BUSINESS.

Would you trust your fortune to a man like Baron DeCash? No, but father has been needing a little credit. The baron is such a notorious fortune hunter that if he keeps trying to propose to me it will inspire confidence in other's financial standing.

Johnny On The Month

My dear teacher, who has seen more Marches come and go than I dare figure on, has commanded me to write a composition on this month.

She said I must not say Shakespeare was born in March.

I must not state that more murders take place in Connecticut in this month than in any four others.

I must not state that no divorces are granted in Reno until March is over with and the blooming lilacs are in bloom.

I must not state that March hates to go mad and run in circles.

I must not say anything about Cicero changing his winter undershirt in March to July wear, and going to an untimely death thereby.

I must not say that this is the month when farmers barrel up their frozen 'aters and ship them to market.

This is the month that old maids begin to sigh and feel romantic and look around for a breach-of-promise suit against a millionaire, but the millionaire is in Europe taking things easy. (The teacher will lick me for this, but truth is mighty.)

You can also buy 75-cent stockings for 39 cents.

All I can say is that we are obliged to have March that we may have April Fool.

THESE DAYS.

I should like to have my photograph taken in an automobile. It looks so wealthy. I suppose you have an automobile?

I have something that looks even wealthier. Here is a genuine egg sandwich. How would you like to be taken with that in your hand.

A CLEVER MOVE.

Wow! There goes Swift in his new six. When I knew him a few years ago, he had a junk shop.

He still has. Only he moved it to a fashionable street, kept the same stock and labelled it "antiques."

TAKE THAT.

Jack (bitterly)—I suppose you consider it quite a triumph to make a fool of a man.

Maud—Oh, dear, no! A triumph is something done that was difficult of achievement.
