Magistrate. Though it has never sought pub icity and only occasionally drawn ttention from the general public, the Dracle Club is slowly, but surely, orging ahead, and it is only a mat-

r of time before it will be ranked one of the foremost fraternal oranizations of London. Visitors especially who attended he second annual banquet in the recumseh House last night were imressed with evidence of the work it as accomplished in its short period

f existence and delighted with its one of the main phases of public ife to which the members have given painstaking attention is that of palistaking attention is that of bratory and debate. It has also striven to create within its fold a stronger spirit of citizenship and community responsibility, two traits in humans that those in public life alize to a greater or less degree are woefully lacking in the average man. The program—and due to the painstaking efforts of the banquet committee it was one of varietywas educational as well as highly entertaining. The topics of the addresses were: "The President's Addresses were: "The President's Address," by R. H. Cronyn, past president; "Our Club," by W. L. Scandrett; "Canadian Individualism," by Hamilton Bingle; "A Plea for Poetry," by J. M. Gunn; "Citizenship," by Rev. Fr. Brennan; "The Treaty Power," by A. R. Douglas and "Public Health," by Dr. H. W.

Mr. Cronyn dwelt briefly on the activities of the club in the past and matters which, in his opinion, should be dealt with in the future. A subject for club discussion that would probably come before everyone's mind was politics, Mr. Cronyn said, adding that to him personally politics was an exceedingly dry topic, a view which he claimed was created through reading the "stuff" on politics that "fills our newspapers."

"The Commission Form of Government," "Education," and "Birth Control" were other subjects that Mr. Cronyn recommended for debate and discussion at club meetings. Honor Late Magistrate.

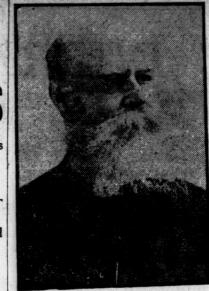

At this point the entire assem-blage rose and drank a silent toast to the late deputy magistrate, P. H. rtlett, who was highly thought of by the Oracle Club members, and who had honored them with inetructive addresses

In his talk, Mr. Bingle pleaded for a better understanding between the French and English-speaking classes in Canada. This is a momentous blem, he pointed out, and one that alls for careful thought on the part of every Canadian. The Englishspeaking populace were greatly to blame for the misunderstanding that has been evident in the past between the two peoples, he averred.

A greatly-enjoyed digression from the serious vein of most of the other subjects was the address of Mr. Gunn on poetry. His wide knowledge of English and American poets and their works drew expressions of praise from many, and his witty allusions and recitations were heartily enjoyed.

Mr. Gunn stated that certain ones have entertained the idea that poetry.

In the course of his talk, Mr. Gunn denounced those who have acquired the habit of basing jokes on passages in the Holy Scripture.

Father Brennan Speaks. Father Brennan's address on citizenship and its responsibilities was of that city, entered the theological marked by the thoroughness with which he treated his subject and the talented manner in which he placed before his hearers what should constitute true citizenship. the whole sewer should be redesigned if the best results were to be secured. The sewer as it is now does not take care of the Chelsea Green district nor any of the high ground near Fox Bar. The proposed sewer will take in both of these districts and fulfil a much-needed service. This was also left to the city council to act upon as they see fit.

Mr. Near recommended that the paving of the Pipe Line road be let to Brazier & Boss, who were pre-pared to carry out the work at the estimate set by him, and who were ready to start work at once. The board agreed with this suggestion and also that the work be commenced immediately.
