BLOOD WILL TELL!

The Complexion Faithfully Mirrors Its Purity or Impurity

Massage, cosmetics and the like sometimes improve a good complexion, and occasionally mitigate the badness of a bad one. But there is only one way to get that clear, satin skin, with the rosy tint of health glowing through, and that is by keeping the blood pure.

Impure blood will show itself. It makes the skin "muddy" or sallow, with pimples, blackheads or boils breaking out. It takes away the clearness from the eye, coats the tongue, makes the breath bad. It saps the energies and brings on headaches. It is fatal to good health or to the highest happiness or usefulness.

Purifying the blood is simply a question of keeping the four great eliminating organs—bowels, kidneys, the pores of the skin and the lungs—in good working order. These organs should throw off all the worn-out tissue and other impurities which the blood is continually gathering up throughout the body, and all the waste matter from the food.

The failure of any or all of them to perform these functions should be remedied at once, and it can be, quickly and certainly, by the use of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills. One of the ingredients of these splendid Pills opens up the pores of the skin, another regulates the bowels, a third gives ease and strength to the kidneys and a fourth clears the mucus membrane of the lungs so that the gaseous impurities in the blood can pass freely through into the air.

Thus whatever may be the cause of the impure blood, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills remove it, and soon the veins are filled with pure, red, life-giving fluid. Then, and only then, will you have a clear eye, a clean tongue, a sweet breath and a perfect complexion.

Mr. Richard Wilson, of Middlesex Co., Ont., writes:

"For some time I have been in a low and depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointment, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood. At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

AMUNDSEN GOING NORTH

To Take Supplies Sufficient for Seven Years' Stay.

Chicago, Nov. 11. — Capt. Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, is on his way to Chicago from Christiania to secure the largest store of provisions ever carried by an expedition to the far north. The supplies are sufficient to last for seven years for his crew of twelve. Capt. Amundsen will start on his dash for the frozen north in July. Plans are being completed for the reception and welcome of the hardy explorer by the Chicago Geographic Society. He will arrive in Chicago Nov. 22. Other plans are being laid to bring Sir Robert Shackleton to the city early in the coming year.

WORK AMONGST EAST INDIANS

Returned Missionaries Deliver Addresses in Adelaide Street Baptist Church.

A DIFFICULT PROBLEM

Very Hard to Introduce the Gospel in India, But the Missionaries Are Going Courageously Ahead.

There was a very large attendance at the open session of the Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society held in the Adelaide Street Baptist Church last night, when two returned missionaries from India spoke in a most interesting manner of the work in that land, that has a civilization dating back for thousands of years, and is yet today sunk in the darkest ignorance and heathendom. The speakers told of the difficulties that were to be met in presenting the story of the life of Christ to these people, and the power that enabled them to surmount these difficulties.

The opening services were conducted by the Rev. A. J. Vinick, and during the evening Mrs. A. E. Brown sang the beautiful solo, "O Divine Redeemer," in a most effective manner. The choir of the church were also in their places and their anthem helped greatly in the attractiveness of the service.

An Indian Missionary. Miss E. Priest was the first speaker of the evening. Her subject was "The Bible Among the Women of India." "The women of India have missed the influence on the Bible, not only on their religious life, but on their social life as well. The common people have no book that teaches them of sin and redemption, and love and heaven. They need the book that has meant so much to us.

"I am glad that Jesus told so many stories. They appeal so strongly to the seeking mind of these people," said the speaker.

Miss Priest then went on to give instances after instance from her work among the women of India, illustrating the need of these people for the Bible. "The children," she continued, "are being taught the word. The women are learning passages, and it is gaining a great hold on the people. Men are taking it and comparing it with the books of their own religion."

"And then the Bible has a great place among our Christian women. We meet every month, and the women learn verses of the Bible. The Scriptures are their weapon. We are trying to make this word the power in their lives that they may do their work among the women of India."

When we consider that they are like Europeans, wear European dress, and yet worship no God, and live no better or purer lives than the natives, it is easily seen how great their influence can be. So the Timpani Memorial School was started at Cocanada to care for the young people of these Urasian races. The great majority of the pupils who have left in our school for any time have left the institution as Christians, and in many instances they are doing a great work for Christ in that land. It pays to educate the Urasians. We have come to a crisis in our work. We have outgrown our quarters, but I am sure that this need will be met, for I believe that this is distinctly God's work. We go to the Urasians with the Bible; we are trying to teach them the message of life and hope, and we find that it can meet their every need.

THEATRE AS A SANCTUARY. Of sanctuaries for the eighteenth century debtor the value of the patent theatre must not be overestimated. The actor was in the bounds of the playhouse was safe. There was John Palmer, for instance, who lived in his dressing-room at Drury Lane for months. The engagements—even at Drury Lane—came to an end, and at length Palmer was required at the Haymarket. The journey was a dangerous one. Necessity, however, always fosters invention. They packed him in a cabinet, put the cabinet in a cart and called him "scenery."

When steamers came into use very little attention was bestowed upon the consumption of fuel. It was not until the Cunard steamers were started crossing the Atlantic in 1840 that reliable records of fuel consumption began to be kept systematically.

CITY WILL FIGHT TANTOCK CLAIM

Plaintiff Says If He Was Hotel-keeper He Could Get What He Wanted.

DAFFERIN AVENUE EAST

People Now Refuse to Sign Papers Protecting the City if the Creek There Is Tiled—A Threat for Damages.

The city will fight the claim of Mr. J. A. Tantock for damages to his furnace occasioned by the backing up of a sewer on Ridout street. At the meeting of the board of works last night Mr. Tantock made it plain that he would not accept an offer of $35 to repair the damage, as suggested by City Engineer Graydon, "but what $75 Mr. Tantock would not agree to that."

Mr. Tantock was present and urged his claim. He stated that the furnace had been in use a little over three years, and had rusted because a city sewer had backed up. He considered an offer to settle for $75 or a new furnace, was the best he could accept.

Damage Estimated. Ald. Rose pointed out that he had sent two experts to look the furnace over, and they had both declared that the damage could be repaired for $40. The cellar is some feet deeper than it should be, and that is the cause of the leakage, he said. The alderman declared that the committee would not recommend any such sum as Mr. Tantock suggested.

"Mr. Tantock has stated, I was informed, that if he had been a hotel-keeper he could have got what he wanted," said Ald. Saunders. "I do not think that was fair to you, where we have discriminated in favor of a hotel-keeper or any other person."

Ald. Rose moved that the claim of Mr. Tantock be filed and a clause to the effect that the city solicitor be instructed to defend any suit entered, said Ald. Saunders.

This was done. Dufferin Avenue East. The opening up of Dufferin avenue east was up again as usual. Mr. J. Brown, representing some of the citizens on the street, declared that they would not sign the formidable looking document prepared by City Engineer Graydon to protect the city in case any damage resulted to any person because of the creek being tiled.

"We won't sign that paper," said Mr. Brown. "It looks like a suit for divorce," said Ald. Cooper. "Can you not make it somewhat shorter?"

Will Sue the City. "If you people on the street were anxious to have the street opened up as we are, it would have been done long ago," said Ald. Saunders. "You are one of the worst kickers of the lot."

"I want to know who put that earth in front of my place," asked Mr. Brown. "I will sue the city for damages."

"You cannot do that," retorted City Engineer Graydon. "We did not put it there."

Mr. Brown informed the committee that Contractor John Hayman had been paid 15 cents a load by the city to place the dirt there, said Mr. Graydon, and Mr. Brown stated he would find out. In the meantime the agreement will be drawn up in simpler form.

Mr. W. North appeared before the committee and asked that Oxford street between Talbot street and the bridge be repaired. Mr. Graydon will attend to it.

Sewer Tenders. The tenders for several sewers were awarded.

City Engineer Graydon was given the Fullerton street sewer from Talbot to Ridout streets, for $555, side drains at 20 cents a foot.

Ben Johnston was awarded the Adelaide street sewer from Piccadilly to Oxford street for $400, side drains 35 cents; Piccadilly street, from Talbot to Piccadilly, $550, and 35 cents side drains, and Pall Mall, Adelaide to Mainland, $1,800, side drains at 35 cents.

Those present were Ald. Gerry, chairman; Ald. Saunders, Ald. Rose, Ald. Cooper, City Engineer Graydon and Secretary Wright.

WOMAN'S GREAT FEAT

She Crosses Saharan Morass With an Automobile. London, Nov. 11. — In Southern Tunisia lies an extensive salt marsh called the Shott Jerid, of which the Arabs stand in terror, for many a caravan has been lost in the salt-intruded morass, where, according to De Lessoppe is as much as 1,200 feet deep in places. This region has been crossed for the first time in a small automobile by a woman, Myriam Harry, a well-known French novelist, and an account of her trip has just appeared in L'Illustration.

Accompanied by a native and a camel carrying water and petrol, Mme. Harry set out from Gabes, 80 miles west of which the salt desert begins. As far as eye can see it is a dead white plain of saltpetre and magnesium crystals, without a vestige of vegetation. The silence is appalling. No birds, no snakes, and not even a fly or a mosquito is to be seen. There is a narrow pathway through the marsh, and natives have rammed in wooden posts here and there as warnings against the specially dangerous places. These stick out of the glittering surface like masts of sunken wrecks.

A salt mud is a moving mass which, as it is thrown up to the surface, what it has swallowed up. Skeletons of men and beasts of burden, bleached white as snow by the action of the salts, lie strewn about the path. "The glittering salt particles which soon covered us," Mme. Harry writes, "gave us the impression that we were

HOW IBSEN WROTE
Planned His Plays in Advance of Putting Pen to Paper.

London, Nov. 11. — Henrik Ibsen's posthumous works have just been published in Norway. They consist of a collection of verse, biographical material and sketches of the plots and morals of his plays, as well as the text of the plays as first completed. Ibsen attributed to careful planning of his plays in advance, and to thorough revision of them.

One of the editors of the work, Julius Elias, tells a story which illustrates Ibsen's attitude on this question. A young dramatist came to him and begged him to read his play.

"Show me first a plan," said Ibsen. "There is no plan," answered the young man proudly. "I wrote it from scene to scene, following my inspiration."

Ibsen thereupon refused to read the play, declaring that a writer who did not make an orderly plan of his drama did not know what drama was, and could not possibly write it.

The preliminary sketch of "Nora," put on paper in Rome on Oct. 18, 1878, shows how clearly the figure of Nora and her history stood out before Ibsen before he had written a line of the play, of the moral of which he says: "There are two kinds of spiritual laws, two kinds of conscience, one for men, and quite a different one for women. They do not agree; but in practical life the woman is judged according to the law of the man, as if she were not a woman, but a man."

A woman cannot be true to herself in our modern society, which is an exclusively male society, which laws written by men and with accusers and judges who regard women's action from man's point of view."

NEW G. T. R. CHAIRMAN

Montreal, Nov. 11.—Mr. Alfred Waldron Smithers, appointed chairman of the Grand Trunk Railway Company in succession to Sir Charles Rivers-Wilkinson, has been its vice-chairman for five years. His connection with the company dates back to 1896, in which year he made his first tour of inspection in Canada, travelling over all the numerous branch lines of the company, as well as along its main arteries. This trip he has since repeated. In 1907, in company with Mr. Hays, he travelled over a large stretch of the route to be taken by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, going from Vancouver to Prince Rupert, the site of which as a terminal port much impressed him. With its "fine natural harbor, open all the year round, having an entrance 1,800 feet wide, opening into a sheet of water from one to one and a half miles broad and ten miles long," Mr. Smithers is thoroughly optimistic as to the future which lies before the G. T. R. and G. T. P. systems. He is an active, alert man, still in the fifties, and is credited with the mastery of detail which is so essential in the head of a great organization such as the Grand Trunk Railway. Mr. Smithers has been a member of the stock exchange since 1873. He is chairman of the English Association of American Bondholders, having succeeded Mr. Joseph Price—formerly vice-president of the G. T. R.—in that position in 1904.
