Tecs Leave, After Split With Hams, On Long Foreign Trip

HAMS AND TRIBE SPLIT FAREWELL SIAMESE

Hams Took First in Gentle Fashion, While the Tribesmen Wrenched Last Roughly To Their Bosoms 5--2.

London and Hamilton divided the honors of the double bill, marking the departure of both teams for other pastures yesterday, London losing the first 4-0 and roughly taking the shortened-up affair which followed 5-2.

A Seeing that both gangs were trying to do the razor act with each other as Seeing that both gangs were trying to do the razor act with each other as victims, it might be expected that Patsy and Buzz would make about the same victims, it might be expected that Patsy and Buzz would make about the same person who juggles the percentage figures, lays it down that the higher they person who juggles the percentage figures, lays it down that the higher they are the faster they fall, and therefore, the Hams parachuted down seven points, while the locals were making an easy descent of two.

However, there was nothing easy or graceful about the descent they made in the first of the friendly greetings. Joe Reddy, former Ham, and now back from the Buffalo Bisons for a short visit, was elected to work opposite Herbst, from the Buffalo Bisons for a short visit, was elected to work opposite Herbst, from the Buffalo Bisons for a short visit, was elected to work opposite Herbst, from the Buffalo Bisons for a short visit, was elected to work opposite Herbst, sleepy 5 a.m. infield work, and did so for three innings, but the Hams spoiled this little arrangement by notening their first run in the fourth, aided by some this little arrangement by notening their first run in the fourth, aided by some this little arrangement by notening their first run in the fourth, aided by some this little arrangement by notening their first run in the fourth, aided by some this little arrangement by notening their first run in the fourth, aided by some this little arrangement by notening their first run in the fourth, aided by some the second of the aided by some the second of heady toil.

It Was, Oh, So Different Here.

It was much different in the second. The Tribesmen were away with the jump this section, a strange and awe-inspiring double play in the first inning pulling the plugs out of the barreis of pep displayed by the visiting contenders. If pep was liquid, they'd have had to issue the wet grounds coupons, after the If pep was liquid, they'd have had to issue the wet grounds coupons, after the tribesmen got rightly to work on Mister Mattes, Boston Red Sox hurler, also a tribesmen got rightly to work on Mister Mattes, Boston Red Sox hurler, also a tribesmen et al. A tribesment of the London fourth is arrival used only to the most polite treatment. He didn't get it, and Patsy sensing this, and flushed with a sudden treatment. He didn't get it, and Patsy sensing this, and flushed with a sudden sense of elation as the result of Boyle's triple scoring two runners, decided to change pitchers to start off the London fourth. If that was a hunch, Buzz Wetzel must have been on the sending end, for Berry, who started this section, made ten different experimental attempts to find the plate before Gullman was handed the different experimental attempts to find the plate before Gullman was handed the different experimental attempts to find the plate before Gullman as acartifice fly and filling of the bases with two more balls to Curry, and then a sacrifice fly and Claire's error unloaded the groaning sacks of two runs. Gullman allowed no hits during his occupation.

The Tecs were the first to shy a wrench at this admirable arrangement, hurling it in the second. Having been somewhat disconcerted by Joseph's oldfashioned roundhouse curves during the first inning, Malmquest opened serious argument by singling. Oakes followed Corcoran, m. ... 4

Briger laid down a choice to Claire. The latter, working fast, because the time was short, tried for Oakes at second, but his throw had Devon stretching so fain the air that he overbalanced just as Oakes made connection with the lines. Glenalyin called this safe. In a minute he was an island in an ocean of Hambut the flood subsided. Frank Herbst stepped to the plate at this juncture with the chance of making his own handicap, but he got the weights mixed buy and struck out. The Londoners didn't need earmuffs to deaden the sound of opportunity's knocks after this. They grew a bit loud in the fifth, when with nobody gone, Vandyke was at third and Briger at first. Herbst knocked down a choice and Van made the mistake of leaving his comfortable berth on third for home plate. Stutz, lit into a double play, and the knocking was heard no more.

In the fourth it was the Hams came forth truculently. Two waiks, a single and a sacrifice set the stage. Graveson, with the job strictly up to him, shot a stinging smash down past third. Stutz, and a sacrifice set the stage of a stutz, but into a double play, and the knocking was heard no more.

Just as a Starter.

To start the second game, Devon hit safely to Pinto, and Carlin singled. Blake following with a sacrifice. With this ominous array, Corcoran flashed one down at Bill Kuhn, who made the return to Curry, who in turn touched out Devon coming into the plate. Carlin, anticipating, apparently, Devon's attempted run back to third, was on his way back to second when Curry caught sight of him and winged him going into the third, making the first double play on that side of the field of the season. In the local first, Shay safe on a choice on that side of the field of the season. In the local first, Shay safe on a choice stole second, and Schaefer smashed one down at Dévon with safety. Schaefer stole second as soon as Shay moved to third on Kuhn's foul out. Shay came in on Malmquest's well-laid smash down at Carlin, and Big Walter stole second. Schaefer and Malmquest started a double steal, but Harry was called out at the plate, though Laabs never touched him.

Says He Will Not Accept Presidency in 1922 Under Any Circumstances.

FLINT, Mich., Aug. 18.-President Maines of the Michigan-Ondent Maines of the Michigan-Ontario League, has summoned the league directors to meet at Bay City on Thursday, August 25, at 12 o'clock noon, to decide important matters concerning the circuit.

At the meeting it will be officially decided whether or not the league season will close September 5, Instead of the original date of September 18, though it is understood that club owners voted five to three to end the season on Labor Day. Settlement of alleged ouster proceedings against Umpire De Lave also are scheduled, as well as certain financial problems.

Maines says he will ask the directors at that time to decide whether or not they wish him to remain as president of the circuit for the balance of the season.

Maines says he has attempted to run the league according to the consilution, and if the directors wish it run otherwise they had better look elsewhere for a new president. Maines today made the statement that under no circumstances would he accept the league presidency for 1922.
