SYNODIAL CANON ON OTTERS CHANGED

Anglican Synod Proposes an Amendment to Alter Canon -Tribute to Bishop

(From Wednesday's Daily.) Many interesting matters came before the diocesan synod of the Anglican church yesterday afternoon, and one the son and daughter of Mr. J. Cage, of the most interesting features was manager of Mr. Percy Hinch's farm at brought out in the course of the motion to amend a canon governing the election of a bishop that only a priest can be appointed as the present statutes go. It would be impossible, as the law stands, to introduce a clergyman in bishop's orders for election at the impending vacancy. The synod agreed pending vacancy. The synod agreed care cannot be taken in regard to enforcthat at some future time it might be ing such laws. Too many hunters' that at some future time to a line such tars have been written in desirable to make it possible for a careless shots have been written in bishop to be translated to the see, particularly if it should become, in the new province of British Columbia, and decided to amend the canon which, course of events, the archdiocese of the however, cannot become effective till it has been adopted by the next annual synod; therefore the decision of yesterday can have no effect on the selection of the next diocesan, who must consequently be in priest's orders.

A tribute to the retiring bishop was adopted most cordially, in the form of L. and G. A. Overton's Tea a motion submitted by Archdeacon Scriven, that the synod should acknowledge the services of the diocesan during the past 18 years, and express their regret at his impending departure, and trust for continued health in his important office as an English suffragan in the Metropolitan diocese. The chancellor of the diocese, Lindley Crease, voiced the sentiments of the laity, in well-chosen language, mentioning that the bishop had not contented himself with the mere administhe Anglican community. Mr. A. A. Sears, former captain the wrecked steamer Iroquois, while shooting on Knowles' farm near West saanich road, missed his mark, the girl in the calf of the right leg and in the hip, while the boy, who was with her, received one pellet over one of his eyes. Mr. Sears stood only twenty-five feet from the road where the children turned to take a short cut towards the school. The report was heard by Mr. Bishop, who quickly leaped over to the roadway in order to assist the frightened children, who are Saanich. They were helped into a passing wagon and taken to their home, where Dr. H. Gordon Cumming abstracted the shots and dressed the wounds, which were but slight.

Under the law, shooting at such a short distance from the roadway in its direction is prohibited and too much more serious happenings.
