Its low body, clean, straight lines, high radiator and straight hood give this McLaughlin-Buick Four-cylinder Touring a long, racy appearance that is new to cars of its class. Massive crown fenders, snug-fitting top and drum type head and cowl lamps add to this distinction.

Material improvements have also been made in motor, chas-sis and body construction which contribute still further to the wonderful performance records of McLaughlin-Buick products.

ONTARIO HIGHWAYS

To the Editor of The Transcript: that the Talbot street in Elgin county has been widened at an enormous cost, and also that the Ontario Department of Highways intends widening the Longwoods road from sixtysix feet to eighty-six feet, and have plans under way for the work to be done this coming summer. The idea of widening 2,200 miles of highways designated in this province, the planting of ornamental trees, the buying of land and removal of already substantial fences and the building of new fences, and the extra cost of maintenance, is one of the most absurd, and uncalled-for pieces of work ever undertaken in this province.

Surely the people in this country have had enough of Kaiserism and will stand together and demand their rights, and also that an immediate stop be put to such lawless and reck-less extravagance. stop be put to such less extravagance.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space in your valuable paper, I am,
Yours truly,
A RATEPAYER. REAL FELLOWS

What has become of the old-fashioned boy who loved his mother, was polite to his sisters and respected all womanhood? We mean the boy who got uh and gave his mother the easy
chair when she came into the room,
the boy who refused to laugh when a dirty stoly was told, and who looked upon his sister as his special charge when ther were out in company. The young fellows who wear monkey caps
on the site of their heads and stand about on the street corners talking of somebody's sister, and puffing cigarette smoke through their noses, are as different from our old-fashioned ette smoke through their noses, are as different from our old-fashioned boy as day is from night. We can remember when there were a lot of old-fashioned boys in Strathroy. They swam in the old swimmin' hole and they played the innocent pranks of boyhood. Not always gentle, but always respectful. They called the older men Mr. So-and-So, and they touched their caps in an embarassed manner when they passed the ladies. They worked for their spending money and generally helped mother with a contribution toward the household expenses on Saturday night.

We do not mean to say that there are no clean, earnest, industrions young men in Strathroy. There are a few and you know them as well as we do. It isn't necessary to publish a list of their names. There are not so many.—Strathroy Age.

THE LATE HUGH MCLACHLAN

Hugh McLachlan, sr., passed peacefully away at his home, lot 1. con. 8, Mosa, on Sunday evening, March 11. lin his 95th year. Mr. McLachlan was a native of Kilmartin parish, Argyleshire, Scotland, and was born on August 15, 1828. He was a son of the late Hugh McLachlan and Katherine McCallum, of Strath Lachlan, Scotland. When a child two years of age he came to Canada with his parents, six sisters and two brothers, the voyage across the ocean lasting six weeks. Then first landed at Quebec, then came on to Aldborough in June, 1830. On November 12 of the same year the family moved to Mosa and state of the church, education and the advancement of the funeral, which was held on March 14, was largely attended his parents, six sisters and two brothers, the voyage across the ocean lasting six weeks. Then first landed at Quebec, then came on to Aldborough in June, 1830. On November 12 of the same year the family moved to Mosa No doubt you are already aware gyleshire, Scotland, and was born on that the Talbot street in Elgin county August 15, 1828. He was a son of has been widened at an enormous the late Hugh McLachlan and Kathsix weeks. Then first landed at Quebec, then came on to Aldborough in June, 1830. On November 12 of the same year the family moved to Mosa
and settled on the farm where Mr.
McLachlan resided continuously for ninety-two years and four months.
He was the oldest pioneer in the township of Mosa. The country was then a dense forest with blazed trails.
His father and two elder brothers.
Donald and Duncan, set to work to clear the land and hew out for themselves a home. They were the seventh family to come to these parts.
As the country became settled the people longed to meet together to worship God as they were accustomed to do in the motherland. His fathers home the set home there are a maintenance, is one of the most absurd_and uncalled-for pieces of work ever undertaken in this province. During the past winter propaganda work has been carried on throughout the province by the government. Meetings have been held at which several high-salaried officials, engineers, a forester and a motion picture machine endeavoured to make the farmer believe that by widening and decorating the highway past his property he would shortly become a man of wealth. The average farmer doesn't seriously take to heart any such humbug—when he finds it impossible owing to hard times and high taxation to put any improvements on his own property.

The consumption of practically the whole output of the cement plants by the government on provincial highways has driven the price of cement to a height never equalled in this province before. The same can also be said of wire fence. As a consequence of these exorbitant prices agricultural improvements and developments have been seriously retarded.

After every assurance had been given the farmer at a meeting in Glencoe over two years ago that the highways would not be widened unless the property owner saw fit to donate his land willingly, now the farmer has been group for the property owner saw fit to donate his land willingly, now the farmer has been greened of Asthma. Mr. McLachian was united in martiage to first through a sure preparation such as Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. Uncertainty may exist as to cause, but there can be no uncertainty regarding a remedy which has freed a generation of asthmatic victims from this scourge of the bronchial tubes. It is sold everywhere.
