Moncton, Jan. 12—(Special)—William McGarry was arrested yesterday afternoon, by Officer Chappell, on a charge of robbing Flewelling Wilbur, of a gold watch chain, a twenty dollar gold piece and a gold-headed pencil. It is alleged that McGarry grabbed Wilbur's chain while the two were in a down town hotel and succeeded in getting away with the chain and the articles attached to it, with the exception of the watch. McGarry denies all knowledge of the crime. The accused was arraigned in the police court this morning and the case continued this afternoon.

The death occurred here last night of Mrs. J. C. Crosskill, widow of the late J. C. Crosskill, a former well known Halifax newspaper publisher, who removed here from Halifax twenty years ago to take a position on the Moncton Times. Mrs. Crosskill had been ill but five days with bronchial pneumonia and the end came quite unexpectedly. She was sixty-six years old and lived with her son, Athol Crosskill of the I. C. R. freight claims department. With the exception of her children nearly all her relatives reside in Halifax, her native city.

She was a daughter of the late Wm. Hay, of England.

Her only daughter is Mrs. Givan, wife of ex-Mayor, F. W. Givan of this city. The eldest son Wm. H. Crosskill, resides in Charlottetown where he holds a position in the local government service. The late Harry Crosskill, formerly of the St. John Telegraph was a son of deceased. The remains will be taken to Halifax tomorrow afternoon for interment in the family lot.

Willett, who is retiring from the management of the Humphrey clothing store to open an insurance and real estate office, was tonight tendered a farewell supper by the clothing department and woolen mill staff. During the evening he was presented with a gold headed cane, suitably inscribed by the woolen mill staff, and an office chair by the clothing department. Addresses were read by C. G. Moore and S. O. Humphrey, and the presentations made by Thos. Buckham and John Urquhart. W. F. Humphrey presided at supper. Alex. Murray, formerly of Oak Hall, St. John, will succeed Mr. Willett in the management of the clothing store.

Wm. McGarry was this afternoon committed for trial on a charge of stealing a gold watch chain, gold pencil and a $20 gold piece from Flewelling Wilbur Thursday night last. It appears Wilbur and McGarry were in Govan's hotel, Duke street, drinking, and got into a fight, during which Wilbur alleged McGarry grabbed his watch chain, etc., and tore it off. The principal witness against McGarry was Divid P. Kent, the well known Sussex well borer, who was staying at the hotel. Wilbur places his loss at $125.

Walter Jonah and Henry Legere, bondsmen to the extent of $200 each for McGarry in a former case in which he was charged with stealing $90 from John Mollins, of Hillsboro, asked for the release of bail bond in view of the accused being in custody. McGarry had skipped the bail, but Mollins having died, he returned.

The school trustees, at a meeting tonight, increased the salary of Principal Oulton from $950 to $1,000 a year; S. B. Anderson, $50 a year; Sister Losetto, principal of Wesley street school, $100 a year; R. Colwell, $25 a year next term. The total estimate asked for 1906 for school purposes is $24,997.30, between $2,000 and $3,000 larger than last year.
