the Mayor's chair was fought for yesterday by three candidates—all chosen by the newspapers! The Globe nominated Mr. Smith, an influential and immoveable Grit; the Mail nominated the retiring Mayor, Manning, (Conservative); while the Leader nominated Alderman Medcalf (Conservative). Manning only received about four hundred votes, the Conservative generally voting for Medcalf, who beat Smith by a handsome majority.

But they have something to secure. Had they met Parliament now some very unpleasant questions would have been asked concerning certain "mining and other" lands in the vicinity of Lake Superior, and a resolution might have been placed upon record declaring it highly improper and without precedent for the Premier of a government which has the location of a great line of Railway to be the head of two companies, composed largely of foreigners, whose object is to secure all the "mining and other lands" in the \(\frac{1}{2}\) in the \(\frac{1}{2}\) inition for the purpose of pecuniary gain. Smith could not vote against a resolution like that. Burpue could not be a Smith by a handsome majority.
