"We Want Candy Cascarets"

Revised: That when our tongues turn white, breath feverish, stomach sour and bowels constipated, that our mothers give us Cascarets, the nice candy cathartic, and not nasty castor oil, mineral oil, calomel or pills. Cascarets "work" without griping and never hurt us kids. Cost only 10 cents.

TO MOTHERS! Learn to give harmless Cascarets to your cross, sick, bilious, constipated pets and save coaxing, worry and money. Children love this candy cathartic. Nothing else cleanses the little liver and bowels so effectively. Each 10 cent box of Cascarets contains directions for dosage for children aged one year old and upwards.

Does Prohibition Prohibit?

The Daily News of Wednesday, Nov. 13, reports another "big seizure of smuggled liquor." About 4.30 Tuesday morning the police captured two men on the street with three valises which contained 39 bottles of rye whiskey which were brought from Jersey in a local steamer. It is not surprising to us to hear of liquor being smuggled in the country. We pointed out in this paper two years ago just what would happen if Prohibition should be carried out.

In our Editorial remarks on Oct. 9th, we said "That should Prohibition be carried out, it will be utterly impossible for the Government of this colony, with its two thousand miles of sea coast, to prevent the smuggling of liquor into this island." And as this wholesale smuggling of liquor will go on until this rotten law is changed so that there will not be any need for men to smuggle. "The Act," said Mr. Warwick in the Evening Telegram of October, 1915, "is as full of holes as a sieve. It won't hold water, but it will keep a power of whiskey."

Personally, we do not care if there were another gallon of spirits brought into the colony, and if we were sure that 25,000 genuine and innocent prohibitionists would vote Prohibition and adhere reverently to the laws which they make opposite "Yes" next Thursday, we would vote with them, but when we are sure that there are men who will vote for Prohibition next Thursday and afterwards expect to drink their gin and tonics in the same tone of their ways in the future by "taking a drink and leaving it alone" as they have done throughout their whole life; and when they vote up to the fact that their drinks are stopped for ever, and they are denied from a righteous beverage which, if taken moderately, is as good as life to a man, and has been used by wise men in that way ever since the creation of the world, they

The Day.

We publish, by request, this magnificent poem the author of which is Mr. Henry Chappell, of Bath, England. Mr. Chappell is known among his co-workers as the "Bath Railway Post." You boasted the Day, and you toasted the Day. And now the Day has come, Blasphemer, braggart and coward all. Little you reck of the numbing ball, The blasting shell, or the "white arms" fall, As they speed poor human home.

You spied for the Day, you lied for the Day. And woke the Day's red spleen, Monster, who asked God's aid Divine, Then strewed His seas with the ghastly mine; Not all the waters of the Rhine Can wash your foul hands clean! You dreamed for the Day, you schemed for the Day; Watch how the Day will go, Slayer of age, and youth and prime, (Defenceless slain for never a crime). Thou art steeped in blood as a hog in slime, False friend and cowardly foe!

You have sworn for the Day, you have sworn for the Day; Yours is the harvest red, Can you reap the grain and the awful cries, Can you see the heap of the slain that lie, And sightless turned to the flame-split skies, The glassy eyes of the dead?

You have wronged for the Day, you have wronged for the Day; That is the awful plain, 'Tis nothing to you that bill and Yield sheaves of dead men amid the grain; That widows mourn for their loved ones slain, And mothers curse thy name! But after the Day there's a price to pay For the sleepers under the sod, And Him you have mocked for many a day, Listen and hear what He has to say: "Vengeance is Mine, I will repay!" What will you say to God?

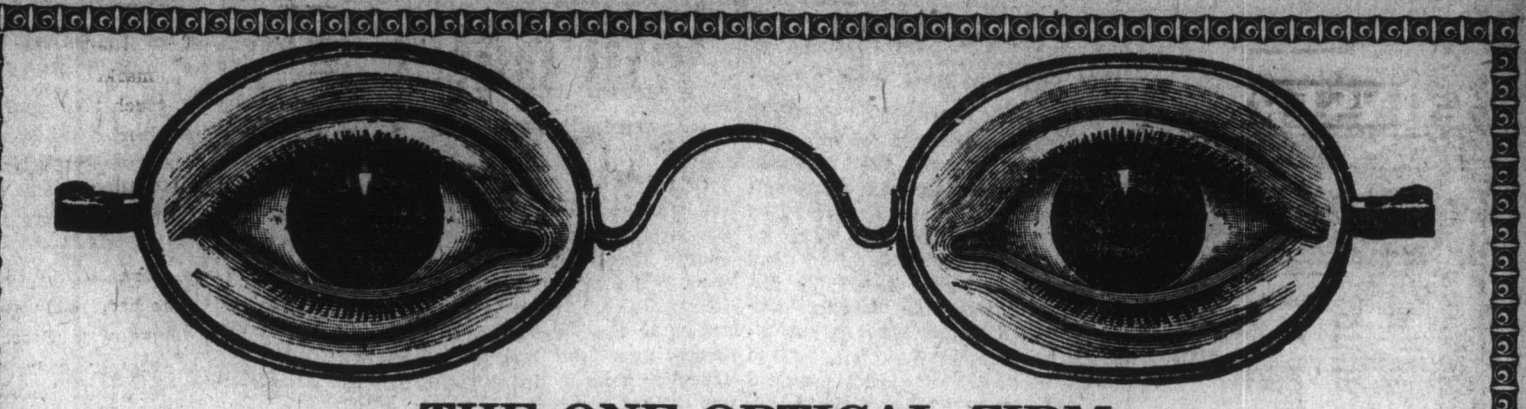

Heart's Delight Celebrates. Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—When the news of Peace reached Heart's Delight on Monday, at about 12 o'clock, all flags were hoisted; the church bell rang out its loudest peal, and schools and stores were immediately closed until Wednesday. In the night all the young men paraded around the harbour playing a band and firing guns at every hour which was represented at the front. Private residences were illuminated with candles of different colours. Hurrah, burrah, the war is o'er. Hurrah, burrah, they'll be home once more.

When Jack comes back there will be a mighty welcome for our soldier lad. Yours truly, IRENE REID. Heart's Delight, Nov. 15th, 1918.

Market Notes.

Codfish—Bad weather last week seriously interfered with the handling and unloading of dry cargoes in port. Foreign shipments, however, maintained, some 25,000 quintals being exported. The cessation of hostilities was the cause of considerable cured, amounting to 3,000 quintals being brought in from nearby outports on carts. Wednesday and Thursday were fairly good days and schooners took advantage of the hard weather. Prices are holding up well, Labrador Soft realising $15.30 to $15.40; Labrador Shore $15.50; No. 1 Merchantable Shore $15.80; Large West India 77; Small, $6. The prevailing opinion is that prices will keep for some time yet.

Herring—The West Coast fishery is now well started. At Bay of Islands there is a good sign of fish in the Arms but no large catches have been made. The American fleet is expected this week, when price competition will begin, and the present rate of $4 per barrel from the nets may or may not be maintained. Provisions—There need not be any immediate change in the price of Flour expected. Conditions in Europe have changed to such an extent that the countries with which we were at war must now be fed, consequently a stringency of supplies may last during the winter months. The price for Standard is $14.40 to $14.60, wholesale. Pork and Beef prices are not likely to be any lower for some time. The supply required for Europe will be large, and this demand may have the effect of raising the present quotations, which are, Mess $47.50, Ham Butt $46 to $46.50. Beef, first quality, $46.50; Seconds, $45 to $45.50. Sugar continues lower, but a 3,000 barrel shipment is due this week, one-third of which has been booked for the northern outports. No price has yet been fixed for the consignment en route. Molasses is 98 1/2 cents per gallon, wholesale, and stocks are very Obituary.

There passed peacefully away on November 18th, after a short illness, Ellen Frances, aged 28 years, daughter of Bridget and Robert Tobin, and wife of John Meehan, of Point La Haye, St. Mary's Bay. The deceased was taken ill of Spanish Influenza from which she never recovered. She leaves to mourn her a mother, husband, two brothers and a large circle of friends and relatives. Much sympathy was felt for her heart-breaking mother and husband, who will miss her so much. May her soul rest in peace.—Com. Gaskier's, St. Mary's Bay, Nov. 18th, 1918.

Bit of Hun Kultur.

From my dugout entrance I can see two crosses—crosses that hold out the promise of victory and peace to the Allies and that furnish a concrete example of German infamy. One cross stands behind our front lines, many feet above the ground, on what was once a tower of a massive cathedral. It is untouched by German fire. Around it all is ruin. The town is desolate, the cathedral itself stands a mass of ruin. That part of the tower that holds the cross aloft seems but a narrow needle jutting out of the horizon. Every day the boche shells out prominently among the smaller headstones in the city of the dead.

The New King of Poland.

It is said, on excellent authority, that the vexing problem of who is to be king of Poland will be settled by a competitive examination, in which some sixty-three boche princelings and dukelings have been invited to participate. According to the same authority, the following will be among the questions asked: 1. Do you wear a small blond moustache similar in texture to that of the Crown Prince of Prussia? 2. Give all the titles of all the German kings. 3. Prove with the assistance of Herr Houston Chamberlain's "Foundations of the Nineteenth Century," that Michaelangelo was of Prussian descent. 4. What is the proper attitude of a monarch when his people want something that he doesn't want them to have? Discuss in not more than six words. —Cartoons Magazine. chinese gunner was operating a phantom gun. Then came the order to advance. Over the top we went, right on to the German lines. But still the phantom machine gun worked. As we pressed closer and closer to the boche lines we came into the cemetery. Then some one discovered the secret of the phantom gun. The boche had violated the sanctity of the tomb. With all his sacrilegious cunning he had placed his machine gun beneath the cross. His death machine was placed within the very shadow of the Holy Cross. This is the story of the two crosses. One a silent sponsor of the Allied cause. The other a silent rebuke to "German Kultur."—Captain O. O. Melton, in Atlanta Constitution.

Always on hand. THERE are days when you may not need milk at all, or don't use all you get. —and other days when your milkman forgets to call, or when you "run short" of milk. Until you have tried Carnation Milk you cannot realize how handy, how economical it is to get your milk supply in this form. For then, you are never "caught without" milk. Yet you have milk that is always fresh. You may keep a can of Carnation Milk on a cool pantry shelf for months—it is sealed safe against contamination, stays fresh, pure and wholesome. Even when the can is opened the milk will "keep" for several days—so there is no waste with Carnation Milk. And it is always ready to use. It is rich, pure, "whole" milk (not separated)—Carnation Milk "from Contented Cows." It is evaporated to the consistency of cream. Only water is taken from it. Then it is sterilized. No preservatives are added. And no artificial sweetening. Use it every way you use ordinary milk—as cream for coffee or cereals, diluted with water for cooking or for the children's drink.
