Bay de Verde Campaign Opens.

Freshwater, April 12.—Sir John Croble and Mr. Puddester arrived here last night to begin their canvass of the District. To-day they canvassed Blow-me-Down, Flat Rock, Otterbury, Crown's Cove and Freshwater and met with a cordial reception from the voters. It was their intention to have held a public meeting here to night, but as the Salvation Army are having a big time, for which preparations had been made, it will not take place. The Opposition candidates will visit Salmon Cove to-morrow and see the people there and return here for a meeting at night. Freshwater is getting its part of the Government election money, and crowds of men are engaged shovelling snow. For three years we have seen nothing of Mr. Cave and little in the way of public works has been accomplished, but now on the eve of the election money is flowing freely, evidently with the hope of buying our votes. The money is acceptable, but it will not affect our vote.

"Quarantined."

The now famous three act comedy, "Quarantined," presented by St. Mary's Club Dramatic troupe by special request, is being repeated again this evening at 8.45 p.m. Last evening's performance eclipsed all previous performances, and a record attendance was established when at 8.15 p.m. the sale of tickets was stopped and intending patrons asked to come again to-night. The Telegram regrets that we inadvertently omitted in its last issue the name of Miss Alice Pittman, who played the part of "Dorothy," a companion in disguise to a wealthy widow. To Mr. T. P. Halley and his talented performers every congratulation is due for the presentation of such a popular comedy.

German Air Giant.

British authorities are reported to be in possession of details of a gigantic German monoplane designed by Professor Hugo Junkers, and which it is said can cross oceans in a single non-stop flight. The enormous hollow wing of metal is to measure 300 feet from tip to tip, and in it are to be housed as many as a dozen engines, developing a total of just over 4,000 horse-power. Mechanics tending these engines will move to and fro through "tunnels" built inside the wings. With a great ship-like hull beneath its lifting-plane, this air colossus will rise from and alight upon the sea, and when loaded fully will weigh not far short of one hundred tons.

The people say

The month of May

Will see the finish of Coaker and Squires control.

Three weeks from to-day and the people will have elected a new Government.

Mr. J. R. Bennett, the man of the hour.

Three weeks from to-day and we will have Bennett and Better Times.

Bulley, Burke, Bartlett, Bonia, Bindon, Brown, Fitzgibbon, St. John, Hawco, Simmonds, Calpin, McGuire, Hearn, Maddock and Grimes will not save their nomination fees.

Bennett's determination to encourage the fishermen with a grand bounty is in keeping with the times.

Bennett's desire to give all possible to help the laborers, miners, mechanics and clerks, is worthy of highest praise.

The people will be happier with a Bennett Government! Why?

Because taxes will be reduced and the earning power will be increased.

There will be plenty of good profitable work for all.

Cashin, Linegar and Hunt will poll six hundred more votes than Squires or Campbell, is admitted by all West Enders.

Joe Long said so long to Grimes a long while ago. Long's victory is sure.

Monroe was not satisfied to defeat a Coakerite, he went after the dictator himself. Watch 'em win.

Bonavinta will have an able representative in Mr. Monroe.

John Stone and his colleagues are continuing their triumphant march.

The North has joined hands with the West and the South.

Some of the Coakerites in the West End tried to induce the Premier and Dr. Campbell to accept the challenge to a public meeting.

The Premier replied, "Do you think I'm crazy?"

Dr. Campbell said "Nothing Doing."

Mr. Grace will have the distinction of electing a Prime Minister head of the poll with Hickman and Archibald close seconds.

Bennett here, there and everywhere. Bennett, Bennett all the time. BENNETT & BETTER TIMES.
