It is understood at military headquarters that the graves of ex-soldiers in the various cemeteries in the city will shortly be taken over by the Imperial War Graves Commission and kept similar to those in Belgium and France. About two or three weeks ago Mr. Brown. representative of the commission in Ottawa, visited the city and inspected the plots in the cemeteries with Major Lawless of M. D. No. 1, but nothing definite could be learned by the press regarding the matter. At Mount Pleasant alone, there are about 50 graves of soldiers separate from the others as well as isolated ones at Woodland and St. Peter's. These will be looked after at an early date, it is understood.
