CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

But Suffered Set-Back in the Last Hour.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 .- Corn averaged ligher in price today owing mainly to the lack of an adequate supply here, who found difficulty in filling January who found difficulty in filling January contracts The close was unsettled, ranging from %c net decline to an advance of 2c, with May, $1.35½ to $1.35½, and July, $1.32½ to $1.35½, and July, $1.32½ to $1.32½. Oats finished unchanged to ½c higher, and provisions unchanged to 12c up.
Absence of offerings in the corn market was so evident during the greater part of the day that shorts in nearly deliveries became somewhat anxious.

based chiefly on talk of export demand at the seaboard. Provisions were lifted by the upturns in grain despite the fact that packers continued to unload lard freely.

stration of Strength Followed by Slump.

TORONTO, Jan. 30 .- Great activity call rate and the continued weakness and strength in North American Pulp of foreign exchange were the dominant factors of today's extremely dull stock of the unlisted section was the main deliveries became somewhat anxious. Hasty efforts to cover, which resulted carried the January option to the highest price yet this season. A little bullish sentiment arose, too, from predictions that the proposed $125,000,000 loan to provide Austria, Armenia and other European countries would be voted by Congress.

In the last hour, though, prices underwent considerable setback, owing to reports of a Canadian embargo on eastbound shipments of grail. Contentions that the embargo ough to be builish here were ignored.

Oats developed independent strengta, based chiefly on talk of export demand of the results of the trading on the local stock exchange today, although in the listed division there were several incidents of note, including a sharp upsite renewed pressure on speculative issues.

Old U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

HAY BRINGS $29 DESPITE QUANTITIES

Purchasers Fear Break-Up of Sleighing, So Buy Heavily.

Although 60 loads of hay have been sold on the local market during the past three days, which is enough to glut the market under ordinary circumstances, the price went up $1 a ton Friday. Nearly half of the 20 loads that were offered brought $29 per ton.

The reason given by the market officials and dealers is that the buyers in the city who depend on hay brought in by the local farmers are fearing a break up in the weather and are having in an extra supply, thereby creating an abnormal demand. The country roads, are in fairly good condition at the present time, but if the weather breaks up they will be impassible for at least a wook. Even now it is only possible to bring have in from a radius of five or three body and the sold up to 7, a new highe price since last spring.

of hay in the ditch. One farmer re-ported dumping a load of hay four times THE LOCAL MARKET

The cold weather discouraged farmers from coming to the local market this morning, and only a small number of sleighs graced the square. Butter was fairly plentiful and show. ed a tendency toward weakening in price. Some asked as high as 75 cents because in many stores of the city the same brand of butter was selling at 65 cents, little sold at the higher price. Eggs were plentiful and firm although some tried to force the price back to 85 Dressed hogs were the feature of the market. They were a little higher in price. By the quarter they were selling at 26 to 28 cents a pound, with some asking as high as 29 cents. Few vegetables were offered because of the extreme cold. Grain, per dwt .-New oats, cwt.....$3 22 to $3 26 Barley, per cwt..... 2 80 to 2 80 Grain, per Bu.-New oats, bu... 1 09½ to 1 11
