

WIT AND WISDOM.

Meguitos lead a hum-drum life. Always out off in its prime—An intercompanioner La Due, in his crop ports, never mentions the hope at the wedding.

"See here, John, is your sweetheart a factory girl?" "Yes, William, satisfied boy."
The highest regard of human science in the scientific recognition of human ignorance.
The sympathy of some men is merely local. They are great because their acquaintance are little.

The time of life when the young man and turns fondly to dress is unpleasant ly called the pith age.

Act always for the immediate motive of thy will, thy becomes a universal rule for all intelligent beings.

Optimism is the main thing which does good or harm in the world. It is our false opinions of things which ruin us.

If you would be pensive, be brief; for it is with words as with symptoms—the more they are condensed, the deeper or they burn.

"You never seem my hands as dirty as that," said a neighborly mother to her little girl. "No, but your mother did," was the reply.

Irishman's schoolmaster: "Now, then, atkins, what's the next word?" "What comes after cheese?" "Dull boy." "A mouse, sir."

Karner's school teacher: "Where does our grain go?" "Into the hopper."
"What hopper?" "Grain-hopper," it unhappily shouted a scholar.

Milton was asked if he intended to instruct his daughter in the different languages, to which he replied: "No, sir! I One language is sufficient for a woman!"

"It's not the whiskey a man drinks that makes him dizzy," said O'Flaherty, "but it's the light at the bartender's. The more, through the bottom of the tumbler, he gets."

A lightning bolt went was struck by Benjamin the other day, and the photographers can only be accounted for on the theory that the electric fluid got tired of being led about.

What was it? I went out into the woods and got it. After I got it I looked for it. The more I looked for it the less I liked it. I brought it home in my hand because I couldn't find it. A snake.

A North Carolina man will work four hours to chop down a tree that a corn is in, but nothing would induce him to split up enough wood to cook the supper with. The latter proceeding isn't sport.

"How come you to fall in your examination?" asked the tutor. "I thought I examined you thoroughly," "Why, you son," replied the student, "the fact was you examined me so tight I couldn't get it out."

Several Leicester doctors gathered around a man who fell on the walk.
"Your father is a case of sinistroke," and the other three said it was a fit. Along came a small boy and proved that it was benzene pool.

The treasure house of a man's life is his heart, and he who has nothing there is poverty-stricken, though he roll in gold, while he who has a good deal there is rich, whether he has a roof over his head or not.

"Hold on, par," said a colored man, bailing an acquaintance. "Does your cross de street sherry time you see me ter keep from parin dat hill?" "No, I don't," "What fur den?" "Ter keep from bein' axed fur it."

A Paris Bohemian is telling his mode of life to a friend from the provincial district. "Up the morning, I awake," says he, "and find for my cold de chamber?" "Well, no, but I keep a bell."

"Think twice before you speak once," That's a good enough rule for some people, but there are folks who can think of so much monstrous things to say the second time trying that we prefer to hear their first inspiration on the subject.

A young and beautiful Philadelphia maiden was rapidly sinking with the lockjaw when her physician conceived of the happy idea of holding a spoonful of ice cream to her lips. The moment he did so she opened her jaws and shrieked, "Don't give me a little plate; make it a big one."

"Look here, engine, there a nigger in Calveson what's been seasin' me. Supposing I was dead, life outen him?" The latter replied: "You would be appeared to get your neck stretched." "Now, boss, you is joking. What do white folks care for nigger neck or less now de season is done tuck?"

"How came those holes in your al-tern?" "My mother, I hid behind her when Colonel Gobbler was saying de words that he'd take her even if you had to be thrown in," and he didn't know I was there; and so I hold my tongue and laughed in my sleeves till I burst and.
