Why Be Annoyed?

BY RUTH CAMERON.

A very self-important young woman was being discussed by two of her acquaintances.
 "I avoid her when I can,"
 said one of the two, "for she always ruins me
 the wrong way."
 "Mercy, I don't pay as much attention to her as all that," laughed the other woman;
 "she just amuses me."
 It wouldn't take very much thought, would it, to tell which of these two women gets the more pleasure and comfort out of life?
 I think life is a good deal more subjective than most of us realize.
 Pain is subjective; witness how much more you suffer from the dentist's ministrations if you go to him when you are in a nervous and apprehensive mood. Pleasure is very much subjective; if you have any doubts of that just repeat some excursion which you took enormous pleasure in as a child. We are all in the habit of thinking that people are happy or unhappy according to their possessions and their surroundings, but I do not believe that I am putting it one bit too strongly when I say that these are really not so large a factor in determining a person's happiness or unhappiness as that person's mental viewpoint.

If you are in the habit of letting people and things rub you the wrong way no matter how pleasant the outward conditions of your life, you will be sure to be often annoyed and irritated.
 If, on the other hand, you can be big enough to be "just amused" by irritating conditions and trying people you will be above the power of circumstances.

And not only do people who have this latter viewpoint on life find infinitely more happiness themselves, but they are very much pleasanter to be with.

Not long ago I had occasion to take a short trip with a woman of this type. The trip, though short, happened to be crowded full of incidents that were not all of them particularly pleasant. We missed connections right and left, and once we seemed doomed to miss a most important train on which our baggage, including all our hand luggage, had already been placed; furthermore we were obliged to deal with an extremely disagreeable and unaccommodat-ing woman. Now all that sounds as if we had a most unpleasant time of it, doesn't it? And yet my memory of the trip on the whole is pleasant. Why?
 Because my companion was one of those delightful people who always winnow the grain of amusement and diversion out of the husk of annoyance.

"The facility of being diverted where less fortunate people are annoyed," says Agnes Repplier, "is a rare birthright and worth many a mess of pottage."

Most heartily I agree with Miss Repplier.

Refuse to allow trifling circumstances or unimportant people to have so much power over you.

When you find yourself starting to be annoyed make yourself see the amusing side of it all, and laugh instead.

It really can be done.

NATURE'S LAWS.

Nature's laws are perfect if only we obey them, but disease follows disobedience. Go straight to Nature for the cure, to the forest; there are mysteries there, some of which we can fathom for you. Take the bark of the Wild-cherry tree, with mandrake root, Oregon grape root, stone root, queen's root, bloodroot and golden seal root, make a scientific, glyceric extract of them, with just the right proportions, and you have

DOCTOR PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

It took Dr. Pierce, with the assistance of two learned chemists and pharmacists, many months of hard work experimenting to perfect this vegetable alterative and tonic extract of the greatest efficiency.

Dr. C. W. Pawley, of Millville, Calif., writes: "I wish to tell you that I have used your 'Golden Medical Discovery' in my family for twenty years. We have had a doctor called in but once during that time. I have a family of ten children, all well and hearty, for which, to a great extent, we owe thanks to you and your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets,' which we use when sick."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules.

Household Notes.

Let onions stand in water for several minutes, then peel, and they will not smother the eyes greatly.

Washing soda should not be used on china, as it will take off the gilt.
 Try clear hot water, but not hot enough to crack the china.

When making boys' blouse waists, use a corset string to run in the bottom instead of a tape. It is easier to use, last longer and is cheaper than tape.

To revive root vegetables that have withered, slice off the end of each and lay in cold water. In a few hours they will be as hardy and healthy as ever.

Brown bread, cut into thin slices and spread with strawberry jam or peach marmalade, and covered with a layer of cream cheese, makes novel and delicious luncheon sandwiches.

A thin coat of potash left on the sink overnight once a week will remove the ugly yellow stains that will not yield to kerosene. It should be applied with care, as it is poisonous.

It is often difficult to sharpen a razor in cold weather. If the blade is immersed in hot, not boiling, water it will take hold of the strop and acquire a good cutting edge after only a few strokes.

In ironing the plait of the back of a shirtwaist on which tiny buttons are sewed, try laying it on flannel or heavy turkish toweling, as you do your embroidery. The buttons sink in as the material is ironed.

Place furs in pasteboard box and sprinkle liberally with cornmeal.
 Shake the box up and down for a few minutes, then take furs out of the box and replace with fresh meal. Repeat shaking. The furs will come out as white as when new.

For perspiration stains on silk waists, sponge the place with a clear rag in clear cold water. Cover the wet place with powdered prepared chalk. Let dry and brush off carefully with a soft brush.

When using Chinese lanterns for decorative purposes, put a few handfuls of sand in the bowl-shaped bottom around the candle. This will keep the lanterns from swaying and also tend to prevent their catching fire.

Take a cork of medium size and crochet a cap of some dainty colored silk for it, leaving the flat upper surface free. Slip the points of scissors into this and thus protect your work-bag from being cut by the sharp points.

An emergency coat hanger when you are away from home is easily made by tightly rolling a newspaper, tying it securely in the middle with heavy cord and finishing with a cord loop to attach it to a convenient hook or nail.

If you have to tuck cloth and find that the crease of the tucker does not show, make a mark with a piece of chalk on the impression piece of the tucker. This mark will last for several tucks, and you need have no fear of soiling the material.

In country homes the breaking of lamp chimneys often causes a great deal of bother. If one will put all new chimneys in a pall of cold water and put on the fire to boil for a couple of hours, the chimney will last twice as long as an ordinary one.

from the butcher—and warm water.
 Dip a stiff brush in this and rub the spots vigorously, going over them afterward with a cloth dipped in clear tepid water and wrung out.

Dried wormwood, which may be had at the drug store, is an excellent protection against moths when putting winter clothes away. It should be scattered lavishly between the folds, and each article wrapped separately in a newspaper before packing.

To remove wall paper, take warm water that is softened with borax or ammonia and apply with a sponge.
 The paper will soon become soaked and blistered and may be easily stripped off. It is well to do this a day or so before the new paper is put on.

Sheets of postage stamps that are carried in a pocketbook frequently stick together. When this happens do not soak them apart, but lay them on a smooth surface and pass a hot iron over them. This will separate the stamps without destroying the gum.

If a horse stumbles, give him his food on the floor instead of in the manger. The position necessarily taken in feeding strengthens the muscles of the knees and so removes the cause of the stumbling. A horse just brought from pasture does not stumble.

To prevent drawing in nonwashable garments from pulling out, sew to each end of the tape a brass embroidery ring larger than the opening of the casing. Do this, of course, after the tape has been inserted. Then cover the ring by buttonholing it with thread the color of the tape.

England Faces a New Danger.

London, May 18.—A new danger threatens England, according to Sir William Ramsay. Speaking at the British Science Guild, he said that Great Britain's supply of nitric soda, which came from Chile and Peru and was an absolute necessity for the manufacture of explosives, might be cut off if Great Britain was involved in a war. The government ought to be warned that it was living on the edge of a precipice.

Unless it did the same as the other European countries and made nitrates from the atmosphere, England would be without ammunition in a few months after war broke out.
