifty Magazine.

Friday evening at Durham Bridge, Minnie Fletcher died, aged 59 years. She is survived by daughter, Mrs. James Smith, of Durham Bridge.

Oromocto to Be Rebuilt
It is now believed the loss in the recent fire in Oromocto, N. B. will be about $500,000 with $100,000 insurance. That the people have decided to rebuild is shown by the number of small wooden frame dwellings already started, and piles of lumber in readiness. Services were held by Anglican, Methodist and Baptist denominations at one time in the school house yesterday and the Roman Catholics used the same place.

PROHIBITION IN UNITED STATES

Breaking a three weeks' deadlock, Senate and House conferences reached an agreement late Wednesday on the prohibition enforcement bill. Quick approval of the conference report is expected by leaders and the measure may go to the president early next week.

The bill, which establishes one-half of one per cent. as the maximum alcoholic content of beverages, will be returned from conference without fundamental changes in its plan for strict enforcement both of the war time prohibition law and the constitutional amendment by the commissioner of internal revenue and the department of justice. Provisions for manufacture and sale of industrial spirits and of spirits for sacramental and scientific use are retained, but rigorous safeguards against manufacture and sale of drinks for any other purpose are provided.

The senate conference, however, succeeded in retaining virtually every one of the 283 liberalizing provisions adopted by the upper House, which comprise mostly administrative features. The principal "liberal" amendment of the senate permitting manufacture and sale of "near beer" as well as another amending the application of the constitutional amendment to the Panama canal zone.

For expenses of enforcing the act, the conferees reduced the sum appropriated of $2,000,000 to $2,000,000. The senate amendment authorizing manufacture and sale of "near beer" and similar beverages containing under one-half of one per cent. alcohol were retained, but it is stipulated that other nates shall be used for their designation than beer, ale or porter.

The conferees struck out the House amendment requiring physical examinations by physicians of patients before issue of prescriptions for intoxicating beverages.
